Vann-Drew Wed

Patricia Ann Drew of Warsaw and Jamie Reddin Vann of Clinton were united in marriage on Sunday, September 29, 1985, at four o'clock in the afternoon in an outdoor ceremony at the home of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Vernon Drew and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Lee (Robin) Vann.

Dr. David G. Moore Sr., pastor of the bride, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The couple spoke their vows on the front porch of the colonial style home in front of an altar setting centered with an arrangement of pink carnations, white fugi mums and daisies interspersed with babies'-breath. Two baskets of green flowing palms flanked the center arrangement.

A program of wedding music was presented by Ms. Catherine Vestal of Warsaw, organist, and Wayne Webb of Clinton, soloist. Wayne sang "Let It Be Me" by Becaud and "The Wedding Prayer" by Dunlop. "Trumpet Voluntary in D" by Clarke was used for the processional and the traditional wedding recessional was used.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a Victorian tea-length gown fashioned of ivory lace with ruffled caplet, stand-up collar and satin ribbon belt. The illusion V-neck and lace sleeves were accented with pearl buttons. For her headpiece, the bride chose a wreath of ivory roses and greenery with satin streamers. She carried a silk cascade bouquet of rose-colored lilies, ivory roses and eucalyptus with lace streamers.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Mary D. Bass of Dünn, and Mrs. Angela V. Thornton of Faison, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid. They wore tea-length gowns of daphne rose crepe satin fashioned with elbow-length sleeves and turn-down collar which extended into a low v-back and formed a sash that tied at the back of the waist. They each carried a handspray of three red visa roses accented with green foliage and gypsophila and tied with burgundy satin ribbons.

Miss Amanda Thornton, niece of the groom, was flower girl. She wore an ivory taffeta tea-length gown fashioned with short puffed sleeves, round ruffled collar and a three-tiered skirt. She carried a basket of pink and rose miniature roses.

The father of the groom served his son as best man. He was attired identically to the groom and bride's father in a black tuxedo with a daphne rose bow tie and cummerbund matching the attendants' gowns. The groomsmen wore red rose boutonnières.

For her daughter's wedding the bride's mother chose a street-length dress of blue silk. The groom's mother wore a street-length dress of mauve polyester double georgette. Their corsages were double silk gardenias.

The bride's paternal grandmother is Mrs. Lula Drew of Warsaw. She wore a street-length dress of cranberry polyester. She wore a single silk gardenia corsage. The bride's maternal grandfather, Curtis Robinson of Rose Hill, was honored with a red rose boutonniere.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Helen Hairr of Clinton, Ms. Priscilla Honeycutt of Warsaw received at the register.

The bride is employed at Spectrum Glass Products in Clinton. The groom is employed with Simmons Ford in Clinton.

After a wedding trip to the North Carolina mountains, the couple will reside at Route One, Warsaw.

reception at the home of the bride. Mrs. and Mrs. A.T. Matthis greeted the guests. The foyer was decorated with silk ivory and red ribbons on the stairway. The bride's portrait was also displayed in the foyer. The table was decorated with an arrangement of red roses, white and pink carnations and babies'-breath. Miss Debbie Wright served cake and Miss Kim Matthews served punch. Chicken salad shells, sausage balls, cheese biscuits, lady fingers, mints, strawberry balls and fruit were also served. The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Lillian Johnson and Mrs. Tammy Mills.

Wedding gifts were displayed in the living room where an arrangement of red roses were placed in memory of the bride's cousin, McDonald Carr Jr.

Rehearsal Party

On Saturday night the groom's parents entertained the wedding party at their home. Mrs. Christy Boyette, cousin of the groom, served cake squares and Miss Karen Boyette, also a cousin of the groom, served punch. Other refreshments were cheese biscuits, mints, nuts, chicken salad sandwich strips, cold cut tray, chocolate balls and a cheese ball with crackers. The bride honored her attendants with gifts at this time.

Textile Company Writes Letter To The Editor

American workers are not the only people concerned with the large number of textile imports on the market today. American textile companies are campaigning for import restrictions and pride in U.S. products.

Duplin has approximately 1,600 textile employees, according to figures provided by the local Employment Security Commission. Within North Carolina in the fiber, textiles and apparel industry, there are 300,000 men and women employed.

Last week three of Duplin's leading textile companies exhibited at the county fair and included information encouraging local citizens to have pride in American products and buy them.

The following letter to the editor arrived from a local textile company too late for publication before Sept. 25. But, beyond legislation, local citizens can buy American-made apparel to keep our textiles strong and our people employed.

Dear Editor:

National Spinning Co., Inc. is participating in an industry-wide campaign to flood the White House with over one million letters in the next few weeks. The letters are to encourage President Reagan not to veto the Textile Trade Enforcement Act now on the floor of Congress. As a major employer in this county, the passage of this bill is not only vitally important to this company, but to the community as a whole.

To encourage letter-writing by employees, National Spinning will be giving away shopping sprees for American-made apparel at local retail stores. All letters must be in by Sept. 25.

Any coverage you could give us on this important issue would be extremely helpful. Please contact Personnel Manager Ben Ellenberg for assistance.

Sincerely,
National Spinning Co., Inc.
