Dress Form Popular in Western Sewing Clubs

... In the clothing work in Thurston county, Washington, the home demonstration agent, representing the United States Department of Agriculture and the state agriculture college, spent ten days with three groups of interested women. After finding that the price quoted on commercial dress forms was $2.75, it was agreed to discontinue their use and substitute the gummed paper form, at a cost of $1 to each maker. Eight forms were finished at Grand Mound, 14 women were

... enrolled at the Spurgeon Creek community fair, and the same plan was presented at the South Bay fair, with an enrollment of 12. In Pierce county, Washington, the home demonstration agent reports 68 paper dress forms made. A commercial device was purchased for moistening the paper, the cost of which the women propose to meet by paying 10 cents extra for the first 40 forms. One woman said the fun of making a form is worth the $1 it costs. The women have been doing this work themselves after seeing one demonstration.

Rhubarb Betty is Good Dessert for Variation

Here are two old friends who, in a good many homes, have never met each other. Rhubarb, by itself—served as sauce—is sufficiently familiar to need no introduction; in fact, this is almost the only form in which many people know rhubarb. Even when they enjoy rhubarb pie, the rhubarb is sauce before it is pie. "Betty"—bread crumbs and fruit, baked in alternate layers—is most often "apple betty," sometimes peach or prune betty. There is no reason, however, why rhubarb betty should not vary the spring desserts and be popular with the family. It may be made with sweetened rhubarb sauce or raw sliced rhubarb, sprinkled with sugar and alternated with buttered spiced crumbs. The United States Department of Agriculture has tested the following proportions:

Rhubarb Betty. 1 quart sweetened rhubarb sauce or raw sliced rhubarb and sugar 1 quart fine, dry bread crumbs. 3 or 4 tablespoon-ful melted butter Cinnamon or nutmeg. Mix the butter with the crumbs. Place the rhubarb and the crumbs in alternate layers in a greased baking dish, and sift the cinnamon or nutmeg over the top. Bake the pudding in a moderate oven. If rhubarb sauce is used, this will require about fifteen minutes. If raw rhubarb is used, cover the baking dish at first and bake 25 minutes or until the rhubarb is tender. Serve the pudding hot, or let cool and serve with hard sauce.

Household Notes. Piano keys can be cleaned with alcohol. Candles will burn better and more slowly if they are stored in a dry place six or seven weeks before they are to be used. A piece of waxed paper placed under the centerpiece on a polished table will prevent the linen from adhering to the table in hot weather, as well as prevent a stain from cold water from an overfilled vase.

APPROVE FANCY NEGLIGEEES; KNITTED FROCK FOR SUMMER

LOOKING over a new line of negligees always leads to surprise, for no other apparel is so diversified in style and unrestricted in choice of materials. Any wayward fancy that lodges in the head of the designer of negligees, is made thrice welcome, first for its novelty and then for its picturesqueness and colorfulness. A fancy not possessing at least two of these requisites of the negligee will not succeed in entering the mind of any designer, much less lodging there. Just now there are two rival types of negligees, as far as one another in styles, as the east is from the west. The only thing they have in common is that they both espouse the cause of the two-piece negligee, which is fa-

In the beautiful printed silk and cotton crepes which are far less expensive than silk and have the advantage of being washable. They are simply and daintily made up, usually with surplice front opening, fastened with ribbon ties, and have short kimono sleeves and front revers finished with lace frills.

Seasons may come and seasons may go, but as far as knitted underwear fashion is concerned its stream of fascinating ideas flows on forever. Just now it is the exploiting of fiber silk, preferably called rayon, according to modern fashion language, which lends zest to the latest knitted modes. Very timely is this employment of rayon in knitted construction, for it vored in the dressier types. In one of them a more or less elaborate slip, or underdress, of silk or crepe de chine, is worn under a graceful over-drapery of chiffon, or georgette, often in the form of long, floating ends of material falling from the shoulders over the arms. These draperies are usually finished with points and arranged to fall in the manner of jabots and they are often in a different color from the underslip so that beautiful color combinations are possible. Nothing could be more softly feminine.

Right by their side we come across many variations of those trouser suits, which are borrowed from the Chinese, and of which a pretty example is pictured here. In this suit plain crepe de chine is chosen for the trousers and a "modernistic" printed pattern for the silpover coat, which is finished at the edges with borders of the plain crepe. Its bottom edge is cut on a diagonal line and weighted with an important, long tassel. There are several graceful designs in coats for trouser suits—some of them have a surplice fastening at the front terminating in a huge blossom. Black satin or crepe de chine in combination with high colors (used in borders) as orange, American blue, are chosen for these sapphire blue, are chosen for these suits. Plain and printed patterns are combined in them and those who love color may go as far as they like in indulging themselves in this fancy.

A new claimant for attention among materials suited to negligees appears Bring Out Heirlooms. A cameo enclosed in filigree gold is one of the latest fads for fastening side draperies and girdles on day and evening gowns. Many an heirloom is getting another airing in society as a consequence. Fashion in Sleeves. Long tight sleeves appear in a number of daytime frocks and on one or two evening models one notices a brief little sleeve about six inches in length.

charming style touches as gilded or pearl buttons. Interesting borders and cleverly disposed neck fastenings, pockets and cuffs. Long sleeves prevail in the really smart modes. For sports wear the knitted jumper suit, be it of wool with rayon or of rayon entire, is the mode supreme. Very smart, also, are the one-piece coat dresses knitted of rayon. Of course, these are of more formal type, equal in aspect to that of exceedingly handsome silk frocks. The redingote idea, now so fashionable, is carried out in stunning lines, the knitted stitch achieving an appearance of heavy silk bengaline. Novelty stripe is, by the way, the last word in knitted construction, be it for one-piece or two-piece dresses, likewise sweaters. Some of these modish knit-coat dresses finish all edges by binding them with silk braid, this producing a handsome tailored appearance. Other charming treatment in knitted costume includes long flowing ties, also jabots which are a very essential part of the garment and not a detachable accessory.

Silk Hose. Sheer silk stockings are pretty much alike from year to year until it comes to the matter of color. Some of the swanky shades are bluish, azure, almond, peach, alreale, jackrabbit and cameo. Some are clocked, but all are watched. White Popular. White kid mules embroidered in color and bound with white fur are most delightfully feminine.

Motorship is Next

A big "sea change"—steamships to motorships—is predicted in the annual report of Harland & Wolff, shipbuilding firm of London. The company, which has 13 motorships under construction, including three liners of more than 20,000 tons, reports that, judging from present indications, "the motorship will supersede the steamship in much the same way as in the course of the last century the steamship superseded the sailing ship."

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promise of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it. A prominent druggist says: "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism. You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and inclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.
