

Cooking With The Graham House Inn Chef

The Duplin Medical Auxiliary hosted a cooking school last week with Chef John Ramirez of the Graham House Inn in Kenansville. The school was attended by almost 40 women of Duplin County. Funds from the cooking school will be used to support health projects at Duplin

General Hospital and in the community. The Auxiliary is made up of spouses of Duplin County physicians and surgeons. The cooking school was held at the Duplin Agricultural Extension office in Kenansville. Pictured above, Chef Ramirez discusses cooking techniques.

Airborne Army Chorus To Be Re-Scheduled

The Jan. 29th performances of the 82nd Airborne Army Chorus which were scheduled for James Kenan and Warsaw Jr. high schools will be rescheduled at a later date.

The performances were being coordinated by the Duplin County Arts Council and because of snow were unable to be held that date.

"We do not know exactly when they will be rescheduled," stated Merle Creech, executive director, "because submitting requests and awaiting confirmation of them requires a turn-around time of 45 days. We will have yet to know if we can have the group on our suggested days in the spring. As soon as we receive word, we'll let the public know."
