Big Hog Bear Killed Near Magnolia

C. M. Blanton, Lawrence Potter, Graham Carr, Paul Pate, L. W. and Tracy Brown had plenty of fun Thursday, chasing a big black hog bear and were rewarded with complete success. C. M. Blanton saw tracks at Maxwell bridge, four miles southeast of Magnolia about 9:30 a. m., and he and Potter and Graham Carr got James Quinn's dogs and began the chase. The bear had destroyed much early corn for Mr. Rufe Carr. He also went through the field of L. W. Brown and after dinner he and Tracy and Paul Pate began the chase and met the other party about 7 p. m., they got near enough for Paul Pate to shoot the bear but he was running and not much wounded. At 8 o'clock Paul Pate and Tracy Brown both shot him and "brought him down," about 2 miles from here and brought him to town about 9:30. He tipped the scales to 240 lbs. and there was plenty of excitement around the drug store where he was exhibited. A tremendous crowd gathered to see him. Friday the men divided the bear meat and many people ate some for the first time. The writer was among the number and thought it very much like beef but not quite so good. Others thought it better, but some said "I just could not eat bear".

CELEBRATE COMPLETION OF PAVED HIGHWAY LINK ceremonies a sumptuous picnic dinner was served on the front lawn of the Franklin High School.

The public gathering in the high school auditorium opened with a prayer by Rev. Smith. Following this Mr. Walker, who acted as master of ceremonies, stated that the populace was not gathered merely to celebrate the opening of a new road, but to enlarge acquaintances and cement friendships—just as the new highway was cemented. He then reviewed the growth and development of the sciences, communication and transportation; climaxing his delineation with a picture of the Wallace - Harrells Store highway as a unit of the honey-combed highway system of North Carolina and the United States.

J. Aubrey Harrell, mayor of Wallace, was then presented, and he thanked the audience for their participation in making the ceremonies possible. He later read a letter from J. H. Clark of Elizabethtown, in which the Bladen man expressed his regrets at being unable to attend the dedication.

Dr. Murphy, of Snow Hill was the next speaker. In a few short remarks he expressed hope that the completion of this link would give additional impetus to the construction of a paved road from White Lake to Harrells Store. In a short talk, Bob Murphy, of Tomahawk, advised the people to stick together if they wanted the road completed. Arthur Mallard, Supt. of Maintenance, then spoke briefly concerning the State Highway's activities in repairs and conditioning.

T. T. Betts, District Engineer, was the last speaker. "Construction during the last two years has been done by the Federal Government," he stated. The District Engineer then declared that he had recommended that the proposed roads be completed. Following expected approval at highway headquarters, the proposed roads have to be approved by authorities in Washington. He closed his remarks by saying that he felt sure roads would be soon built south of Harrell's Store, and that he was certain that roads would be constructed north of that area.

2 NEW CASES INFANTILE PARALYSIS IN COUNTY

(Continued from page One) could do. In each case of the disease a strict quarantine is being ordered but this will prove ineffective unless those in quarantine observe the rules as well as other parents who have been advised to keep children under 15 years of age away from public gatherings, stated Dr. White.

While there is nothing to be alarmed about in this county as yet, parents are urged to be on their guard and call a physician at once if children show any symptoms of the disease.

Three states bordering North Carolina are now troubled with infantile paralysis. Tennessee has a mild flare-up of the disease, Virginia has had 22 cases this month, and a child died of the disease in South Carolina yesterday.

The State Board of Health does not have any of the Kolmer or Brodie vaccines on hand and cannot supply physicians with the serum. About 600 appeals for the vaccine have been received by Dr. A. G. Gilliam, Federal epidemiologist, who is conducting immunization experiments in Greensboro under the auspices of the United States Public Health Service, and using the Brodie serum.

Eighteen New Cases
Eighteen new cases of infantile paralysis yesterday swelled the official total to 235, and nine new cases of typhoid fever were reported.

The incidence of typhoid fever now coincides in area and ratio with the number of cases with infantile paralysis, except that the most typhoid cases are occurring in Richmond County, where there is no prevalence of paralysis.

Wake County has the second largest number of cases of typhoid. This county leads all others in the prevalence of infantile paralysis, with official reports of 35 cases and four of the eight deaths reported.

"We should get busy in localities where typhoid is occurring and find the source," said Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, State Health Officer. "We know what to do for that disease and should do it. Vaccination against it should be stressed in communities where it is popping up."

Typhoid Cases
Typhoid was reported as follows yesterday: Wake, 3; Wayne, 2; and one case each from Cleveland, Cumberland, Mecklenburg and Orange counties. Sixty-nine cases of typhoid have been reported thus far in June and 132 this year.

Infantile paralysis was reported yesterday as follows: Robeson, 3; Granville, 2; Johnston, 2; Vance, 3; and one each from Buncombe, Cabarrus, Craven, Durham, Northampton, Onslow, Person and Scotland counties.

A Robeson County Indian, aged 55, is one of the new victims.

More Wake Cases
A new case of infantile paralysis was unofficially reported in Raleigh, the victim being Jean Bridgers, 4-year-old daughter of Mrs. N. P. Bridgers, 428 Fayetteville Street. Another unofficially reported case involves Jack Herndon, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Herndon of near Fuquay Springs in Wake County.

In Johnston, hardest hit county next to Wake, the "Better Homes Tour" planned for today by the Home-Makers' Club was cancelled.

State health officials are expecting a visit today from Dr. W. Lloyd Aycock, of the Department of Preventive Medicine of Harvard University, who will make immunization studies in this State.

Cautioning words concerning use of infantile paralysis serum were voiced yesterday by Dr. Reynolds and Dr. Geo. M. Cooper, Assistant State Health Officer.

Both desired it known that the serum is not available to the public, and that its practicability is not proven. Indiscriminate use of the vaccine, it was said, will hamper immunization studies now under way and from which health authorities desire to learn the efficacy of the serum.

Three states bordering North Carolina are now troubled with infantile paralysis. Tennessee has a mild flare-up of the disease, Virginia has had 22 cases this month, and a child died of the disease in South Carolina yesterday.

seeds are slightly smaller and usually closer together than those of common varieties. It is an acid berry of the Missionary and Klondike type, though not as acid as the Klondike; it has a higher pectin content than standard varieties, and it has a better dessert quality than the Missionary and Klondike. Its easy picking and capping qualities, its bright light-red color, tough skin, and firm flesh, solid center, acidity, high pectin content, and excellent flavor make it very desirable for preserving.

Under conditions so far tested the berries are larger than those of the Missionary or Klondike, although under some conditions they probably will not average as large as the latter variety.

The information in this article was culled from Circular No. 93, September 1929, United States Department of Agriculture "The Blakemore Strawberry" and from The Bulletin of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, March, 1934; "The Culture and Handling of the Blakemore Strawberry". Nothing in this article should be construed as a recommendation that growers of the Klondike variety in the Chadbourn section would find it profitable to switch to the Blakemore. Chadbourn has for years been recognized as a Klondike berry growing center and the buyers who have been coming to this market year after year for more than a quarter of a century to buy Klondike berries and usually pay a premium for this variety. However, on the Wallace market during the 1935 season, Blakemore strawberries, according to Government market reports, brought from 25 to 50 cents per crate premium over Missionary berries, day after day, during the season.
