Dr. TRAWICK SERMON IS ENJOYED

Anyone who failed to hear Dr. Trawick's sermon last Sunday missed a clear and well thought out presentation of a great truth. As a standard of self measurement in the life of the individual it was of great value to all who abhor hypocrisy and any of the smug illusions with which men are wont to delude themselves. As an evidence of the fact that there are no denominational barriers to the spread of the truth, it was of great and timely value to the thinking Christians of Tryon; great because of its simplicity; timely because it pointed out the folly of maintaining or trying to maintain many poorly attended and poorly supported places of worship when a few well attended and well financed churches could serve the church-going public with greater efficiency.

For three successive Sundays the pulpit of the Erskine Memorial Church has been filled by ministers of different denominations, one a Congregationalist, one a Presbyterian and last, a Methodist. Each has brought a forceful, hopeful, and therefore helpful message to people who gratefully received it. Each has we trust brought nearer the day when in towns of the size of Tryon there shall be but two strong churches, one with and one without a ritual, both ministering effectively to a united people now divided by lines of denominational prejudices which hamper instead of helping the spread of Christian influence.

Next Sunday, Dr. Lewis Keller, President of the Atlanta Theological Seminary will preach at the Congregational Church. Those who know Dr. Keller predict that his sermon will maintain the high standard of excellence which has marked those of his predecessors.

The work of securing a permanent pastor for the Erskine Memorial Church is progressing rapidly.

"THOUSAND PINES" OPENS

Mrs. Lesene L. Meegan Opens Quaint Inn. Original Home of The Famous Actor, William Gillette

The old Gillette-Warner home which has been closed for so many years, has been extensively modernized by Gillette Estates Inc., and Mrs. Lesene L. Meegan, a very capable and experienced hostess, has opened it for the 1927 season to the general public.

It is a homey, rambling old place located in the heart of the beautiful Gillette woods. Considerable thought was given in making the alterations, in order to keep it as near the original, as possible. There is a unique charm in the rustic construction, combined with all the modern comforts, giving a cheerful most artistic atmosphere.

From a spacious veranda, one has a fine view of Hog Back, Rocky Spur and Melrose.

In the living room, quaint hand-carved door-latches attract attention. A beautiful old fire place, burning pine logs of immense dimensions, will be a cheerful feature.

The "Gillette" library containing many interesting volumes collected in his varied travels, will be available for the use of guests registered there.

Many windowed bedrooms with fire places and modern bathrooms, provide comfortable accommodations for a limited number of guests. A very fine steam heating plant is being installed.

In a gay and cherry dining room, one will enjoy a simple home meal, served in dainty style.

Thousand Pines Inn is a welcome addition to Tryon.

Reading Room Soon Will Be Completed

A much-needed and efficient addition to the Lanier Library will be the new Reading Room which is in process of construction, and will be completed within a few months.

It is the gift of Mr. James S. Holden of Detroit in the name of his father and mother who for many years have been enthusiastic and active citizens of Tryon. No more useful and beautiful appreciation of what Mr. and Mrs. Holden mean to Tryon could be shown than by this addition to the Library.

The new room will fill a long felt want in the Library, and when finished and furnished will contain book shelves, reading tables and comfortable chairs, as well as a goodly number of the best periodicals and newspapers. It is the plan of the Lanier Club to keep the room open at last half of each day. Quiet will be maintained always, so it will be a place where one can read undisturbed and in comfort, and there is no doubt that it will be filled with readers every day.

The architect for this addition is Mr. J. Foster Searles, and the building contractor Mr. Cressman. Mr. Searles has planned a very attractive and up-to-date Library reading room of which Tryon will have reason to be proud.

RECENT RAIN HELP WATER FALLS

The recent rain fall in the mountains have greatly enhanced the beauty of the many water falls in the neighborhood, and they present a striking picture as the water leaps from the dizzy heights into the chasms below. Within calling distance of Lake Lanier one will see the Chunkawaken, Pearson, Melrose, Sistar and the Cascades each a different type and each offering a different picture. When the streams are supplying their full volume of sparkling mountain spring water, these falls attract many visitors who appreciate their beauty and they add to the variety of interesting places to visit in the vicinity of Lake Lanier.

Over one of them, the water jumps a distance of about 300 feet, and at others it falls from off the face of the mountain in a series of steps.

During the winter season many of the tourists engage saddle horses and winding over many of the wonderful bridle paths which lead through the mountains, they visit these attractive places, and all the Tryon Art shops carry paintings and post cardsprints of these beauty spots.
