LARGE PERCENTAGE OF FARM HOMES ARE UNDERLIGHTED

Sensational discoveries have been recently made by electrical research engineers about the saving of eyesight through better electric lighting. Their researches have caused rapid changes to be made in electric lighting facilities throughout the country. People are beginning to realize the value of priceless eyesight. The rising tide of eye troubles will no doubt decrease in the next few years.

But what's going to protect the vision of the people living in the 5,000,000 American farm homes without electricity? A large percentage of those homes are underlighted, according to results shown by new "light meters," which register the amount of illumination at any given point. What about that?

Manufacturers of high candlepower kerosene and gasoline pressure mantle lamps are doing for non-electric users what electrical engineers have done for the users of electricity. Some of the new kerosene and gasoline pressure mantle lamps produce from four to twenty times more light than ordinary types. Burning 96 per cent air and 4 per cent fuel, they give "live," crystal-clear brilliance — proved nearest like daylight of any artificial light, by scientific laboratory tests.

Doubts and Fears

Our doubts are traitors and make us lose the good we oft might win by fearing to attempt. —Shakespeare.
