Havelock - Cherry Point

Mrs. Ruth T. Richardson, Editor 12 S. Craven Dr., Havelock

Jennings-Forrester
At 8:00 p.m. on Friday evening, July 23rd, the Protestant Chapel aboard the Cherry Point Marine Corps Air Station was the scene of the wedding of Miss Eva Jennings, daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Jennings of 5 Sealeve Drive, to George G. Forrester, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Forrester of California and Texas. Chaplain Richard D. Cleaves officiated in the single ring service. The chapel was decorated with peach gladioli. The bride wore an Empire gown of white satin with shoulder length veil and cap of calla lilies. Her bouquet was of gardenias and babies breath. Pauline Jennings, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore white crepe with white accessories and carried an old fashioned bouquet. Mrs. Jennings, mother of the bride wore black crepe and a corsage of red roses. The best man was A. A. Mitchell, H.M.I. USN.
Traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. M. E. Richardson. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the Community Building. A beautiful wedding cake was cut and served, accompanied by punch. The couple will reside in New Bern.

Mrs. C. J. McCotter Honors Miss Guber
The home of Mrs. Charles J. McCotter, 7 N. Cherry, was the scene of a shower on Friday evening July 23rd. The guest of honor was Miss Shirley Guber whose wedding to James E. Pearson will take place on Friday evening, July 30th. Delightful decorations of cut flowers were used. Miss Guber was presented with a corsage of pink carnations while the guests had miniature nosegays. Mrs. McCotter presented Miss Guber with a piece of her chosen silver. Bridge and rummy were played throughout the evening. Mrs. S. M. Clifton received high score at bridge and Miss Joan Guber high score at rummy. Delicious refreshments of ice cream, cake and lime punch were served. Guests included Mrs. H. M. Guber, mother of the guest of honor, Mrs. R. S. Bull, Mrs. G. B. Foy, Mrs. M. Clifton, Mrs. Harry Shadle, Mrs. Joe Elkins, Mrs. M. N. Tedhall, Mrs. L. F. Wayne, Mrs. Jack Bowen of Westchester, W. Va., Misses Joan Guber, Greta Bull, Cindy Killingsworth and Catherine Mullins.

Claim-Filing Deadline On Overseas Deaths Is Monday, Aug. 9

Monday is the last day for filing claims for lump-sum death benefits under the Social Security act on account of death outside the United States of a qualified individual after Dec. 6, 1941, and before Aug. 10, 1946.
According to N. A. Avera, manager of the Wilmington office of the Social Security administration, any such claims filed after that date cannot be paid. Mr. Avera pointed out that Congress amended the Social Security act in August 1946 to give special consideration to those cases where servicemen or civilians died outside the United States during and immediately following World War II by extending the legal limit of two years as provided by law.
However, the extension was for two years from the date of the amendment and it expires Monday, Aug. 9, 1948. The survivors of civilians and servicemen, who died overseas and who had earned wages in employment covered by the Social Security act, are urged by Mr. Avera to inquire as to possible benefits before the deadline. The office located at the Custom house, Wilmington, will render all possible assistance.
A social security representative is available for consultation at the postoffice in Beaufort the first and third Wednesday of each month.

JUDGE

He explained, that "a man has a moral right to propose to a girl but it is not his civil right to be accepted. And when your neighbor's house is burning, he has a moral right to expect you to help him, but you have a civil right to sit on your porch and watch."
After quoting the recent stand against discrimination he stated, "It is the most nefarious piece of legislation ever proposed because it takes away the power of a man to conduct his business as he likes; it prevents employers from choosing who to hire."
Judge Hamilton explained that if the proportion of Negro to white in a community were one to three, employers would have to have one third of the help, Negro. He noted that the same applies to any other race or religion represented in the population.
"It makes us quiver to think what might be done.—It's not good Americanism to control a man's business this way."
He continued, "Liberty is not a privilege to do what one pleases, it lets a man do what he ought."
He closed by saying, "Americanism is the willingness to practice, as well as preach the things contained in the Declaration of Independence."
Guests at the meeting were George W. Dill, W. C. Matthews, both of Morehead City, Lawrence A. Straud, of Greenville, and Dan L. Walker, of Burlington.

NEGRO NEWS

Mrs. Ethel Pearson left for Durham last Friday, where she was called by the illness of her husband.
Miss Rose Henry spent a week end in Durham recently.
David Pearson, who has been staying with his brother, Fred, while receiving medical treatment in Durham, has gone into the hospital.
A group of people from Bayboro were here last Sunday and held meeting in Queen St. Baptist church.
The Rev. Lovatt will be here August 15 to hold quarterly meeting in Queen St. Baptist church.
Rev. Austin left Monday for a conference.
Mr. and Mrs. Saul William Jones, of Morehead City, announce the birth of a son, Saul William, Jr., in the Morehead City hospital on August 3.
Representative Herbert Bonner had paid tribute to the Governor who brought the first paved road to Hatteras Island—he called it the Cherry Highway, and expressed a hope that the pavement would be extended northward to Oregon Inlet in a short time, to become the Cherry-Scott Highway. The mention of Scott's name in a county which gave him a strong vote brought loud applause.

Carteret county was officially represented at the celebration by Lockwood Phillips, Beaufort, and Robert Lowe, Morehead City. With Mr. Phillips was his son, Walter.
They were flown to Hatteras by Herman Reid and Baxter Slaughter, pilots of Ocean View Airways, Beaufort.
Among the new homes on Front Street extended is that of Louis Styron, located between the Jack Gardner and G. W. Mason properties. A new home being built by Mr. Mason will put the selling price of that property up to $15,000, Mr. Mason said today.

Fisheries Building Nears Completion

Dr. Merriman suggested guarding against an "overly ambitious start" and warned that research in this field is expensive and slow to produce results. Therefore efforts should be made to educate the public to these facts, he remarked.
The scientists agreed that the establishment was necessary, economically sound and the location ideal.
It has long been known that local waters are the terminus of northern migration for semi-tropical fish and that Hatteras is the southern terminus for migration of sub-arctic species. In other words, the central Carolina coast is the meeting place of two "fish worlds."
To obtain persons with the knowledge to carry on fishery research the commercial fisheries officials went to the University of North Carolina with the suggestion that the university establish a department dealing with the study of marine life. UNC accepted the responsibility and today is the guiding hand in the Institute of Fisheries Research.
With the cooperation of State college, Morehead City Technical institute came into being. This is the unit which fisheries officials realized was necessary to train young fishermen in the engineering phases of the fishing industry. Diesel engines, boat building, metal and woodworking, radio, and mechanical drawing.
From the Knapp foundation $100,000 was obtained to carry out the plans for the new commercial fishery center. This was matched by the State of North Carolina, partly through appropriation of $50,000 for a shrimp survey, $100,000 for an oyster survey, and by special appropriation.
The possibilities of the entire establishment are endless. This is only the beginning, a beginning that is on firm foundation. A hub for far-reaching studies in marine life has been established.
Under the guidance of Mr. Hampton and with cooperation of the state and especially the men themselves who go down to the sea in ships, North Carolina has the facilities for rising to preeminence in the commercial fishery world.

Truman Miller had the job of transporting Governor Cherry back to Morehead and of flying Johnny Hemmer and his pictures on in to Raleigh, N. C. After over-cumming more than the average number of difficulties in getting the gubernatorial party to Hatteras (they finally arrived over two hours later) the problem was compounded by getting Mr. Cherry and Mr. Hemmer to their plane which was, as ours, on that same desolate landing strip. They, as we, finally resorted to jeepling, the governor's jeep being piloted by Mr. Sermons, of Elizabeth City. All hands were properly tossed around and genuinely jolted by a wild ride through the sands and grass, but otherwise accomplished the trip on schedule.
The whole celebration was properly recorded for posterity by a multitude of photographers, those we observed including Aycock Brown, Johnny Hemmer of the State News Bureau, Stevens of the News and Observer, Lindsay of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot, and countless amateurs. The news reels were represented by movie men from Fox Movietone and MGM. Radio broadcasts of the proceedings were transmitted by stations WGAI and WCNC.
Admiral Ainsworth who had a major part in the speech-making is an old friend of Morehead City. The Admiral, as most will recall, has been of help in many local festivities in the past. Admiral Ainsworth plans to visit Morehead City on a cruise south during November. The Admiral will be aboard his own sloop and plans a few days in Morehead to go fishing.
The initiative and resourcefulness of the Outer Bankers is never overcome by conditions. Tuesday evening before the celebration Stanley Wahab was faced with the necessity of getting his jeep from his camp on Ocracoke to Buxton to help carry visitors. One of Mr. Wahab's yachts was at Manteo and the other was laid up for repairs. Not to be outdone by such trivial details, Mr. Wahab loaded his jeep on a 24 foot skiff, made a jury rig of a clothes pole and several dog blankets and sailed skiff, jeep and all, to Hatteras, through some of the most treacherous currents on the eastern seaboard with a south-westerly wind of gale velocity. The whole job required only two hours.
Odds 'n ends—The Hon. Lindsay Warren not able to make the trip due to weather conditions—Commander Whitbeck, Commandant 5th Coast Guard District, his usual natty and efficient self—American Legion Commander Gallo-way's statement that every eligible citizen of the Banks is an active Legionnaire—Commander Edwin Fahy all over the place extending the official welcome in his capacity as commanding officer of Buxton Station—Captain Dick Burke, extending the official thanks for Admiral Farley, Coast Guard Commandant. Captain Burke is the chief air officer of the Coast Guard and is responsible for the efficient development of the Coast Guards Air-Sea rescue work as well as their Flying Ice-Berg Control operations in the North Atlantic—The Elizabethan ballads as rendered by Hatteras-

John Parkin appeared before the commissioners to ask permission to construct a sea food street on the south side of Front street. According to a town ordinance, specifications of size and materials must be submitted before permission can be granted. The commissioners did, however, accept his application and permission to build will be granted pending submission of the specifications.
Final approval was made of the town budget, but commissioners stated that it would be amended when the need arose in case of unforeseen expenses or lowered income.
Town employees made a request for raises totaling $1,800, for which the budget does not provide. The finance committee was instructed to take the raises under advisement, in order to determine whether economies in operation might be effected so that the town would have the money to grant the salary increase.
The finance committee is comprised of Mayor L. W. Hassell, Clerk William Hatzell, Commissioners D. F. Merrill and J. O. Barbour, Jr.

HATTERAS

In order to meet Herman for the return trip to Morehead City Wednesday afternoon a jeep was pressed into service. Neither the operator of the jeep nor ourselves were familiar with the paths that serve as roads on the southern end of Hatteras, so with a full crew and all the power the jeep could supply we blazed a new trail through the sands of Hatteras to meet our plane.

"A MEMORIAM"
How lonely have been the days, since
A year ago you left us Mother dear,
How precious have been the memories
Of the love you gave to each of us.
Everywhere around the house, Mother,
We see things made beautiful by the touch and care of your hands;
A touch of love and care that we all knew.
Even the flowers, Mother, seem to miss you,
And while they blossom and flower, as ever,
Still there is something missing that was there
When they knew the touch of your hand.
And so it is, Mother, that you are not here
You are still with us; we feel the beauty
And benediction of your love and presence
In our hearts and lives today, until
One day, one glad day, we shall join you, and
Once again we shall be together
Forever and a day, where there shall be
No parting, no tears, no heart-aches,
And where we shall sit at the Master's Feet
And worship Him, thru Whose Love,
We may inherit the "Many Mansions,"
Prepared for all those who love Him.
Capt. Dan Ward & Family.

Morehead Jaycees Hear Report on Paper Drive
After hearing the report on the recent waste paper drive they sponsored in Morehead City, the Jaycees decided at their meeting Tuesday night to continue with the drives every 90 days. The dinner meeting was held at the Carteret County Recreation center.
Eight thousand pounds of paper and 200 pounds of rags were collected in the drive Sunday, June 25.
During the business session the Boy Scout jamboree which may be held here next year was discussed, as well as the Jaycee softball schedule.
