countries have proved to be loyal guardians of the great spiritual values and, as the underground press has often put it, the conscience of the nation. In the chaotic situation of Europe today, where so many institutions have been wholly or partly destroyed, the churches represent one of the very few remaining coherent bodies which are ready for the reconstruction task.

Because of its defiance of "pagan philosophies" during the war, the Protestant church group in Italy, though but a small percentage of the population, exercises an influence out of all proportion to its size, according to Dr. Robbins W. Benson, director of World Council Service, now operating in Europe. "The Waldensian and other evangelical pastors," he reports, "were among the heroic leaders of resistance to the pagan philosophies of both Fascism and Nazism, being oppressed by both these forces in turn, and suffering many hardships in addition to the inevitable destructiveness of war. Nevertheless they emerged stronger in their faith and higher in the esteem of their countrymen. The scattered congregations face the future with courage and confidence, relying on the promises of God as they have been tested and proved."

"Civilization is a race between a destructive, explosive force and a sense of 'togetherness,'" says Dr. Henry Smith Lileper, executive of the World Council

Newton's Cross Roads Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Curtis Bland on September 16. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. L. T. Highsmith. The group joined in singing "Onward Christian Soldiers," followed by the club collect. The business session was brief but several matters of importance to the members were cited. Miss Elizabeth Banks, assistant agent, gave a very helpful lesson on "Finishing Touches for the Home." The clothing leader, Mrs. Charlie Sykes, asked that all the club members bring to the October meeting a homemade garment to put on exhibition. The hostess, Mrs. Curtis Bland, and Mrs. Ru-

The world neighborhood needs to be aware of a similar sense of togetherness. . . . Our world community desperately needs to be a spiritual community. Actually there is no world church nor any world community. Yet the only group in the world today that suggests a completely worldwide togetherness is the Christian church."

When frost comes, the first vegetables to be harvested for storage are means, winter squash and pumpkins. These tender vegetables must not remain out of doors in a freezing temperature. Tomatoes, peppers, eggplants should also be gathered, but these vegetables cannot be stored for any length of time. Don't be in a hurry to dig and store your root crops. This applies to beets, carrots, rutabagas and turnips. Leave them in the ground until heavy frost, even after the tops have died down, but of course remove them before the ground freezes.

hard. They keep better after low temperatures have caused the cells to fill up with starch and sugar, while the water content becomes less.

A good inch of stem should be left on carrots, beets, turnips, rutabagas and onions, when harvesting for storage.

Root crops should be stored in a cool, ventilated cellar or storage room; in a garage, if heated, or until freezing weather arrives; in a cellar window-well; in a straw-lined pit in the ground and covered with dirt; in barrels, boxes, or cans sunk into the ground and covered with a foot of soil. Parsnips and salsify (oyster plant) may be left in the ground all winter. In fact, the flavor is improved by freezing. All members of the cabbage family will stand a good deal of frost. Broccoli will keep on bearing until late autumn; so will Brussel sprouts. Cabbage and cauliflower are frost resistant. But cabbage should be stored in a cool place after real freezing weather comes.

Ammonium dynamite, gelatin, and other such explosive should not be used for ditch blasting operations. Only nitro glycerin dynamite is best for ditching jobs, says Howard Ellis of State College.

The Rocky Mount swine sale on September 19 was the first such event to be sponsored by the State Spotted Poland China Breeders Association.
