

Turkeys Loose In Truck Crash

A truck wreck Wednesday night scattered nearly 1,000 turkeys over a wide area along N.C. 11 north of Kenansville and caused nearly $37,000 in damages. The driver, Julius S. Sutton, 55, of Route 1, Warsaw, was treated at Duplin General Hospital for a cut on the head, and was released later that night. The wreck killed 462 of the 1,452 turkeys in the semi-trailer load. Sutton told State Patrolman J.N. Ray that the lights on the truck went out when he dimmed them, and he lost control of the vehicle due to the darkness. The Carroll's of Warsaw truck had loaded the turkeys at the nearby Woodrow Jackson farm. Employees of Carroll's of Warsaw worked more than five hours Wednesday night and Thursday morning to round up the birds which fluttered to roost in nearby trees and on vehicles stopped on the highway. Joel Coleman of the firm said the birds weighed about 24 pounds apiece and were worth about $10 each. He estimated the damage to the vehicle and the value of the birds killed or lost at about $37,000.

Department of Agriculture in the soil testing division, and Dr. Jim Barker, a biological agricultural engineer from the N.C. Department of Agriculture. There were 70 Young Farmers attending the meeting.

Faison Board

Swears In New Members

By Emily Killette
Faison commissioners voted to look into changing the dog ordinance during their meeting Dec. 20 after swearing in two new members of the board. Rachel Clifton and Billie Hollingsworth were sworn in. Both women will be serving four-year-terms replacing W. A. Frizzell and Elwood Allen. Commissioners Helen Britt, Clifton and Igoe, along with Mayor Bill Carter, were selected to a committee to look into changing the present dog ordinance, and make suggestions for possible changes. A report from the committee is scheduled for the January meeting.

The board also voted to amend the dual watermeter ordinance which had been charging owners with more than one residence hooked to the same water meter the minimum water rate for each residence. Many people in Faison had complained, said Commissioner Fred Wheless, who is also superintendent of public works, because in some cases each residence is not in use, and the town has been charging those people for water they have not been using. The board voted to change the ordinance to charge the extra rates to only those residences that are in use, with the possibility of amending the ordinance at the next meeting after conducting a study to determine the best way to judge when additional residences on water meters are being used and when they are vacant. According to Wheless, there are about 50 water meters in Faison which serve more than one residence. Mayor Carter informed the board that plans to remove the traffic island on the corner of Center and Main Streets are underway. According to the mayor, the stop sign on the island has been repeatedly torn down by turning trucks. A request to restrict parking on Main Street to two hours was brought to the attention of the board, and Commissioner Britt has been asked to talk with the downtown merchants and present a report at the next meeting. Commissioner Igoe presented the audit report for 1979 and furnished board members with a brief statement of the financial stability of Faison over the past five years. The report showed the town financially stable each year except 1978. Town Administrator Neil Mallory recommended the board set Dec. 20 at 7 p.m. as the time for the public hearing on the preapplication to HUD for community development funds. Mallory also informed them that bids for the appraisal of approved waste water treatment plant sites had been received. He recommended the board award the contract to Littleton Realty and Insurance Agency, Inc. of Goldsboro for the sum of $2,700, and that the 45 days to complete the project begin Dec. 20. The board agreed, and advised Mallory to contact the firm to begin work Dec. 20. The board was presented a preliminary plan of a proposed county-wide water system by the engineer, Bob Pittman of Rivers and Associates, Inc. of Greenville, who has been hired by the county to plan the system. Also present was William Costin, chairman of the county board of commissioners; John Gurganus, the county development director; and W.A. Frizzell, a member of the county planning board.
