Washington .- There are certain high points in Roosevelt's public addresses since he became President which mark him as a seer and a prophet; and that is one reason why he has so devoted a following and so bitter an opposition. The truly great man with the deep spiritual force and the vision of the soul on the mountain top is set apart for great things, including great punishment. These thoughts come to me as I sit down to write to you in the shadow of the White House, in which so many of our leaders have experienced those long grueling hours from which they have welded their fate and had so much to do with America's

When Roosevelt told America that this generation has a rendezvous with destiny it seemed to me as if the spirits of former Presidents must have held close conference with the man as he worked out his acceptance speech in the library of that great house where our Presidents have worked now for more than a hundred years . . . including the great-souled Lincoln and the tremendous Wilson. Marshal Badoglio is an Italian soldier who obeys orders. When Mussolini's forces were marching on Rome, Badoglio, according to the story, said to the king: "What shall I do-wipe them out?" The king ordered: "No; no violence." Now, Mussolini rules, and on his orders Badoglio wipes out Haile Selassie and the government of prophet.

> The destiny we must face may have one form or another, but if facing it without fear and with a magnificent proportion of the Golden Rule in government. If we dispense with the New Deal for the old type of materialistic govern ment we will be so overloaded with personal and corporate selfishness that the eventual reaction may be a truly dangerous class war. The American people, expanding tre-mendously in the 160 years since July 4, 1776, have unigrtunately dewhich Roosevelt speaks. Actually an economic tyrant is worse than a political tyrant: and it is against these modern conditions of economic tyranny that Roosevelt has "en-

In that speech and in that phrase Franklin Roosevelt leaped upward to the stars in his vision: and he immediately stood in harmony with the greatest minds and the greatest souls of all time . . . A man who knows destiny and who recognizes cycles of events is more than a politician. He is, I repeat, a we face it with the preparation the New Deal would give us, we will be veloped those economic royalists of listed for the duration of the war."

WARNS AGAINST FEAR Roosevelt knows the destructive quality of fear. He knows what fear has done to hold back the world's progress; he knows the inner delight of having conquere fear within his own soul. Think of what it means to fear nothing, not only to be fearless physically but mentally and spiritually. That state of being permits one to make limitless plans and to create endlessly. Roosevelt, who warns against fear and did so much to wipe out fear from the American people in their dark hours' of depression, acquired the mystic knowledge of fearlessness by long struggles with himself. He has experienced bitter trials. You know fate sometimes tests a fellow to see how he reacts under difficulty. Had Roosevelt failed in the tests which were laid upon him he would not today be running for reelection. American destiny wants no second raters. The destiny for America is leadership of the race; and of the world. While the old world has gone back to the law of tooth and fang and is preparing to kill one another off in a war of horrible possibilities, this blessed nation is adopting the good neighbor policy at home and abroad; we are getting a glimpse of what love and charity mean in terms of everyday dealing with each other and the world. When Roosevelt used that good old word "charity" in his acceptance speech he was making use of an inner knowledge which shows him that genuine practical everyday love to your neighbor is as practical, useful and profitable a substance in human affairs as is electricity properly used.

en down in forty eight small sec tions. The Democratic platform as adopted at Philadelphia plus Roosevelt's acceptance speech comprise a social doctrine for the years to come. They are in my judgment more important than any utterances in years. They are more important than anything Wilson ever said, because they are closer to the hearts of people. They are equal in importance with the prophetic words of Lincoln at his best.

In the short months of this first Roosevelt administration the farmer has been taken off the road to ruin; more than ever does he get quick response from Washington, as in these awful drought experiences. ' The Federal government has driven the gangster and the kidnaper to cover in a way which makes it plain that state law and state police organizations are far too small to cope with the evils of a nation-wide crime wave. Roosevelt's national and Federal use of resources for the nation-wide horror of unemployment is a tremendous achievement; labor has been given a recognition and has experienced a betterment of conditions which is merely one more aspect of the Golden Rule in government, and labor will not forget Roosevelt on election day . . . all in all the Democratic platform is a New Deal platform and a Roosevelt platform; it points toward a country with equal opportunities and a democratic economy which would do away with these frightful inequalities of living which we see today and which America is eventually going to eliminate. . . .

JOB WELL DONE

The government handled the bonus wonderfully well. Those critics who sneer at government and declare that old Uncle Sam cannot do anything properly haven't had a word to say about the way he delivered 90 per cent of the $35,000,-000 in bonus bonds on time.

This was a delivery of $1,700,000,-000 in bonds and $70,000,000 in checks. Thousands of persons teamed up to make this a perfect job. The first and almost impossible task was shouldered within a few moments after the bonus bill passed; and Gen. Frank T. Hines, head of the veterans administration began the unparalleled job of lining up the veterans for their applications. It was the greatest clerical job since the dawn of creation; and it was done well within the time limit. The reason is found in the long advance thinking done by Hines and others in the government.

Each one of three and a half million applications had to be checked against the existing records; that was merely one angle of the work which continued without ceasing day and night with three shifts of workers each 24 hours, and of course the veterans' administration was not the only branch of government. The government presses at the bureau of engraving and printing were rolling day and night and the post office, headed by Postmaster General James A. Farley, made its plans for that perfect delivery which was such a splendid success. Government

My guess is these prophets don't realize the twentieth part of it. I'm reminded of what happened when my old friend, Col. Bill Hayward, sailed with his negro regiment for France during the war. The outfit embarked at night.

The Union Party

AT CLEVELAND there was har-mony and a quiet interment for the old Guard. At Philadelphia the proceedings moved along on greased rollers. But for real excitement, wait until that new Union party holds its convention.

Then will be the signal to remove the women and children to a place of safety. Just consider who'll be there:

The inflationists who think that, as long as we have government engraving plants and printing presses. money should be plentiful. The group committed to the idea that, if the farmer won't do something for himself, something should be done for the farmer. Doctor Townsend, with his project to provide old age pensions for everybody over sixty except Congressman McGoarty. Father Coughlin, calling for social justice and better radio hookups. As Told to:

named Petey. Petey demonstrated once that Butcher's love was reciprocated. It was when an unidentified fiend visited Lockport, committed a score of crimes and concluded by stealing Petey and taking him to Chicago. Butcher learned later the thief climbed to the top of the tallest building in Chicago, unfastened Petey and threw him overboard. Then, to show his fiendish nature, the kidnaper threw a wooden box at the falling bird.

The pigeon broke a leg in his 600-foot fall but retrieved the box, which landed nearby, and hobbled toward the river. There he produced a swagger stick Butcher had used in France, climbed on the box and, steering a winding course by means of the stick, started home.

Bulletins told of the pigeon navigator's progress, but Petey was too proud to accept aid. He negotiated the 45 miles of river channel alone in seven days, limping into Butcher's yard one morning, swagger stick under his wing. It not only gave him a jaunty appearance but served for a crutch as well.

AN 8-INCH TALE

SHELL games are not the only activity wherein the hand may be quicker than the eye. So ruminates Buck Pyle, once of Clarendon, Texas, when he recalls the famous hunting trip undertaken by two of his father's ranch hands.

The cowboys, Sam and Henry, found Buffalo tracks almost immediately. They spied two buffalo, fabric you choose gives a siland each fired at a different anihouette that is universally flattermal

Henry's buffalo sped over a mountain range with Henry in close pursuit and was lost to view. Sam wounded his game and the injured buffalo charged. His pony wheeled, slipped into the deep grass and unseated the rider.

Sam rose to a sitting position, terrified at the approach of the huge animal. He ducked just as the charging buffalo hurtled past. then he straightened suddenly, grasped the wounded buffalo by the tail and hung on.

He could not hope to subdue the maddened beast, but neither could the animal attack him. So Sam clung to the buffalo's eight-inch tail until just before the wild runner crossed the Mexican boundary. Then he reached out with a poplar tree he'd gathered en route, tickled

According to Sir James Jeans, there prevails in the depths of the sun temperature of "forty million degrees centigrade," which is considerably higher than any manmade temperature.

If you came within 1,000 miles of a 5 cent piece with a temperature of 40,000,000 degrees centigrade, you would be burned to a cinder; hard to believe, but true.

England protested against raising the elevation of guns on American warships because that would make our guns shoot too far. In case of war we might hit a British ship lined up against us.

Are animals capable of any thought?

A dog on Prince Edward island, whining and howling with its muzzle against a pile of clothing on the edge of a pool, attracted men who took from the water the bodies of two brothers, fifteen and seventeen years old. Could the dog have "thought out" a connection between the clothing and the disappearance of its young owners?

At Ur, ancient city of the Chaldeans, they show a gigantic brick temple, recently uncovered, where it has lain in the ground covered through the ages. It was constructed originally, like the tower of Babel, to enable the builders to get up into heaven and reach the gods. First they invented those pagan gods, and then they actually believed in them.

The United States navy has ordered 191 "bomber" airplanes; cheerful small news.

It is to be hoped that the government is trying to build bomber planes able to fly any ocean.

If war came, our bombing operations could be carried on in countries across the Atlantic or the Pacific. We should not want to do any bombing in America. After the first experiment, no country would send any ships within easy bombing or submarine range of these shores.

PRACTICAL WEAPON

The great practical weapon in the hands of America against selfishness is the use of the Federal power . . . that seems to be the great thing which stirs up the animals on the other side. The tremendous corporations and their lawyers have made monkeys of these sacred states' rights whenever it was to the advantage of the corporations to do so; and as I have said on previous ccasions the time is come for these United States to face a real test of bigness. Either as a nation we are big enough to handle these vast social and economic problems with all our big power, as vested in the Federal government—or we are going to allow ourselves to be beat-succeed Smith. The man in the brown derby engaged a suite of rooms at a big Albany hotel and assumed that Roosevelt was a weakling and that he, Al Smith, could stay and be the real power in the state.

Roosevelt wiped that out in a hurry. Then Smith pouted and acted childishly over the fact that Roosevelt polled larger majorities in New York state than Smith had ever done. Actually, those who are on the inside, know that Smith's political moves are now dictated by disappointment, childish jealousy and a Wall Street boss. Former Governor Ely was another of the five. He never was a Roosevelt Democrat, but led the Stop Roosevelt movement at the Chicago convention in 1932. Bainbridge Colby-for a few minutes secretary of state under Wilson-is just one more Wall Street corporation lawver. He never should have been a Democrat and I don't think he ever was one at heart. Not the kind of Democrats I know. Judge Cohalan, of the Supreme Court of New York state, was once a Tammany leader and possibly is today for all I know.
