Credit card fraud is on the rise. But you can help prevent unauthorized use of your credit cards and save yourself some expense and aggravation by following these simple suggestions.

First, make copies of each of your credit cards and keep these copies with the toll-free numbers of the issuers.

Be sure to report lost and stolen cards at once. Don't be fooled by someone who calls and says your cards have been found and he will return them tomorrow. By tomorrow he could run up a lot of charges.

Next, never give your credit card number to anyone who calls you on the phone and claims he is making a survey for a credit card company.

When your bills arrive, check them over immediately. If you find any suspicious charges, report them immediately.

Keep your credit cards separate from your wallet. Don't carry credit cards you don't use frequently.

If a fly lands on your nose, they say, somebody has something to tell you.
