Mrs. Bush Attends Press Meeting.

This time, as has fallen to her lot before, the "better half" of The News staff attended the Western North Carolina Weekly Press Association. The pretty town of Morganton, "in the lap to the mountains" was the place of the summer meeting this year. Miss Beatrice Cobb, the enterprising and able editor and owner of the local newspaper, The News-Herald, was the central figure among the many citizens of the town who were the cordial hosts. Morganton's handsome new hotel, The Caldwell, opened its doors to welcome the newspaper folks and all the forty visitors were well cared for, free of charge by the manager, Mr. Gaston. The Hotel Caldwell is a splendid building, carefully and excellently appointed, and would do credit to a city many times the size of Morganton.

The Editorial party spent two days—Thursday and Friday—as guests of hospitable Morganton. The first day they greatly enjoyed a visit to the State Institute for the Deaf, having luncheon in this building and in afternoon, holding an interesting and profitable business session. In the evening the Kiwanis Club entertained at a brilliant banquet in their club rooms. On this occasion Miss Cobb was the clever Mistress of ceremonies, and as she introduced them, inspired the several speakers to particularly bright responses. Friday was spent at Lake James, to which lovely point the visitors were taken in automobiles and entertained most charmingly at a luncheon at the Club House.

The meeting at Morganton was a delightful success from beginning to end.

Little Henry Shankle Jr. grandson of Postmaster S. B. Edwards, who had the misfortune of very badly breaking his right thigh, on April 8th, has sufficiently recovered to be able to walk with a crutch, and hopes to soon discard these. He will not be crippled.

To the Patrons of the Tryon School.

After carefully making my final report for the year's work, I'd like you good people to see how seriously we have failed; in that we may profit by this shortcoming. We are all anxious to build up a school; but let each and every one recall to his mind his own boyhood; then he can plainly see that success can come only by hard effort, even sacrifice.

Our highest enrollment for the year was 241. Whereas our average daily attendance was 196. We had during the year 288 tardies. We had during the year 3557 absences.

Although our average daily attendance for the year grew from 142 to 186 an increase of 54 still you see how far lacking we still are. Won't all help to improve these conditions.

A KEEN business man knows that if his home or any of his buildings need painting, it won't do to wait for next season to do the job. He does it now.

And if he is paint wise, he will drop around to our store and pick out his paints from the Du Pont line.

We will give him a paint for any purpose that will assure him of the results we both want. The Du Pont paints we sell are a lasting protection and economical to use. They are made by America's Great Chemical Industry to really protect and beautify wood or metal surfaces.

Drop in the next time you're down town and let's figure out the costs and materials on the job you have in mind. There is no obligation on your part—that's our business—to give paint service—and we know our business.
