State Political Outlook
Discussed By Shipman

in the Legislature has insured that. Candidates will be put on the spot next year.

Four candidates for Governor are already in the race, and the end is not yet. So far a single candidate has presented a definite issue to the people. They have contented themselves with generalities, but there will be issues. Clyde Hoey, of Shelby, said nothing about Prohibition in his announcement, but there is not the slightest doubt about where he stands on the question. He took a leading part in the campaign that resulted in the overwhelming vote in this State against repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. The Dry forces look on him as their candidate, and nobody knows this better than Mr. Hoey. Nor did Lieut. Gov. A. H. Graham, of Hillsboro, have anything to say about Prohibition in his announcement. But he let it be known early in the legislative session that if there were a tie in the Senate on the Hill liquor control, he would vote in favor of its adoption. He is the candidate of the supporters of Statewide liquor control. John A. McRae, of Charlotte, likewise contented himself with an announcement, but he will have to take his stand, if he gets anywhere against two sizable candidates. And the same is true of Col. T. LeRoy Kirkpatrick, of Charlotte. Dr. John T. Burrus, of High Point, is flirting with the idea of running on an anti-sales tax platform. This might overshadow the Prohibition issue, but it is hardly probable.

While the Legislature was engaged in trying to work out a solution of the tax problems of the state, and discussing liquor, the State Supreme Court was quietly hearing arguments on numerous cases, and little was heard from it. But the Supreme Court has the last word. It can upset any law that the Legislature enacts. That is its function. And more attention is going to be paid to the Supreme Court in the future than has been the case in the past. Associate Justices George W. Conner and Willis J. Brogden came up for reelection next year. In the normal course of events they would have no opposition, but it may be different in these days of change. Then Associate Justice Heriot Clarkson, who was re-elected last year, has recently been indisposed, and the Legislature passed a bill which would permit him to retire, in the event he might feel disposed to do so. He was not mentioned in the bill which merely permits a Supreme Court judge to retire after the age of 65, if he has served 12 years on the bench. There are already candidates looking with hungry eyes towards a possible vacancy on the Supreme Court bench.

While not much is being heard about the prospects for opposition to Senator Josiah William Bailey next year, there is one candidate in the field. He is former Lieut. Gov. Dick Fountain, who is well known to the people of the State, so well known in fact that at one time it appeared certain that he would be elected Governor. He knows how to beat the bushes politically. And there is no doubt that Senator Bailey is worried over the prospects of strong opposition, due to his stand against paying World War veterans adjusted compensation. Legionnaires feel that if the government can vote billions to help out industry that it can also vote billions to pay the debt that it admittedly owes the veterans. The American Legion is a powerful political factor in North Carolina. It recently elected two out of the three members of the Raleigh city council. There is little doubt it has its knife out for Senator Bailey. So there is certain to be a real

Secretary of State Staley Wade is another official certain to have opposition. The last Legislature increased the salary of this and other constitutional offices to six thousand dollars a year. Thad Eure, the popular principal clerk of the House of Representatives, is already in the field. Mike Dunnagan, Raleigh newspaperman, has been thinking of getting into the race. John A. Livingston, Raleigh lawyer and former newspaperman, has been boomed for the job. This is just one State office. There are others. There will be plenty for the voters to think about next year.

Now that the Legislature has adjourned, Charles Whedbee of Hertford, personal friend of the Governor, who assisted him in drafting legislation, is out of a job. The Governor has several places that he can put him. It is expected that he will now do something for him. He has no more loyal friend. Probably Whedbee would like best to be a judge.

Thirty Million Miles of Ford Economy

MORE MILES. Faster miles. Greater economy . . . that is the story of the Ford V-8. There are conclusive figures from owners to show that it is the most economical Ford car ever built.

A particularly interesting and complete report of costs comes from a national fleet owner who has owned 854 Ford cars which have run more than thirty million miles in business use.

175 were Model T Fords which were run 5,017,075 miles. 599 were Model A Ford cars which were run 24,041,832 miles. 80 are Ford V-8 cars which have been run 2,982,886 miles.

This owner's cost records show that Ford V-8 cars cost 12% less to operate than the Model A Fords and 31% less than the Model T Fords. And they covered more miles per month! The monthly average for the Model T Fords was 1509 miles. . . . For the Model A Fords, 1866 miles. . . . And 2571 miles for the Ford V-8. Each year the Ford car gives you more in value and performance and costs you less to operate.

Actual Figures Show
The Ford V-8 is 12% More economical than the Model A. and 31% More economical than the famous Model T.
