Health Much Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"Your little book left at my door was my best doctor. I read it, then said to my husband, 'Please go and get me some Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I want to take it.' The first month I took three bottles of Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. If you only knew how much better I feel! Now when my friends say they are sick I tell them to take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines. I give the little book and your medicines the best of thanks."—Mrs. HAMBURG, 3765 25th Street, Detroit, Michigan.

In newspapers and booklets we are constantly publishing letters from women, who explain how they were helped by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. These letters should guide you. Fed Captive Offspring

Mrs. T. W. King of Lamont, Iowa, has some domesticated orioles which she captured in the nest when the birds were just about ready to fly. One morning Mrs. King noticed the father of the birds beating against the cage in an effort to get to his young. She then hung the cage on the porch and the father brought food for his family. He continued this until the birds learned to take care of themselves.

SOUP COMBINATION VERY APPETIZING

Something New to Eat and Appealing to Many Tastes.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Something new to eat—very dainty and appetizing with a pink color scheme for luncheon, and appealing to most tastes, is a soup evolved in the course of a series of experiments with vegetable cookery carried on by the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. Although these experiments were intended to develop ways of treating the more widely used vegetables to conserve their mineral constituents and vitamins rather than to originate unusual recipes, in "apple blossom soup," a combination was worked out in the laboratory which many housekeepers will welcome for the sake of change.

Apple Blossom Soup.
1 pint cooked beets, finely cut
1/2 cupful vinegar (half water, if very strong)
1/2 cupful sugar, or less, if desired
2 tablespoonfuls butter, if no cream is used
1 teaspoonful salt
Few grains pepper
1/2 tablespoonful cornstarch
1 1/2 cupfuls milk
1 1/2 cupfuls cream

Mix all the ingredients except the milk and cream, and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Sugar and vinegar must be properly balanced; if the amount of either be increased or decreased, the other must be increased or decreased accordingly. Now mix the cooked beets with the milk and cream. There should be no curdling if the beets and sauce are stirred vigorously into the milk, rather than the milk into the beets. After the mixture has stood for 15 to 20 minutes, pour through a coarse strainer to remove the beets, which are to be served separately, at some other meal. The soup may be served in cups with a teaspoonful of whipped cream in the center or a garnish of cooked beet cut in fancy shapes. This amount makes one and one-half pints of soup, which will serve six persons.

Tinting to Temporarily Improve Silk and Laces

Sometimes, especially with light-colored silks and georgette crepe, it is convenient to give delicate tints by some simple method. "Blueing" and "pinking" are most often resorted to. The United States Department of Agriculture finds that, as a rule, the color obtained by tinting is not so permanent as that from dyeing. There are soap dyes on the market which may be used for this purpose, or a tinting water may be made by soaking colored crepe or blotting paper, or by mixing a few drops of colored ink in clear water.

A glass of tinted water held to the light will show about the same color that it will give to the material. A piece of red crepe wrapping paper will easily impart enough color to a basin of water to restore a faded pink crepe de chine waist to its original shade. Violet or green ink or ordinary blueing will act similarly. A small amount of regular dye can also be used without boiling to tint silks. The color of deep cream or ecru lace may be restored by tinting with tea. Coffee is sometimes used, but it is less desirable as it leaves an odor and does not give so clear a tint. A cheap grade of black tea is good for tinting, or left-over tea may be used.

Onions Help Pork Chops

French fried onions are excellent with pork chops, says the United States Department of Agriculture. They are made by slicing onions across the grain, dusting them lightly with flour, then frying the rings in deep fat like Saratoga chips until they are golden brown. Apple sauce or stewed dried apples are also good accompaniments for pork.

BAKED POTATOES ARE VERY ACCEPTABLE

Baked Potatoes Served With Roast Beef.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
While browned potatoes are very often served with roast meats, the convenience of cooking them in the meat fat, the United States Department of Agriculture says that baked potatoes, either "au naturel" or with a little butter, are very acceptable with roast beef. Bake the potatoes in a hot oven for 45 minutes or until soft. Cut a slice from the side of each and scrape the inside. Mash this and season with salt and pepper. Add enough butter to bring to the consistency of ordinary mashed potatoes. When served, add egg. This may be left-over whites or yolks or whole eggs. Add not more than one egg to six medium-sized potatoes. Rub with a brush with melted fat, and put back in the oven for a few minutes and browned.

As these potatoes can be prepared early in the day and the skins ready to heat and brown, they are especially convenient for serving at the dinner is not what one considers an "easy" one to cook and serve. Browned potatoes are made by parboiling them for ten minutes, then remove the skins and place the potatoes on a roasting rack with one inch of steam for about 40 minutes, or until the potatoes are tender, basting occasionally with the juice in the pan.

KITCHEN TABLE IS EASILY KEPT CLEAN

Utensil Should Be Plain and Substantially Built

The work of a kitchen table is not only to hold the dishes and plates, but it is also to hold the family. It should be a sturdy, substantial piece of furniture, built to last. It should be easily kept clean and should be plain and substantially built.

Recipe for Lemon Pie

The following recipe for a lemon pie, tested in the experimental kitchen of the United States Department of Agriculture, can be relied upon.

2 tablespoonfuls cornstarch
3/4 cupful sugar
1 cupful boiling water
4 tablespoonfuls lemon juice
1 tablespoonful butter
2 egg yolks

Mix the cornstarch and sugar in a saucepan and stir in the hot water. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened, and boil five minutes. Add butter, well-beaten yolks, salt, and juice, grated rind. Cook about ten minutes longer. Pour into a pie shell previously baked. Cover with a meringue made of the egg whites beaten stiff with two tablespoonfuls of sugar and brown in oven.

Fragrance in Flowers

Fragrance in flowers is determined by laws which are beyond human comprehension. It is not a quality peculiar to a family, but to individuals, or rather varieties in that family. Old varieties of roses were mostly fragrant; many of the newer and most beautiful are not. The older peonies were rather unpleasant in odor, but many of the newer varieties are deliciously perfumed.
