

Broad Credit Service To Aid Cooperatives

A broader and more flexible credit service for agriculture in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida is seen by Alfred Scarborough, president of the Columbia (S. C.) Bank for Cooperatives of the Farm Credit Administration, in the new Farm Credit Act recently signed by the President. Mr. Scarborough is in Washington attending a conference of presidents of the regional banks for cooperatives.

"While the new act broadens the credit facilities of the banks for cooperatives in all parts of the country," Mr. Scarborough said, "I believe its effect will be particularly beneficial to agriculture in my section. We will now be able to give cooperative associations a complete credit service, both in marketing their farm products and in purchasing the supplies their members need for growing their crops.

"Among other benefits the new act reduces the interest rate on our loans secured by commodities. Cooperative associations now do not need to go elsewhere for loans on commodities, which are usually used to make advances to their grower members and to pay the cost of marketing. While we have had the authority to make commodity loans our rates of interest have not been attractive.

"The new act also favors cooperatives engaged in purchasing farm supplies for their members. Heretofore, credit to aid supply-buying activities was limited to loans for working capital purposes. No provision was made for helping finance the physical facilities—warehouses, trucks, and feed grinding machinery—used in their purchasing operations. Farm supply-buying now, however, is placed on the same footing with marketing, for the new act makes credit available for financing or refinancing the purchase or lease of these facilities.

"As affecting all cooperatives—marketing and purchasing—the new act removes the limitation on the amount that can be lent on physical facilities. Previously, we could lend only up to 60 percent of the value of the particular facility to be constructed, acquired, or refinanced. Now, however, we can lend up to 60 percent of the appraised value of all collateral taken as security for such a loan. Thus, a cooperative may now borrow the full cost of the facility, provided it gives enough additional collateral.

"I believe our marketing associations and those engaged in purchasing are going to find this broader service of great benefit. The effect will go a long way toward promoting the growth of cooperation in the region served by our bank."

Sub-Deb Dance
On last Friday night from 8:00 to 12:00 o'clock the Sub Deb Club of Kenansville entertained their young gentlemen friends at a delightful dance. The enjoyable affair was given in the Woman's club room which were gayly decorated in pastel shades by the use of festoons of crepe paper intermingled with balloons, also attractive baskets of mixed garden flowers. Each girl wore a dainty corsage and presented their escorts with bouquets to match. Handmade place cards seated the guests at several tables placed around the walls of the club room, these represented balloons in the pastel shades. Refreshments were served late in the evening consisting of pineapple sherbert with individual cup cakes iced in the various colors. Punch was also served between dances. The chaperones were Mesdames J. E. Jerritt and N. B. Boney.

Drive far—drive fast —without a worry!

With Conoco Germ Processed Oil in your crankcase, you KNOW the strain won't hurt your motor!

Tests prove this new alloyed oil has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than plain mineral oils and resists heat better!

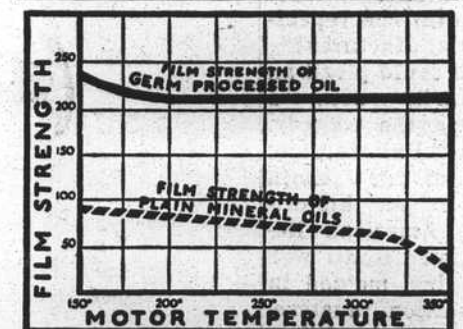

On July 4th or week-end and vacation trips, you'll want to drive far and get there in a hurry. And you don't want that nagging worry of "I wonder if this speed and heat will hurt anything in my motor."

You can't always be sure when you use plain mineral oils, for they have little film strength and oils over-refined by new cleansing processes have even less. Moreover, as motor heat goes up, these oils rapidly lose film strength.

Film strength is the load-carrying ability of an oil, the quality that keeps bearings and cylinders from wearing out. Lack of film strength results in costly damage.

You can drive without a worry when you use Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil! It has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than any plain mineral oil. Heat does not lessen this advantage.*

Supervised road tests—over good and bad roads, at low and high speeds, in all kinds of weather—give practical proof that Germ Processed Oil protests motors better. In every test, gravimetric measurement of motor bearings showed that Germ Processed Oil prevented wear far better than plain mineral oils. Tested in a fleet of cars equipped with the new alloy-metal bearings used in many 1935 cars, a high-quality plain mineral oil permitted 45% more wear on connecting rod bearings than did Germ Processed Oil.

Note that as heat increases, the plain mineral oils continue to lose film strength, but that above 225° (Minimum Summer crankcase temperature) Germ Processed oil's film strength is not affected by heat. Tests made with Timken machine.

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil is the first alloyed oil—alloyed, much as metals are, by adding concentrated oily essence to highly refined oil. It is the only oil made by the Germ Process. It is the oil with the "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and never drains away!
