Miss Emily A. Taylor Becomes Bride of Thomas S. Gardner

Miss Emily Adams Taylor, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth F. Taylor, of North Harlowe, became the bride of Thomas Scott Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Gardner, of Macon, in a lovely afternoon ceremony in the Harlowe Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon at four o'clock. The Reverend J. M. Jolliff performed the double ring ceremony.

Vows were spoken before an altar draped in white and festooned with smilax. Three seven-branch candelabra and baskets of white chrysanthemums were used in the church. Pew markers were made of white satin ribbons entwined with white flowers.

Prior to the ceremony Mrs. Charles Hassell rendered a program of musical music and Miss Esther B. Fodrie, soloist, sang, "Through the Years" and "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Philip L. Taylor, wore a street-length dress of white botany wool fashioned with long fitted sleeves and a tiered, draped skirt. She wore a palmato satin off-the-face hat with matching accessories and carried a book which was centered with a purple orchid and a cascade of satin streamers with tube roses and fern.

Mrs. William R. Andrews, of Washington, D. C., was the bride's only attendant. She wore a blue crepe dress with blue and gold accessories and a shoulder corsage of red roses.

The bridegroom chose Pete Burroughs, of Warrenton, as his best man. Ushers were Bill Bugg and Bill Kidd, of Warrenton.

Mrs. Pearl Olund, sister of the bride, wore a gray shirtdress with black accessories and a white gardenia shoulder corsage.

Mrs. Gardner, the bridegroom's mother, wore gray crepe with gray accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

The bride is a graduate of the Beaufort High school and Louisburg College. For the past two years she has been employed as secretary to Dr. Hillman in the State Department of Education.

Mr. Gardner is a graduate of the Warrenton High School and attended the University of North Carolina and Louisburg College. He served with the United States Army during World War II, and is now associated with his father in the furniture business in Warrenton.

Immediately following the ceremony Mrs. Taylor entertained with a reception in honor of the couple at her home. White candles in crystal candelabra with white and bronze chrysanthemums and smilax were used to decorate the home.

The receiving line was composed of the bride and groom, the bride's attendant, Miss Pearl Taylor, Mrs. Pearl Olund, and Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Gardner. Guests were directed from the receiving line into the dining room by Mrs. Reginald Adams. The dining table was covered with a lovely white lace cloth with white candles in crystal candle holders, the three-tiered wedding cake and the punch bowl. After the first slice of cake had been cut by the bride couple, Miss Hilda Dement, of Raleigh, served the cake to the guests. Mrs. K. W. Taylor presided at the punch bowl and assisted in serving block cake with mints and mixed nuts.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip to the western part of the state. For traveling the bride changed to beige suit with brown accessories and wore the orchid lifted from her prayer book.

On Saturday evening following the wedding rehearsal a party was given for members of the wedding party at the home of Mrs. Olund. Open face sandwiches, with pickles, nuts and cakes were served. Beautiful fall flowers were arranged throughout the home.

Out of town guests here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. William R. Andrews, of Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Taylor, of Wilmington, Misses Ruby Harris, Ann Parker and Gladys Hilton, of Warrenton, Bill Kidd and Bill Bugg, of Warrenton, Pete Burroughs, of Warrenton, Misses Hilda Dement, and Carrie Kay, of Raleigh.

After their wedding trip the couple will make their home in Warrenton.
