

Juba-Wray United

Linda Frances Wray and Thomas Michael Juba were married Saturday, May 25th at half-past six o'clock in the Warsaw Presbyterian Church. The Reverend Earl Vaughan officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Geraldine Jones Wray of Warsaw and the late Eugene C. Wray. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Payne of Mooresville.

A program of wedding music was presented by Jim Aycock of Fremont, formerly of Warsaw. Soloist was Richard Jackson of Raleigh, who sang a medley of Elvis Presley music.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Robert E. Wray, and given in marriage by her mother and brother. She wore a traditional white bridal gown of taffeta featuring a draped effect bodice with a scooped neckline and overlaid with re-embroidered alencon lace. Taffeta rosettes accented the neckline and waist. The sleeves were a shirred pouf design. The full skirt had a hemline border of scalloped alencon lace and extended into a chapel train. She carried an artistic all white cascade bouquet of silk lilies, stephanotis and variegated silk ivy accented with stems of pearl beads. Her headpiece was a halo of white silk flowers and pearls and french illusion.

Miss Debora Kay Wray of Raleigh, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a formal white taffeta sun dress trimmed in pink and carried an arm bouquet of white hand-wrapped silk amaryllis blooms and pink babies'-breath accented with pink satin bows. The headpiece was a halo of silk flowers of pink miniature roses, babies'-breath and stephanotis. Bridesmaids were Brenda S. Taylor of Blytheville, Ark., cousin of the bride, and Sylvia Stepp of Charlotte, sister of the groom. They wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor and carried matching bouquets. Junior bridesmaids were Shelby Wray of Warsaw, niece of the bride, and Jessica Juba of Charlotte, daughter of the groom. Their dresses were also of white taffeta featuring a sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves and accented with a pink satin bow around the waist. They wore matching nairs and carried small baskets of hand-wrapped silk flowers and pink ribbons.

The bridegroom chose his brother, John Juba of Columbia, S.C. as his best man. The groom, best man and groomsmen all wore black tuxedos and boutonnières of white stephanotis. Groomsmen were David Stepp of Charlotte, brother-in-law of the groom, Chris Rochelle of Raleigh, Dwayne Morgan and Curtis Williams of Charlotte.

The mother of the bride wore a floor-length gown of mint green with a net overlay trimmed in pearls. The groom's mother chose a floor-length gown of aqua with a matching jacket. They both wore white orchid corsages.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Neal Jones of Mount Olive, and the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Bennett of Mooresville, also wore white orchid corsages.

Kathy Barefoot of Cary presided at the register. Linda Bradley of Raleigh gave out programs. The wedding was directed by Mrs. Jean West of Warsaw

Reception
Following the wedding, a reception was given by the bride's mother at the Duplin Country Club. Greeting guests were Mr. and Mrs. Noah Jones, aunt and uncle of the bride. The four-tiered wedding cake, baked and decorated in all daisies, and a gift to the bride and groom by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Maylon Weeks of Mount Olive, was also served by Mrs. Weeks. Mrs. Willie Summerlin of Goldsboro and Mrs. F.L. Goodman of Greensboro, aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Don Jones of Goldsboro were hostesses-at-large. Champagne, punch, food and dancing were enjoyed by all. The band was the Tommy Nations Band from Charlotte, compliments of the groom.

The bride is a graduate of James Kenan High School in Warsaw. She attended Western Carolina University at Sylva. She is employed as manager of Central Bookkeeping for Electrical Equipment Co.

New Surgeon Locates In Duplin County

Dr. Ronald Dietrick, M.D. has joined the Duplin Surgical Association practice in Kenansville.

Dietrick and his wife are former missionaries of the Southern Presbyterian Church. The couple served 26 years in South Korea where Dr. Dietrick was involved in the practice of general surgery, and in the development of the Kwangju Christian Hospital, now a 430-bed facility. During his involvement with Kwangju, Dietrick served nine years as the hospital director. Mrs. Dietrick also worked in the hospital as the director's secretary and as an interpreter for patients not speaking Korean.

A native of Virginia, Dietrick attended Davidson College. He graduated in 1949 after an enlistment in the Navy. Leaving Davidson, Dietrick entered the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine.

After graduation, the Dietricks moved to Richmond where Dr. Dietrick did his internship at the Medical College of Virginia Hospital. Following the internship, Dietrick completed a four-year residency in general surgery at McGuire Veteran's Hospital. Leaving Richmond, the Dietricks began their work as missionaries in South Korea.

The couple returned from South Korea earlier this year, and Dr. Dietrick accepted the temporary position as assistant clinical professor of surgery at the East Carolina University School of Medicine.

"The move to Kenansville provided an opportunity to continue in the clinical practice of surgery, with direct contact with patients," Dietrick said. His association with the ECU School of Medicine consisted primarily of teaching students.

"Dr. Dietrick's experience as a general surgeon will be a great asset to the community and Duplin General Hospital," said Dr. Oscar Redwine, M.D. "I am pleased to welcome him to Duplin Surgical Association and look forward to working with him."

The Dietricks will reside in Kenansville.
