

BROUGHT DAMAGES
NORTHERN BERRIES

Decline in relief rolls was indicated by the reports from several cities. In San Francisco, 9,000 were absorbed by private business during the week. An increased demand for skilled workers occurred in Cleveland where 5,000 families were taken from relief in the January to April period. Expansion of employment and pay-rolls both was reported by St. Louis where the farm help demand increased, but activity in the coal fields declined. The same city also experienced an acute shortage of house painters and paper hangers. The Dallas report said 200 had quit National Youth projects to accept private jobs. A shortage of qualified mechanics was reported in Springfield, Mass., and April placements in Louisville were the largest since June, 1934. A similar situation prevailed in Wilmington. Nearly 200 families were dropped from the Detroit relief rolls.

Industrial expansion was in evidence on several fronts. Plate glass activity continued to exceed last year's record-breaking performance in Pittsburgh, while railroad car orders for the five months were expected to exceed any full year since 1930. Steel mills were considering vacations with pay for employees. The West Pennsylvania Power Co. announced a $5,500,000 program at Springdale. Automotive production was well sustained in the Cleveland area, where aircraft, valve and paint manufacturers were also running well ahead of last year. Activity in the Akron tire plants was at peak. The Detroit report said the eleventh consecutive increase in automobile production resulted in industrial power sales reaching a new high for the year. Flour sales were up in Minneapolis; a $250,000 brewery expansion was announced in Buffalo; several distillery expansions proceeded in the Louisville area. Five new industries and seven expansions were reported by Los Angeles, including $1,500,000 enlargement by the Technicolor Corporation.
