Wedding Shower

The hall was decorated in yellow, white, red and green. Six tables were arranged in the south end of the hall and were covered with green tablecloths, draped with yellow bows, and used for gift table. The refreshment tables were arranged at the north end of the hall. It was covered with a green tablecloth, also draped at each corner with a yellow bow of ribbon. An arrangement of white and yellow daffodils, red camellias and greenery centered the table. At either side were silver plated candlesticks with hurricane globes and white burning tapers. The refreshments included cake squares, miniature cups filled with chicken salad, miniature sausage balls, roasted pecans, cheese squares and lime punch. Mrs. Jerry Thigpen served the cake and Mrs. Jimmy Lanier poured punch. Guests were welcomed by Dee-Dee McClain, sister of Mrs. Smith, a directed to the register.

Approximately 175 friends and relatives called during the evening wishing the couple well.

JSTC Offers Short Course In NC History

If you fancy yourself a "history buff" or if you have a particular interest in the history of our state, you won't want to miss enrolling in "North Carolina: Change and Continuity," the fourth of James Sprunt Technical College's series of special interest courses in the humanities. One hundred and fifty years of North Carolina's history — from the antebellum period to present times — make up the course's content. Focusing mainly on what historians call "social history," the course will examine such topics as the lives of the big planters, the small farmers, and the slaves, looking particularly at the religious life, social life and political behavior of these groups.

Other areas of discussion will include sharecropping and tenant farming, the changing character of race relations after the Civil War, the "great migration," and society and political life in contemporary North Carolina.

"North Carolina: Change and Continuity" will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Tuesday evenings, March 2 to April 6 in Room 212 of the Hoffer Building on the JSTC campus in Kenansville. The instructor will be John J. Beck, history and political science instructor at the college.

There is a registration fee of $8 for the course, payable at the first class meeting. The fee is waived for persons over 65, and for teachers approved to take the course for renewal credit.

For further information, call Drew Rowe, director of general education, or Joe Jones, director of continuing education at JSTC, 296-1341.
