Read of Other Women Who Found Health

Brooklyn, New York.—Mrs. G. Hegmann of 35 Central Ave., was in a run-down condition and could not do her housework.

She could not sleep at night. Her story is not an unusual one. Thousands of women find themselves in a similar condition at some time in their lives.

Mrs. Hegmann, "and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got relief." Mrs. Hegmann also took Lydia E. Pinkham's Herb Medicine and Lydia E. Pinkham's Pills for Constipation, with good results.

There are women in your state—perhaps in your town—who have written letters similar to this one telling how much Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped them.

The Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass., will gladly furnish other women with these names upon request.

FOR TRAVEL AND SPORTS; NEW HEADWEAR ATTRACTS

AN ATTRACTIVE company of summer coats, the latest (and last) offerings of the current season, are making their entry. These new arrivals have "travel," "pastimes" and "vacation" expressed in their design.

For midsummer there are unlined cape-coats of light-colored flannels and similar coats of crepe-satin in light colors. A little heavier than these are the sleeveless coats, with capes that wrap about the arms at the front.

Two Midseason Coats.

French artist of acknowledged genius for designing. From them we can gather the high-lights of the new modes—the higher crowns, the introduction of wide brims, the combinations of straw braid and millinery fabrics in the construction of shapes, the revival of flower and feather trimmings.

The group does not include some prominent additional shapes and styles brought out for midsummer. Among these are the square-crowned Spanish sailor, with either straight or drooping brim, narrower at the back, seems destined to be a great favorite.

Evening Capes of White Fur White caracul evening capes are worn by fashionables this season. One no longer feels the call for ermine or costly furs at evening time.

If You Wear a Hat Very wide deft blue belting ribbon is used to fashion some of the smartest hats for spring. Helmet shapes, berettas or bolero toques are effectively made of this wide ribbon and need no trimming. This bright blue goes well with navy or with black, and is sometimes effectively combined with gray.

Black and Brilliants Black for evening is the latest word from Paris and black chiffon dance frocks are worn by the smartest women. One frock is covered with glittering brilliants so attached as to give the effect of a pattern.

POULTRY FACTS

RAISING GEESE IS DEPENDENT ON FEED

The goose is a careful and constant mother, but her love for the water must be restrained until the goslings are a few weeks old, for many dangers, in the form of muskrats, snakes, turtles, etc., lurk at the water's edge.

Goslings do not require much extra feed, if they can get all the fresh and tender grass they want, and unless this can be supplied, breeding geese is not profitable. For the first few weeks some food must be given; this should never be corn meal, for nine-tenths of the mortality among the various kinds of domestic fowls can readily be traced to feeding corn meal.

The greater part of the management of geese consists in keeping the goslings free from dampness while they are still "downy" guarding them from the attack of rats, cats, weasels, and other of their enemies, in housing them fresh grass run as often as possible. When they become fully feathered, they are abundantly able to take care of themselves; many breeders then let geese find their own food, which they can readily do on a large farm, until fattening time, or when the grass begins to get short, when they are brought up, and liberally and regularly fed with corn, still being permitted to have their liberty until a week or two before they are to be killed, when they are penned up and fed all they can eat.

Suggestions to Follow to Raise Strong Chicks

Raising early hatches of baby chicks has long been one of the most difficult problems of the practical poultryman. Recent findings in feed and feeding, however, explain some of the trouble, and help to make it possible to raise chicks hatched at any time of the year.

The ration recommended by the investigators at the University of Wisconsin consists of 80 parts of yellow corn, 20 parts of wheat middlings, 5 parts of raw bone, 5 parts of grit (calcium carbonate), and 1 part of common salt, and skim milk used freely.

They warn poultry raisers against a very serious condition called "leg weakness," or rickets, common to young chicks hatched in northern climates during the winter. The most simple remedy, they find, is to expose the chicks to sunlight. The ration given above plus sunlight is a complete one for raising strong, healthy young chicks. It needs no further supplement, they declare.

Poultry Hints

A self-feeder for hens will prove profitable.

Have plenty of good fresh mash before the flocks at all times.

Chicks should not have coarse grains until they are nearly two weeks old.

Treat for lice if necessary, with powder on young chicks. Dipping is too severe.

Chilling of chicks often causes diarrhea, but bacillary white diarrhea is "something else again."

Follow some good method of feeding. Don't change your method after starting, at your neighbor's whim.

Feeding all the sour milk that little chicks will drink is oftentimes the best medicine and the best feed to provide for them.

Don't let chicks, poulters or even ducklings and goslings get wet and cold. They are seldom strong enough to stand that combination.

Many flocks of young stock are kept in the small brooder houses that were only large enough for them when they were small. This is a most serious mistake.

The poultry industry can never be overcrowded. As long as humanity eats, it will call for chicken.

Too-fat hens can no more lay eggs than too lean ones. Keep to the medium line.

It is a wise plan to provide a way of watering the ducklings which will permit them to get all the drink they want without spilling the water. Sometimes one side of the pen can be made of upright slats and the water trough placed just outside.

A farmer on barren acres had best give up raising stunted, toll-provoking crops, and go to raising poultry. It pays larger returns.

Recent feeding experiments with hens at the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, have shown that a lack of suitable minerals in the ration will be just as disastrous to egg production as a lack of suitable protein, for example. This finding gives the mineral content of the ration much more importance than is commonly been attached to it.
