

Along The Way

By Emily Killete

Looking for information in the old volumes of THE DUPLIN TIMES does not always yield results. But most of the time some type of information of interest is found during a hunt through the old papers.

Along the Way this week features "In Old Duplin" a column that has begun by Dallas Herring. The "In Old Duplin" feature this week was found in the August 16, 1951 issue of THE DUPLIN TIMES while on a hunt for information about Duplin General Hospital.

IN OLD DUPLIN

Warsaw in 1916

The following news excerpts appeared in the DUPLIN RECORD Thursday, October 12, 1916.

To the enterprising and industrious readers of this paper living on or near the road from Pink Hill to Chinquapin, permit me to say there could be no more enterprising ideas, than to make a complete sand-clay road by your homes. Thus giving a sand-clay road from Goldsboro to Wilmington. The benefit which the people would derive from this road will in a few years, double and triple the money which they spend on making it. Doubtless if we don't keep the clay road our road will be in a short time worse than the one we have, but why should this be, if you build this road, do it with the understanding that all who help build it, are also to help keep it up. By this you always will have a good road over which to haul your produce.

This section of Duplin is now just in its childhood of progress, and should be able to make some great steps toward perfection. Before the farmer is able to dispose of his produce, he has to make it, and just so before we get a good road in this section, we will have to make it. So lets "Get out and get under" and make this piece of the road the best in the county. J.W. Jackson.

Tobacco Breaks

The tobacco breaks on the floors of the four Duplin warehouses at Warsaw and Wallace have been heavy for the past two weeks. Prices are as good as at any time during the season. Many people supposed that the high prices had caused most of the crop to be rushed to the market in August and September, but the continued heavy sales this month indicated that there is still a good lot of tobacco in the hands of the growers, and that the markets for some times to come will have plenty of tobacco to handle.

Sweet Potatoes

The sweet potato crop is short 33 1/2 percent, the heavy summer rains having damaged the crop considerably. This is the first time in years that Duplin County has failed to make an abundant crop of potatoes, the yield last year being unusually large, with prices only forty and fifty cents per bushel.

Editorial

Where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise. A great many men never think for themselves but follow the advice of men even more ignorant than themselves and this is more exemplified in the time of a political campaign than on any other occasion. This is a free country and every voter has a right to express his opinions and vote accordingly but from my heart I cannot see how any man of good common sense and unbiased judgment can fail to vote for Woodrow Wilson, the greatest and purest man ever sat in the presidential chair. The laboring class is now enjoying the best time in the history of our great country all due to Woodrow Wilson, then why not give him your undivided support in the coming election. Our candidate for Governor, Thomas W. Bickett is a man whose superior cannot be found. We still elect our entire congressional ticket by safe majorities in each district, this is the way I see it upon the political horizon. May our county ticket be elected by an increased majority is my fervent prayer. I had the pleasure of hearing Major Butler, the Republican candidate for Congress last Friday, he is a long winded speaker and reminds me of Cicero in Calalines conspiracy. The Republican candidates were a clever, social set of gentlemen but are on the wrong trail and will meet defeat in the coming November election. Rivers, Fitzugh, Sloan and Liston gird on your armor and enter the fray, your party calls for your services. The DUPLIN RECORD is doing valuable services and winning friends daily. I lay dreaming last night that the Republican party was in suppliance bent trembling at our power. So strike with all your might till the November fires expire. H.C.S.

Town Lights

This cool spell has put the lightning bugs in charge and the town's lightning plant out of business. The mosquitoes that composed the brass band that played for the lightning bugs like-wise have retired for a rest and will hibernate during the winter in the same old ditches and tin cans where they slept last year.
