Swiss Storks Near Extinction

ZURICH, Switzerland — (AP) — The stork is likely to become nonexistent in Switzerland, the "Ornithological Observer" warns. The periodical says there were only eight nests in Switzerland last season, and only five broods resulted, with 20 young. One of the babies was killed when it came in contact with a high-voltage electric line. At Schlattlingen, where a pair of storks raised five young, other storks attacked the family. One of the aggressors was killed in the fight.

The Nile crocodile is said to kill more human beings than any other wild creature in Africa.
