McColman Honored

On August 29, Francis McColman was honored with a steak supper in Goldsboro by employees of the Faison Post Office. McColman retired Saturday, August 30, where he had served as postmaster for several years, and retired as Rural Route #2 carrier. Appropriate remarks were made by Postmaster Luther E. Taylor Jr. for McColman's 47 years of service. A replica of a steam engine was presented to him by his co-workers. McColman expressed mixed feelings but thought after 47 years, it was time to retire. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. McColman, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Crow, Mrs. Mavis Bradshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Blackmon, and Mrs. W.M. Baugham, a former postal retiree.

Highway Patrol To Begin School Safety Program

With the new school year now underway, Col. John T. Jenkins, highway patrol commander, announced a program designed to improve safe travel for children commuting to and from school. "The safety of these children is everyone's responsibility and we're hopeful that parents will assist us in implementing the program," Jenkins said. He pointed out the program will involve members of the patrol's traffic safety information unit meeting with as many elementary school children as possible and discussing pedestrian, bicycle and school bus safety. "Hopefully we'll be able to reach all students in grades 3 and 4 during the school year," Jenkins said.

The program also provides for students to receive a letter for their parents requesting they discuss with their children the safety rules printed on the reverse side. "This is a different approach but it's an effective way to request and receive the assistance of every parent," he said.

Jenkins pointed out that many students will be walking or riding their bicycles to and from school, while approximately three quarters of a million children will be transported by school bus. Although the patrol's program concerns the safety responsibilities of students and their parents, Jenkins called on all motorists to be especially alert between 7 and 9 a.m. and from 2 until 4 p.m.

While the debate goes on over an economic policy for the nation, BB&T offers a sound economic policy for your family.

At Branch Banking and Trust, we believe that saving money is sound economic policy. We've maintained that simple philosophy even through times of high inflation—when the popular wisdom said spend, not save. And today, we believe savings makes more sense than ever. Saving is the one way you can be sure of having the money you need for the things you want. And with some help from BB&T, you can protect your savings from inflation to a greater degree than you might have expected.

When it comes to saving money, not everyone's needs are equal. For some people, saving money means a savings account—and that's always a very good way to save. BB&T also offers a number of alternatives to regular savings accounts—alternatives that can earn you higher interest. Consider, for example, our Certificates of Deposit*, which allow you to choose a maturity from 30 days to 8 years and a corresponding interest rate on deposits as low as $500. Or high-yield Money Market Certificates for deposits of $10,000 and more.

With these and other savings plans, BB&T can help you put together a comprehensive savings program that will give you the best rate of return on your money and the kind of flexibility you need. Exercise your inalienable right to save for your own future. We can't predict what the state of the national economy is going to be. What we do know, however, are the ways in which saving regularly has improved the lives of BB&T customers through the years. We want you to share in the security and the good life many of them have known. So while you're waiting to see where the economy is headed, take the future into your own hands. Start a savings plan at BB&T.

Elect Officers

The Eastern North Carolina Development Association recently elected a new slate of officers at their summer convention in New Bern. Lew Dunn, executive director of the Pender County Economic Development Commission in Burgaw was elected president for the coming year. Tom G. Thompson, executive director of the Craven County Industrial Development Commission, was elected vice president, and Anne McGaughey, executive director of the Farmville Economic Council was elected secretary-treasurer. Newly appointed directors include Mike de Sherbinin, Jack Ervin, George Harris and Anne McGaughey.

The ENEDA is composed of industrial developers and associate members who have the common goal of creating more and better jobs in eastern North Carolina.

CONTACT LENS WEARERS SHOULD IDENTIFY THEMSELVES

A large number of people throughout the country now wear contact lenses. In an emergency, these may pass unnoticed by emergency personnel so it is good to carry some identification that you wear them.

It is recommended that lenses be removed from an unconscious person because of the very real possibility of eye damage. An injury to the cornea usually will heal completely without a trace, but if it becomes infected it could result in reduced vision and in extreme cases, blindness.
