Community Actors Still Needed

Artistic Director David Thomas has announced that there are still openings for actor and actresses for the 1982 production of THE LIBERTY CART. Community members who participate in the 1982 production will perform a variety of roles and will act in battle scenes, dances, and other scenes which will involve the entire cast of over 60.

Rehearsals for community actors will begin on June 9 under the direction of David Thomas, artistic director, and Carol Hawkins, production stage manager for the 1982 production. Professional cast and crew will arrive on June 20 to join the community cast in completing preparations for THE LIBERTY CART'S seventh season.

James Sprunt Technical College is offering participants in THE LIBERTY CART a chance to gain college credit through its Drama 102 course. The course will carry credit, and may be transferable, if arrangements are made by individual students with the college they plan to attend.
