

Son-Of-A-Gun

The Courthouse has been nailed, sawed, plastered, welded, cemented, wallpapered and painted. . . It has been made prettier and bigger, but I am a son-of-a-gun, they can't get back into it all that came out of it. . . Now, if everyone had moved back into the exact office they had moved out of before the remodeling began, there would be 7 rooms in the lower part of the old Courthouse unoccupied. The Sheriff's department had 5 rooms or offices. . . Emergency Services had two, and those two departments have moved into a new building. . . There would also be three-fourths of the second floor of the annex unoccupied. . . But in the shuffling of offices, as everyone began to move back into the Courthouse, The Duplin Development Commission didn't like their facilities and are now without. . . So when everyone got moved back in. . . and with two departments moved on to a new building. . . the Arts Council got stuck in a corner and the County Commissioners meeting room got squeezed into what most builders would classify as a very small room. . . Leastwise, when the Commissioners, the secretary, the accountant and the county attorney sit down, the room is practically full. . . And the
