

Along The Way

By Emily Killete

This week Along the Way features a few small articles from the 1936 issues of the Duplin Times.

Each story is interesting but, too short to be featured alone—so this week Along the Way recalls muddy roads that shut in Beaufort and caused school closings, and Teachey's first library.

Beaufort Shut In
February 20, 1936

Beaufort was almost shut in last weekend with bad roads. The roads to Calypso were almost impassable over the weekend. Those who wanted to go that direction found it necessary to take the detour, a little to the north of the highway, and this road was very bad. The Tear Shirt-Warsaw road was in bad shape and some places was impassable. Some of the worst places had been helped by board tracks. The road to Summerlin's Cross Roads was in fair condition but from there to highway number 11 near Kenansville was impassable, and a detour just after leaving Goshen to the left was necessary. Roads leading north from Beaufort seem to be in better shape.

In spite of the bad roads, a fair crowd was at Stanford Church for Sunday School and preaching Sunday afternoon.

Adult Hunter's Safety Shoot

Each year at the Duplin County Fair the N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission hold a hunter's safety shoot competition for the high school students who have satisfactorily completed the hunter's safety course. Due to expressed interest in the event by several adults, this year the N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission will hold registration for any adult wishing to pit his/her skills against other residents.

The adult competition will be very similar to the one held for students. The competition will be very similar to the one held for students. The competition will consist of trap shooting (shotguns) and archery.

To be eligible one must register and complete the six-hour hunter's safety education course prior to the fair date. The course will be taught in September and will be presented in two 3-hour classes, probably at night.

The registration fee will be $5 and will include all necessary ammunition and clay targets. Register at the Agricultural Extension Office as the deadline is August 31.

Youth To Run Government For A Day

High School students from this area and from throughout the state have the opportunity to try their hand at running state government... for a day.

During Youth Involvement Day, Oct. 28, students will pair up with top state officials and work alongside them for a day.

Activities will begin on Oct. 27 with a workshop on government, followed by a banquet. A breakfast is scheduled for the following morning, after which the students and their counterparts will leave for a day of work.

For application forms and information, contact Sarah Harris at 919-733-9296 or write the Youth Advocacy and Involvement Office, 121 W. Jones St., Raleigh, N.C. 27603-1334. Deadline for submitting applications is Sept. 13. Cost per student is $36 which includes lodging, two meals and administrative costs.

with the faculty of the Kenansville school have made a study of the school situation resulting from the time lost because of the bad roads, and have decided that the patrons of the school would rather have children at home one day each week all along during the term than they would for them to attend school everyday and get out a few days earlier in the spring. The school authorities are doing their best to cooperate with the patrons in keeping the children in school until the end of the term and it is hoped that the patrons will find it possible to leave their children in school until it closes.

The short schedule will be followed so as to get the children back home soon after dinner, and by leaving Saturday open they will be home one whole day each week.

Teachey Now Has New Library

March 12, 1936

During the past year the Teachey Home Demonstration Club has had as its most outstanding project the establishment of a Community Library. This was undertaken in the early summer of this past year and much progress has been made.

A small office building was secured and furnished by donations. We have a circulation of 80 books, 30 of which were donated by the Wilmington Public Library. Through the courtesy of the North Carolina Library Commission, we have been able to secure loans of books. We have books to appeal to all ages and much interest is being shown among the children and young people as well as the adults.

We are making plans to have a club social and book shower soon, and we hope by that means to add many new books to our library.

The above story was written by the Teachey Librarian Mrs. Viola H. Wells.
