Old Age Pension Data Is Given Out By State Board

Welfare Board Attempting to Acquaint Indigent Citizens With Facts of New Law.

Believing that there are a great many citizens of North Carolina who are unfamiliar with the various phases of state aid to indigent old people and children, the Board of Charities and Public Welfare have undertaken a service to acquaint these people with the facts.

There are thousands of North Carolinians who will be eligible for aid under provisions of the Old Age Assistance Act passed by the 1937 General Assembly, and there are many more who will not be able to meet requirements for various reasons.

The State Board of Charities and Public Welfare, anxious to make clear provisions of the Old Age Assistance plan, which becomes effective on July 1 of this year, has issued a statement tending to clarify the Act.

One of the first requirements is that applicants for aid under the plan shall be citizens of the United States, either native-born or naturalized. Another essential is that applicants shall be 65 years of age or over, and shall not have sufficient income, or other resources, to provide a reasonable subsistence compatible with decency and health.

Many persons reaching the age of 65 have not been able, frequently through no fault of their own, to save sufficient money to care for themselves in the declining years of their lives; others, because of age or disabilities, are unable to earn a comfortable livelihood, while still others are not so situated that they can care for themselves.

Applicants for assistance under the Act are not supposed to be inmates of any public institution at the time the applications are filed. However, they may apply for aid which, if allowed, will not begin until they have ceased to be inmates of public institutions.

In order to prevent possible fraudulent applications for assistance under the Old Age plan, the law specifically prohibits the assignment or transfer of property during the two years period to the filing of applications.

Another requirement which will be rigidly adhered to is that all applicants must have been residents of North Carolina for at least five of the nine years preceding the filing of the applications, and for one year immediately preceding the filing.

There is an additional stipulation, in view of the fact that the 100 counties of the State participating in the financial aspects of the Act, that applicants must have been residents of the county in which the applications are filed for at least one year. This, however, in cases county residence has been of shorter duration, has been cared for by a clause in the law which provides that approved applicants shall receive full benefits, with the difference which would have been absorbed by the county coming from the State appropriation. Instances of this character will be passed upon by the State board.

Amounts to be paid applicants will be determined upon individual conditions, and will not exceed $30 per month, or $360 per year. Of this amount, the counties will pay practically one-fourth, and the State one-fourth.
