

Martin To Speak In Kinston

Martin, a candidate for state governor, will be speaking in Kinston on Oct. 29 at Bill's Flea Market on U.S. 70 West.

Speaking in Asheville to a group of supporters, gubernatorial candidate Jim Martin said that, "as a chemist, I understand the need for environmental balance and have used that expertise since first taking public office."

"When I was county commissioner I established the first program to enforce the state's environmental laws in Mecklenburg County. As a Congressman I was floor leader for the superfund legislation and the fight to save the New River."

COKE PARTY

The Junior Miss Liberty contestants attended a coke party Sunday afternoon in the home of Harold and Violet Stroud of Pink Hill. The party was an informal get-acquainted party for the seven contestants. They were given the details of the upcoming pageant.

REVIVAL

The First Baptist Church of Pink Hill will be holding fall revival Oct. 29 - Nov. 2. Rev. Bailey Elmore of Calvary Baptist Church in Kinston will be the guest pastor delivering the message each night. Area church choirs will provide special music nightly. The public is invited to attend.

HERMAN ATKINSON REUNION

The Herman Atkinson reunion is this Sunday, October 20 with dinner being served at 12:00 noon. Everyone is invited to bring a picnic dinner and enjoy the fellowship at the Atkinson home, 1/4 mile off Highway 24 on Road 1701, between Kenansville and Beulaville. Country Music will be furnished.
