Saluda to Have Bond Issue

That Saluda is following in the footsteps of other progressive Western North Carolina towns, is evidenced by the fact that they are preparing to issue bonds for the extension of the city's water supply.

It is reported from an authoritative source, that about eighty per cent of the town voters are greatly in favor of this step. The new bond issue calls for the issuance of $50,000 to enlarge the water supply, which is a mere trifle when one stops to think of the great benefit that will come to this ever popular and growing resort center.

Water Shortage in the Summer Season

source that about eighty per cent Saluda has grown so rapidly in the past few years that precaution had to be taken in order to avoid a possible shortage, that Saluda could not make a better investment than the issuance of these bonds is beyond question. These great and big town improvements will remain long after some of the standpatters have given up hopes of ever blocking any move that will hinder the city's growth.

Tryon is glad to see that her neighboring mountain town is awakening to the fact that an adequate water supply is the best asset that any small town can have and furthermore the small additional tax that will be involved amounts to less than a hill of beans. Go to it Saluda; you are making wonderful strides in the path of progress.

They will act as solicitors in the Tenth Annual Roll Call for members, which the Red Cross will conduct from November 11 to 25.

Pigeon Flies Home to Tell Of Prize Won

After the judging of the pigeons exhibited at the county fair were completed Thursday, at Spartanburg a homing pigeon was released by the officials and it sped homeward to Passaic, N. C., at the rate of 60 miles an hour bearing the results of the awarding of prizes to its owner.

J. R. Horne, the owner, had arranged before hand to have the officials inform him of the results by tying a note to the bird's leg and releasing it, the pigeon going to its home, straight as an arrow.

The bearer of the message won second place in the exhibit and her brother took first. She is the granddaughter of the present day world champion for speed which was made from Texas to Fort Wayne, Ind., in one day, 11 hours and 30 minutes.

Mr. Horne, a disabled ex-serviceman, took a course in breeding birds at N. C. State and has been successful since as an exhibitor at Passaic, N. C. The pigeon has flown from several cities in North Carolina, including one flight from the top of Chimney Rock.

The bird was brought to Tryon Sunday by Mr. W. F. Little, and was released and given a message to take back to Greens Creek School. The message was given the bird by Bobbie and Jimmie Little, with a message from the Tryon Graded School to the Greens Creek School.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN OPENS IN TRYON

Prior to the opening on Armistice Day, of the Tenth Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross, Mrs. W. E. Kilpin, chairman of the local membership campaign, in an interview, explained the different types of membership and told how membership dues are expended.

While the Red Cross depends primarily for its funds for national and international work upon dollar memberships preferring to keep the organization as democratic as possible, three other type of annual membership are provided the chairman stated. Explaining these he said: "The four annual types involve fees of $1, $5, $10, and $25 annually. From each of these memberships a half dollar goes to National Headquarters at Washington, for national and international work. The balance remains in the treasury of the local chapter, and is used to finance local Red Cross work. For instance from a $25 membership, $24.50 stays at home and fifty cents goes to Washington. Upon these dues the organization is entirely dependent for funds to carry on its work.

"In addition to the annual memberships two other types are provided. Life memberships involve a fee of $50, and $100 secures a patrons membership. These entire fees go to the National Red Cross treasury to augment the endowment fund of the organization."

Details of campaign organization thing points to a quick efficient drive with a record enrollment of many new members for the Tryon chapter Booths will be located at several of the local stores and Tryon's quota is expected to go over the top in great style. Much interest is being manifested so far in the drive and it is hoped that every body will respond to the call to help this great and worthy cause. Join Today.

Tryon Will Have Program Thanksgiving

A happy suggestion! Stay in Tryon, Thanksgiving Day. A committee of the Chamber of Commerce, headed by that top-notch sportsman, Mr. Carter P. Brown, is arranging a varied program that will be put on at Pacolet Park, Thanksgiving Day for your entertainment. Ty-Cobbs, in embryo, will contest in distance throwing of base balls. Young Bobby Jones will vie one with another in driving the elusive golf ball. Those who can talk to the ivories will have opportunities to take home fat, bronze, turkeys; Chasers of the fickle Goddess of Fortune can acquire food if agile enough to ring a duck. The historical greased pig will be on hand to test the gripping power of numerous avaricious youths. The shifty colored head will pose in canvas frame as a target for young Walter Johnsons. Old Walters not barred. Hit the head and a cigar you get. A cane you ring a cane you can have to walk home with.

That is all of the program to be opened to the public this week. In the next issue of the News there will be a long addition to the list contemplated for your enjoyment. Foot races unintentionally omitted from above.

Anyhow it is to be a day of amusement relaxation sport and joy during which you may, perchance, be able to have your fortune told by a beautiful Gypsy maid. A bank holiday it will be but that is as nothing compared with the Derby day it will be. Remember! Stay in Tryon, Thanksgiving Day. Reflect on that thought!
