Two Die As Result Of Highway Accidents In County This Week

Two Children, 11 Years and 18 Months Old Respectively, Meet Death in Separate Accidents on Highways.

ONE KILLED IN CRASH, ANOTHER WAS AT PLAY

Coroner's Inquest Into Deaths Will Be Completed On Saturday

Two dead and one seriously injured was Duplin's contribution to the State's highway fatality toll during the past few days.

Fred Kennedy, 11-year-old son of Marshall Kennedy of the Cabin section of the County, died early Sunday afternoon of injuries sustained Saturday when the car in which he was riding with his father is alleged to have been struck by one operated by Herbert Branch, prominent negro of the Pink Hill section. The elder Kennedy was also badly injured but it is thought will recover. Occupants of the negro car were reported to have escaped injury.

According to reports of the accident, the Kennedy car was being operated on the hard surfaced highway when it was struck by the Branch car which entered the highway from a side road. The car is said to have

LOCAL BOYS AT Y. T. H. F. MEET

Four Members of Local Chapter Leave for Raleigh; One In Contest

Accompanied by their teacher, T. M. Fields, four members of the local chapter of Young Tar Heels Farmers left Tuesday for Raleigh where they, along with some 300 members from other chapters of the organization throughout the State will hold their annual convention at State College. The convention, which opened yesterday, is scheduled to run through Friday.

In discussing the convention Tuesday, the local instructor stated that according to advance information received by him, a very interesting program had been worked out for the three-day meeting. While it could hardly be considered the most important part of the program, the livestock judging contest which is slated to be held during the convention is creating considerable interest among the delegates, since the winners will get a free trip to Kansas City, Mo., in the Fall where they will compete in the national contest.

Harold Wells, of the local chapter, is slated to represent district number two in the judging contest this week. Wells won the right to represent the district by virtue of his victory over teams representing the other nine counties in this group in the preliminary contest held at the Coastal Plains Station, Willard, early this Spring.

Members of the local chapter who are attending the convention this week include, Harold Wells, Ernest Futreal, Hubert Dixon, and I. B. Teachey.

Club Boys And Girls To Air Impressions

Selected members from the more than 800 girls and boys who are expected to attend the 4-H Short Course at State College July 26-31 will broadcast their impressions of the event over Station WPTF, Raleigh.

There will be no 4-H broadcast on Monday, July 26, the registration day, but on the four days following, club members from all parts of North Carolina will appear on the program at 1:45 P. M.

It is expected that sufficient

Local Water Supply Set Date for Field Day At Test Farm

Mixed Samples Said to Have Caused Confusing Reports to Be Made

Contrary to a general rumor which has been going the rounds for the past several weeks, the local water supply is entirely safe, according to reports received from the State Board of Health following tests of samples sent them some time ago.

Reports of the Town's water supply being contaminated were circulated, it is said, as a result of confusion over two sets of samples sent the health board several weeks ago. On sample, taken from an open well, show unmistakable signs of pollution and the Board of Health charged the source to the Town's supply and immediately started a drive to have purifying equipment installed. New samples from the Town's supply were immediately forwarded for analysis with the result that reports showed these to be free of pollution.

Considerable trouble was experienced with the water supply here last Summer following installation of new pumping equipment when tests showed the water to be polluted and suggested treatment was immediately put into effect in order to make the supply safe and has been followed since that time.

REAL PROGRAM FOR FARM MEET

Farm and Home Week Will Be Educational Vacation for Thousands

Farm and Home Week at State College, August 2-6, will be an educational vacation for thousands of North Carolina farmers and farm women.

Along with the lectures and demonstrations will be plenty of entertainment to provide a good time for all, said John W. Goodman, assistant director of the State College extension service.

On the more serious side of the program, special attention will be given the soil conservation program, dairying and livestock, farm forestry problems, farm tenancy, farm organizations and cooperatives, farm finance, poultry production, and other timely subjects.

The short course for women will cover numerous phases of home making on the farm, and certificates will be awarded to those who will have completed their fourth consecutive short course.

Rural ministers of the State have been invited to meet at the

Test Farm Road Is Under Construction

Work of preparing the short section to highway, which leads from Route 117 to the Coastal Plains Station, for the hard surface treatment which it is shortly to receive is now well under way, according to information received here this week. A State construction crew is busily engaged in grading the road bed, and building culverts and it is thought that placing of the hard surface will begin at an early date.

The new road, which is to be of the sand asphalt type, will fill a long felt need, giving as it does an outlet for one of the States largest agricultural institutions. It is planned to complete the project before the annual Field Day is held on the second Thursday in September.

SAMPSON BOY WINS CONTEST

Raleigh, July 21.—Hartwell Dawson, of the Plain View high school in Sampson County, has been declared Southern District winner of the 10th Annual Cooperative Essay Contest from hundreds of contestants from the 16 counties in the district.

The announcement was made here this week by M. G. Mann, general manager of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association and the Farmers Cooperative Exchange, the two organizations sponsoring the contest. At the same time, Mr. Mann pointed out that by virtue of his victory Dawson will come to Raleigh on July 30 to compete with four other district winners in the final contest for the State championship and first prize of a one-year college scholarship.

Will Mark First Time in State's History that Pupils Will Not Have to Rent or Buy Books.

HIGH SCHOOL BOOKS YET ON RENTAL BASIS

No Provisions for Free H. S. Books; Supplementary Readers Rentable

For the first time in the history of North Carolina, pupils entering the elementary schools of the State this fall will not have to purchase or rent their textbooks.

Under an act passed by the last General Assembly, all textbooks used in grades one to seven inclusive will be furnished by the State free of charge. However, pupils will be held responsible for the books in their charge and will be required to pay for them in the event of loss or serious damage. High school pupils will still continue to rent or purchase their textbooks under the same plan in effect for the past two years.

Another plan which will be put into effect in the schools of the State this year and scheduled to save the different units considerable money, is that which allows pupils to rent supplementary readers from the State. In discussing this new
