ARTS AND CRAFT

The installation of the new officers for 1973-74 term and the approval of combining an arts and craft show along with their annual fall shrubbery sale were the high lights at the recent Kenansville Garden Club Meeting.

The arts and craft show will be held from 9 to 5 Saturday, Oct. 27th along with the club's annual shrubbery sale that same day. The show and sale will be located on hwy. 111 across from the Phillips 66 Station in Beulaville.

The club invites anyone who is interested in exhibiting or selling any of their crafts to please contact Mrs. Baxter Stuebeling 298-4522 or Mrs. Russell Sanderson 298-2711 for details. If you know of anyone with crafts please urge them to call as the club wants a variety of art or handwork to be displayed, so that the show will be interesting for everyone.

Beautiful shrubs, trees and bulbs will be available as in the past. If there is anything anyone wishes to special order, please call Mrs. Paul Bolin, 298-4480.

All proceeds will go toward community beautification.

Pharmacy Comments "Jungle Rot" and Psoriasis Advances

An anticancer agent called azaribine has been reported by a team of dermatologists from Scripps Clinic in La Jolla, California to be an effective cure for psoriasis. Doctors still do not know the basic cause of the disease which produces dry, scaly skin, but early tests on patients with long-standing psoriasis, produced "excellent" results. As yet, the drug has not been cleared by the FDA for general use. In another area of skin diseases, Army doctors have launched a big research effort aimed at checking "jungle rot," an itchy, often runny type of skin sore associated with athlete's foot. The search is expected to lead to a curative vaccine, capable of stopping the disease after it has already taken hold.

Building your money:

How we can help you build thrift habits for your child.

If your child is ten or over, it's time to start teaching him or her about money building.

First, give us a call. We'll arrange a special tour of Bank of North Carolina, N.A. for you and your child. We'll explain how a bank puts money to work. We'll see the big vault.

Then, open a savings account for your child. (Minors under the age of 15 must have a parent or guardian co-sign to open an account—a N.C. banking law.)

A savings account can be opened at Bank of North Carolina for any amount of $1.00 or more.

A special savings register or passbook will be made out in your child's name.

We'll explain to your son or daughter how interest works. How we use their money and pay them for using it. We'll explain that they receive 5% interest, paid monthly. And we'll explain how compounding works (it's compounded daily) and how they can earn money on the interest they earn.

We suggest they have a goal in mind; a benchmark to work towards. (Saving for "tomorrow" doesn't mean much to a ten-year-old. But saving for a new bike or riding lessons is real and important.)

We'll try to make your child feel comfortable in our bank.

Then it's up to you to encourage your children to save their dimes and quarters for the next trip to the Bank. And encourage them to earn money to go into their savings account. We'll let them know we're proud of them as their balance grows. You'll want to do the same.

The child who learns that bank means more than piggy bank is learning to be a financially responsible adult. And as a parent, that can help you build your own money. And building your money (and your child's) is our business.
