

Local Matters

The Masonic Temple Committee will begin its erection this spring.

There should be an electric light at the corner of West and Cannon streets.

Houses are in demand in this city. Rents have been raised in several instances.

Railroads and newspapers should be allowed to exchange advertising for mileage.

Best grade cotton, 10 3-4 cents to 11 1-8 cents; off grade, 7 1-2 cents to 9 1-2 cents.

The cold spell the past few days come in a good time for those who killed hogs. It saved their bacon.

Editor J. L. Ramsey, of this paper, is gradually improving. His many friends wish him a speedy return to health.

The forty-seventh Annual State Fair of North Carolina will be held October 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, and 19, 1907, at Raleigh, N. C.

The residence which was partially destroyed by fire several weeks ago on West near Morgan street, has been rebuilt and is now occupied.

It is to be hoped that our Legislature will not pass a law that prevents railroads and newspapers from exchanging advertising space for mileage tickets.

Young trees here should be protected. Children should not be allowed to make "riding horses" out of them, and men should not whittle them with knives.

The persons who spit snuff or tobacco juice every night on a store window-glass in Raleigh had better desist, or the police might catch them. It would not be tolerated in Africa.

Tuesday morning early ten houses in which tenants of the Pilot Mills were living were burned down. The houses were insured, but the furniture of some of the occupants was a total loss.

Impressive ceremonies were held in the hall of the North Carolina House of Representatives, Saturday, January 19th, commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of General Robert E. Lee.

Miss Bessie Terry, of Rockingham, one of the young ladies who won a trip North in the Times' voting contest and who has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. V. C. Terry, left for home Wednesday.

There are toughs who visit Boylan Spring who throw drinking cups away and do all they can to make that pure water undrinkable. The police should catch them and they should be sent to the roads.

People would not think there was a scarcity of labor hereabouts if they would visit the rear end end of the market house any afternoon and see the crowd of loafers who congregate there. Of course, they have all got work(?).

Complaints have been made of hunters on the outskirts of Oakwood Cemetery, who fire at game and pepper tombstones with shot. It is dangerous to those who visit that sacred place. The city authorities should pass an ordinance forbidding shooting within half a mile of the cemetery.

Let this Legislature pass a bill annihilating the old eye-sore of an "arsenal" building at the southwest corner of Capitol Square. It is dangerous to traffic in that vehicles turning the corner of Salisbury and Morgan streets are liable to collide. Besides, it is no place to keep arms or anything else. It is a disgrace to that beautiful square.

A Good Word.

Pass It On.

"You're a great little wife, and I don't know what I would do without you." And as he spoke he put his arms about her and kissed her, and she forgot all the care in that moment, says a wise exchange. And, forgetting all, she sang as she washed the dishes, and sang as she made the beds, and the song was heard next door, and a woman there caught the refrain and sang also, and two homes were happier because he had told her that sweet old story, the story of the love of a husband for a wife. As she sang, the butcher boy who called for the order heard it, and went out whistling on his journey, and the world heard the whistle, and one man hearing it, thought, "Here is a lad who loves his work, a lad happy and contented."

And because she sang her heart was mellowed, and as she swept about the back door, the cool air kissed her on each cheek, and she thought of a poor old woman she knew, and a little basket went over to that home, with a quarter for a crate or two of wood.

So because he kissed her and praised her the song came, and the influence went out and out.

Pass on the praise.—Selected.

TOBACCO

IS SELLING HIGH

AT THE

Farmers' Warehouse

THOMAS F. CHEATHAM, Owner and Proprietor,

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA.

Being once a farmer myself, and realizing this a short crop, I feel it my duty to advise every farmer who has tobacco to sell to carry it to a live, strong and active market, where they have good buyers, who buy every grade of your tobacco from your scrap to your finest wrapper, so that you may realize full market value for every grade. I will save you money if you will bring me your tobacco at the Farmers Warehouse, Raleigh, N. C. Tobacco is selling high. All grades advanced this week, and I intend to keep a strong market all of the time. Raleigh never before has had such a good market. Our buyers are the best—Mr. H. I. Glass is buying for the American Tobacco Co. Mr. W. F. Henry for the Imperial Tobacco Co., and others for all independents. These gentlemen are men of many years' experience, live bidders, and strive hard to please every farmer who sells here. My many customers are well pleased, and I guarantee to please you if high prices will do. Come on to Raleigh and bring me your tobacco and get the highest price, honest weights and best accommodation. I have Mr. U. O. Watts, of Lynchburg, as auctioneer now. He works hard for every farmer, and never lets a pile of tobacco go until he gets the top-notch price for it. Now, do not forget where to come. Come on any day. Sales every day in the week. So come to see me and get the best price you could get anywhere. No other place equals it at all.

Yours to serve,

THOS. F. CHEATHAM,

Owner and Proprietor Farmers Warehouse
