

Bump Gone

State workers are shown busily reworking the area known as Bump, N. C. to eliminate the bump from the roadway. The question is — Will Bump, N.C., Nut Sanctuary, remain? This country crossroads between Kenansville and Warsaw is all in an uproar. "We bother no-one," says a life-long resident of the area. "But it seems like every time we turn around, someone is messing with our crossroads." The traffic flow is presently north and south; however, some five years ago the traffic flow was east and west. When the flow changed, or the stop signs were moved to the other road, a bump, which was unnoticed when you had to stop, was there. The State promptly put up a yellow and black sign declaring "Bump." As this crossroads has a country store located at it, and local folks gather on rainy, non-working days (and sometimes on working days), folks needed to be somewhere rather than "just at the store." . . . So a local radio station talk show host came up with "Bump, N.C." Soon a city limits sign appeared on a utility pole; next red and white license plates were being sold. One of the State supervisors said the bump was being removed because Mr. Sewell of Jacksonville said the bump was too bad. Mr. Sewell is on the State Roads Board. Store owner C.M. Outlaw said if Mr. Sewell had been driving the speed limit, the bump would not have been bad. The speed limit is 55 miles-per-hour and the cautionary limit posted is 35 m.p.h. The bump in the road is gone — dug out and paved over. The signs remain for the time being. But it appears this legend of a place — Bump, N.C. — has lost its namesake, a bump in the road.

Warsaw Accepts Grant

The town Board accepted a $750,000 community development block grant last week that will result in rehabilitation of 35 houses, improvement to 3,650 feet of streets and installation of 1,600 feet of storm drains in the next few months.

The town of Warsaw will contribute $25,000 for street improvements.

The board awarded McDavid Associates of Kenansville the engineering contract on a bid of $42,725 and the administration and rehabilitation supervision contract on a bid of $75,676.

Commissioner Graham Hood voted against the contract awards, saying the board should obtain additional bids. Mayor Sam Godwin said the bids totaled 15.78 percent of the grant.

Town Clerk Alfred Herring said he sent eight bid invitations and received two responses. Only one response, McDavid's, was a bid. The other was an offer to negotiate, he told the board.

Tyndal Lewis of McDavid explained that the government-required paper work and the detail work on 35 individual house bids pushed the administration and rehabilitation costs upward.

The work will be done in the Frog Pond community in the northwestern part of Warsaw along Prospect, Williams and Lizzie streets, just south of the Clinton branch of the Seaboard System Railroad.

Twenty-three substandard dwellings require major improvements and six require minor improvements. Six substandard mobile homes also require minor rehabilitation.

The project description estimates the average cost at a dwelling requiring major repairs will be $12,500 and for those requiring minor repairs, $9,000.

Six dwellings and two mobile homes in the area meet standard requirements, according to the engineering summary.

The 3,650 feet of reconstructed streets will include 1,600 feet of storm piping. The project description said, "No assessment fees of any type will be charged for the street and drainage improvements, since the majority of the area's property owners are low or moderate income and could not afford the assessment charges."

Twenty of the substandard dwellings are occupied by owners who are characterized as having low or moderate incomes. The rehabilitation of owner-occupied houses will be financed by 100 percent direct grants.

Owners of some of the 15 substandard rental units were described as having high enough incomes to pay back the cost of improvements.

State Scholarships For Children Of Certain Veterans

According to Frank B. Moore, veterans service officer for Duplin County, the N.C. Division of Veteran Affairs, headed by Charles A. Beddingfield Jr., administers the state's program of scholarships for children of certain veterans.

Many children apply each year for the scholastic aid offered by this program and more than 1,600 are receiving benefits at public and private institutions in North Carolina.

The following information is necessarily general in nature. There are several classes of scholarship eligibility and briefly stated they are:

Class I & IV. Children of certain veterans who died or are 100 percent disabled as a result of service in WWI, WWII, Korea, Vietnam or children of peacetime veterans whose death or 100 percent service-connected disability was incurred as a direct result of armed conflict or while engaged in extra-hazardous service or children of certain veterans who were prisoners of war or listed as missing in action. The veteran must have been a legal resident of North Carolina at the time of entry into service, or with certain exceptions, the child must have been born in North Carolina and continuously resided here.

Class II - Children as described above whose parent was a war veteran who has or at the time of death had a 30 percent or more but less than 100 percent service-connected disability or a statutory award for arrested tuberculosis. Certain children of peacetime veterans may qualify based on the nature of their parent's disability.

Class III. Eligible children as described above whose parent was a war veteran and who is receiving or at the time of death was receiving nonservice-connected disability pension benefits.

The scholarships may be used at schools located in North Carolina which are: State-owned institutions of higher education, community colleges and technical institutes; or privately owned non-profit colleges and universities.

Scholarships, with one exception, provide free tuition, certain fees, and a room and board allowance in state-owned institutions and $1,200 per academic year in private institutions. The exception being that awards under the 100 percent service-connected disability provision provide only free tuition and certain fees in state-owned institutions and $444 per academic year in private institutions.

All awards are four academic years in duration. Unlimited awards are made under Classes I & IV.

Classes II and III are limited to 100 awards each year in each class.

Interested persons are urged to contact Frank B. Moore, Duplin County Courthouse in Kenansville, 296-1616 for more detailed information, advice and active assistance with an application.

Applications should be made by Sept. 1 and May 1 of senior year in high school. Class I or IV applicants will be accepted at other times as well.
