

The Tar Heel Fine Arts Society
 And James Sprunt Institute
 Announces Concert Series
SELECTED ARTISTS

The Tar Heel Fine Arts Society and James Sprunt Institute, opening its fall membership drive this week, again offers area music lovers an exciting and new season in a series of three concerts to be offered in the Kenansville Elementary School auditorium. Three concerts (two world-renowned), will be presented: José Greco and his Dancers with Nana Lorca's Flamenco Dance Theater; The Preservation Hall Jazz Band and; Broadway Babies Group.

A membership campaign is now underway to support these fine concerts. You may contact any of The Tar Heel Fine Arts Society's Board of Directors listed below for information and season tickets.

The Tar Heel Fine Arts Society is unique among cultural organizations in the State of North Carolina because it is the only fine arts society which is county oriented. Membership in the Society is composed of individuals interested in cultural activities who annually support the association with their membership fee of $7.50 or more. The Board of Directors has at least one representative from each area in Duplin County. This Society was organized under the auspices of James Sprunt Institute in 1965 with the purpose of the Society being to plan, coordinate, promote, and sponsor cultural activities, thus promoting all types of fine arts including drama, art, music, and literature.

1973-74 promises to be top performers that families and all ages will surely enjoy. Give your support to the Tar Heel Fine Arts Society.

November 26, 1973

BROADWAY BABIES GROWUP: A musical revue spotlighting the American contribution to the art of musical theater. During an informative evening of songs, four talented young performers will trace the growth and development of the American Musical Theater from its early beginning to the Broadway musicals of today through a study of various composers, trends in musical styles and choice of subject matter. The performance will include selections by Victor Herbert, Sigmund Romberg, Rudolph Friml, George Gershwin, Rogers and Hammerstein and others. The members of the cast are all exciting performers in their own right and have been delighting audiences from coast to coast.

January 15, 1974

THE PRESERVATION HALL JAZZ BAND from Bourbon Street in New Orleans will bring the original New Orleans music to the area. These musicians created the music in the legendary bands of New Orleans and in the parades and saloons and dance halls. They are among the few living jazz musicians who originated the style, and their average age is over 60.

March 26, 1974

JOSÉ GRECO and his Spanish Dancers with Nana Lorca's Flamenco Dance Theater: this troupe of dancers is regarded as the greatest and most exciting group of its kind in the world. José Greco's name has been synonymous with the Spanish Dance in this Country for over a decade. Accompanying him will be Nana Lorca and a superbly versatile group of young dancers, singers and musicians.

Concerts to be held in Kenansville Elementary School Auditorium at 8 p.m.
