AS SECRETARY

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE COM-PLETES CABINET HE WILL TAKE INTO OFFICE.

Washington. - President Coolidge completed the cabinet he will take into off ce with him March 4 when he begins the term to which he was elected last November in his own right.

He chose William M. Jardine of Kansas as secretary of agriculture and sent has nomination to the senate along with that of Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota, whose election as secretary of state to succeed Charles E. Hughes was announced a month ago.

The nomination to fill the third vacancy in the cabinet, that of Charles B. Warren of Michigan to be attorney general, was made early in January and his met with so much opposition hat administration leaders in the senate have hesitated to seek confirmation at this session because it might perate to prevent enactment of important legislation.

Immediately after completing his abinet the president issued a proclamation calling the new senate in extra session "to receive such communications as may be made by the executive" Should the cabinet nominations now pending be disposed of before March 4 there would remain little for he senate to dispose of except the reappointment of present cabinet mempers to whom Mr. Coolidge desires to give commissions in his own name.

Both Republicans and Democratic eaders said that so far as they knew here would be no serious opposition to the confirmation of either Mr. Kelogg, who is a former senator, or Mr. Jardine, who is president of the Kansas Agricultural college and has the indorsement of the entire Kansas deleration in congress.

The way to the confirmation of Mr. Warren, however, is not so clear. After conferences with President Coolidge early in the week some of the majority leaders said they would make no effort to force action at this session, but apparently a change in this program now is being considered.

Senator Curtis of Kansas, the Repubican floor leader, said if the judiciary committee reported the nomination out the senate would act. Senator Butler of Massachusetts, one of the closest of the president's advisers, declared flatly that action would be had at this session.

Fire Protection Bill Killed. Sherwood Brockwell, deputy fire marshal, made an impassioned plea before the House Committee on Insurance Wednesday for some law to safe, guard hospitals from fire, but to no avail. The committee after prolonged consideration of a bill that would require fire escapes, stairways built so as not to become fire flues, and other like precautions voted to kill the bill.

The measure has been bfore the legislature for a month. It was introduced for the State Department of Insurasce by Representative Dellinger. Heads of hospitals in several cities opposed the measure on the ground of expense. The first bill provided for fireproof hospitals, as far as practicable, giving two years to make them fireproof, but this was considered/too drastic.

Suffering Causes Pain.

Goldsboro.-The story of the terrible suffering that Mrs. Ivey Wooten, of the Oak View community, suffered from the time she was horribly burned Saturday, Jan. 24, until she died on Thursday, Feb. 5, has been found by her friends and is a diary of fortitude, patience and hope. The story of her suffering was evidently written on her death bed and states in part: "When I came in from the kitchen and saw that the fire had gone down in the fireplace, I put on some wood and then turned around to give the children some cough syrup. My two-year-old child said 'Look, Mama' and when I turned around my skirt was on fire. Firied to smother the blaze with my sweater and when I could not do this I screamed and begged for help to come and told Katherine to run for Mrs. Emerson, our neighbor. I kept the baby away from me with one hand and tried to put out the fire with the other. I prayed continually to the Lord to save me that my baby might be spared. With everthing burned off I wrapped a coat around me, took the baby in my arms and started to the Emerson's. I would go a little way, then lie down and roll over and beg for help. I finally got to the Emerson's and fell face down on the floor The doctor then came and did what he could for me. I want to live to raise my little children and to work for my Saviour." It was the last request of Mrs. Wooten that her story be broadcast that it may be a warning to people to be careful of fire.
