I am confidently expecting every teacher in Polk County to give this program and your township leader your whole hearted support and cooperation. This is your commencement and I know you are interested in yourselves, your school, your community and your county. The teachers of Polk County are always loyal to each other and the school officials, and I am sure that we will not have a single slacker in any school, but our slogan is: The biggest and best county commencement ever at Columbus, April 13, 1923.

If I can be of any service to any teacher or any child at any time in any way during this period of preparation, command me and I assure you that I shall be only too glad to respond. I am,

Very cordially yours, E. W. S. Cobb, County Supt. P. S. The words in the spelling contest will be taken from the special review words in the II Book that is now in use in all awarding of prizes and the schools. When these words are exhausted the words will be selected from the 6th and 7th grades, at random, until the contest is completed.

Map of Polk County.

County Agent J. R. Sams is offering a prize for the best map of Polk County, giving townships, divisions and locatool will have its own indi- ing churches, schools towns ual banner. I suggest that and principal roads. This map banner be carried by the to be exhibited at County Commencement.

A Bad System

A housewife of Lynchburg, Virginia, purchased a peck of potatoes for which she paid 30 cents. As she was peeling one of the potatoes, she found a note reading: "I got 24 cents per bushel. What did you give?" It was signed "G. F. BEADSLEY, Staunton, Mich." and was dated January 19. This story may be apocryphal

but this much is true, nevertheless: It certainly does not misrepresent the wide discrepancy between the price which the farmer secures for his commodity and the price which the consumer pays. When a farmer obtains only 24 cents a bushel for his potatoes while the housewife must pay $1.20 something is radicalmarketing and price-fixing. The farmer will continue to have a just grievance as long as he must content himself epresent that township at Co- with such a small portion of the price which his commodities command in the retail market.

TO FARMERS OF POLK COUNTY

We are ready to announce to farmers of Polk county that the necessary capital for a cannery at Columbus has been provided, and that everything will be in readiness when the season

The farmers have responded well on their part to grow the necessary amount of beans and tomatoes to insure the cannery. If any farmers who have not agreed to grow tomatoes and beans desire to do so, they must apply at once or the cannery will not be under obligation to take them if there should be any over production.

The farmer wants as many ways as possible to increase his cash income.

This is one way. Club boys Inman Sunday. and girls will find the cannery Mabel Beddo, Contralto, who a splendid opportniity to grow
