groom; and Joey Wood of Chinquapin, nephew of the groom. Altar boys, who lit the altar candles immediately preceding the ceremony, were Ray Wood of Chinquapin and Reese Hauenstein of Bracey, Va., nephews of the groom.

The bride's mother wore an apricot print street-length dress of crepe de chine fashioned with a slightly lowered round neckline and short sleeves. The groom's mother wore a street-length dress of lavender qiana fashioned with a v-neck with collar and pushed-up gathered sleeves. Both mothers were honored with white carnation corsages.

Miss Elaine Tyson of Fountain and Miss Lori Little of Farmville distributed scrolls to the guests immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Robert Jones of Farmville, cousin of the bride, presided at the register. Mrs. Ronnie Little of Farmville directed the wedding.

The groom is a graduate of Mount Olive College and North Carolina Wesleyan College and currently is a student at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Wake Forest. He currently pastors the Long Ridge Original Free Will Baptist Church near Mount Olive, and the Sarecta Chapel Original Free Will Baptist Church near Kenansville.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina University.

The couple is living at the parsonage of the Sarecta Chapel Original Free Will Baptist Church, Route 1, Kenansville.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained at a reception in the church fellowship hall. The refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of white daisies and yellow gladioli. Mrs. Douglas Rodgers of Saratoga, cousin of the bride, poured punch and Mrs. Jack Ellis of Saratoga, aunt of the bride, served cake. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Joe Jones, Mrs. Gerald Tugwell and Mrs. Ben Gardner of Farmville. Miss Melody Hauenstein of Bracey, Va., niece of the groom, distributed rice bags. Roger Eason, brother of the bride, photographed and recorded the wedding.

On July 20, the bride was honored at a bridal shower given by her maid of honor at Miss Bradshaw's home. Co-hosts were Mrs. Alan Bagley, Mrs. David Thompson, Mrs. Ginny Lewis, and Miss Joan Ellis. The bride was honored with a carnation on her arrival and many gifts by the guests. The refreshment table was decorated with white daisies and gold tapers.

On July 28, the bride and groom were honored by a miscellaneous shower at the Long Ridge Church Fellowship Hall by the Ladies' Auxiliary of that church. The couple received many gifts from the host church-members as well as made both her gown and mantilla. The bride carried a bouquet of white daisies and babies'-breath mounted on her Bible.

The church was decorated with two seven-branch candelabras entwined with greenery and the matching brass kneeling bench also entwined with greenery. The original ceremony was composed by the couple and officiating minister, and included Scriptures which were read by the bride and the groom. During the double ring ceremony, the bride presented the groom with a wedding band engraved with a cross symbolizing his ministry. The couple took communion together immediately following the pronouncement of marriage as their first act of marriage.

Miss Shelby Bradshaw of Farmville, friend of the bride, was maid of honor. She chose a gown of formal length bright yellow polyester with a v-neckline and a short attached mini-cape. She carried a nosegay of white daisies and babies'-breath.

Fernie Wood served his son as best man. Ushers were Tony Eason of Farmville, brother of the bride; Bruce Wood of Roanoke, Va.; and Dwight Wood of Chinquapin, brothers of the

E.E. Smith Opens With A New Look

By J.G. Henry, Principal

The faculty of E.E. Smith Junior High School met in the school cafeteria on August 23 at 9 a.m. for the first staff meeting. W.P. Fennell, teacher of agriculture and career education, gave a very inspiring prayer. J.G. Henry, principal, gave the welcome and made remarks concerning the new law that limits the number of contacts per teacher per day to 150 students. This change from 180 contacts to the smaller number resulted in changes in the organizational plan and in personnel for this year. He introduced Miss Jane C. Croom and Miss Renee Bartlett, new teachers, and Miss Angela Best, a new reading aide.

As a result of the CAT test scores, teachers now have pertinent information which will enable them to analyze more quickly those skills that need to be retaught, and to provide individualized and small group instruction in the subject areas where there is a need.

All grades will be involved in the remedial reading program again this year. An additional reading aide will strengthen this program. Other supportive services are provided in special education, remedial math, and for the gifted and talented students.

Parents are invited to visit the school to see the operations and to join the PTO organization. Open House will be held on September 18th beginning at 7 p.m. until 9:30 p.m.

Wood-Eason United In Marriage

On Sunday, August 19, at three o'clock in the afternoon, Miss Sheryll Rose Eason of Farmville was joined in marriage with the Reverend Philip Ray Wood of Chinquapin in the King's Cross Roads Free Will Baptist Church of Farmville. The Rev. Bill Futch, home pastor of the groom, and the Rev. John Williams, former pastor of the bride, officiated at the ceremony.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Hubert Summerlin, pianist, and the Rev. John Williams who sang "The Wedding Song" and the groom who sang "More."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe P. Eason of Farmville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fernie Wood of Chinquapin.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a formal gown of white satin fashioned with a Victorian style bodice with an Alencon lace bib overlay. The full skirt fell into a chapel-length train edged with Venise lace. The long Victorian style sleeves of lace ended in satin elbow cuffs overlaid in lace. The fingertip mantilla was made of Alencon lace edged in Venise lace attached to a Juliet cap. The mother of the bride
