WATERFRONT (Continued From Page One)

times called "Millionaire's Row," because many of the home owners there are worth seven figures, begins this week. Racing greyhounds created the fund which will be used to make the needed street improvements. After the racing season was over during the early autumn, the Morehead City Racing Commission's share was something like $27,000 or a 10 percent cut of the proceeds from this enterprise which introduced legalized pari-mutuel betting in North Carolina.

Of the $27,000 at least $25,000 will be used on the improvement of Morehead City's Evans Street. Even if they do not change the name, they should start calling it Greyhound Boulevard, in honor of the fast running dogs which were responsible for this addition to the town's treasury. Somebody wise-cracked that next year's cut in the racetrack take should be used for repaving Arendell street, and that its name should be changed then to "Daily-Double Drive."

Archie Royal Davis, Morehead City-born architect with offices in Durham, gave me the dope on the recreation pier proposed for Moneys Island Beach. It will be more than just an ordinary fishing pier, according to Davis, and the owners, Sportsman's Pier Inc., a corporation headed by E. L. Scott of Kinston, plans to spend between $75,000 and $100,000 on its construction.

Already the War Department has given approval for the pier's construction. It will be 1,300 feet long with a 100 x 75 foot "T" at the offshore end. About midway of the pier or 500 feet offshore provisions will be made for a restaurant. A breakwater, made from pilings, will be a feature of the offshore end of the pier to provide facilities of fishing boats. Davis says this will be the longest and most modern recreation pier on the North Carolina coast and that it will be ready for business by summertime, 1949.

F. M. "Coach" Simmons, formerly of Morehead City who has been residing in Charlotte for the past several years was here on a visit last week. Recently he flew over to England to attend the Olympic games. His son was a member of one of the teams.

On his return to American aboard plane he struck up a speaking acquaintance with one of the passengers who was an Australian returning home from a vacation in the Alps of Switzerland. He asked Simmons where he was from in the United States.

"You probably have never heard of the state I come from. It is North Carolina, and I am from Charlotte," Simmons replied. "Oh, yes!" said his plane companion, "I have heard of North Carolina and as a matter of fact I was assigned to duty there early in the war aboard a British ship." He was referring to one of the North Sea armed trawlers which based at Morehead City during 1942.

"One of the things I remember about Morehead City is that famous seafood restaurant, where we always had a meal after coming in from patrol off Cape Lookout and Cape Hatteras," he added.

board can lease public property for a period of 25 years. Under the lease presented by Mr. Taylor, the school would have the use of the ball diamond at all times and the Athletic Association's activities would in no way interfere with the school program. A delegation of men from Davis appeared before the board and requested permission to purchase the school house at Davis for a community center.

The board told the delegation that the price would be approximately $500. To obtain the building as a community center, an organization consisting of a president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer should be set up at Davis, Dr. Moore stated. The Davis citizens, representing the Women of the World, the American Legion, and two churches, reminded the board that a new roof, costing approximately $1,000 would have to be put on the building.

The board asked that the delegation, including Grady Davis, Joe Davis, and Lionel Gilgo, return to the January meeting at which time they will make a decision as to the disposal of the Davis school house. H. L. Joslyn, superintendent of schools, made a report on the School Board association convention which he recently attended and also a report on the request for school funds from the state for the next biennium.

halls. Most students feel they must keep their room neat so it will get a good grade but they say, "Oh, what do I care about the halls? They aren't graded anyway. It's no skin off my nose if I throw a piece of paper down."

Actually I know no one really says those things but in their subconscious mind that's exactly what they are thinking. Excuse me, folks, for preaching a sermon but I hope you will realize what I'm trying to put across to you. Since you are in the school building practically all day why not make it a clean, pleasant place to stay, huh?

Last Thursday afternoon we were shown three pictures in chapel: "Natty Pine Cabin," a comedy about beavers; "Beautiful Dreamer," a story of Stephen Foster; and "Game of Games," the 1948 Army and Navy football game. These pictures were really nice, much better than any we had last year.

Before the movies began, Mrs. Lollis, the high school librarian, talked to the students about the care of the library. It seems they aren't taking care of the books as they should and they are keeping books out weeks over time. She said that beginning Monday there would be a fine for overdue books, 2 cents a day.

On Friday night the nurses are sponsoring a show at the school auditorium. It is an all-male show, "Hollywood Capers," and in it we have such famous people as Betty Grable, Rita Hayworth, Carmen Miranda, etc. I believe it's going to be a very funny but enjoyable show. The admission is 35 cents and 50 cents and everyone is invited.

An "off-the-press" report on Morehead's game with Camp Lejeune was printed last week and I'm afraid it was exaggerated quite a good bit. Morehead did not mean to imply that Beaufort's basketball team is not good enough to beat Camp Lejeune. In fact Beaufort has a 50-50 chance to beat them, just as Morehead had, even though they do have a good and a strong team. This report, that was published, was said in a kidding way and was never meant to be published. We are all very sorry that this happened and we really wish Beaufort's team the very best of luck tonight when they meet Camp Lejeune. I say this in behalf of our principal, coach, faculty and student body.

Bye.

MAILING (Continued From Page One) mas shopping that everyone can complete early and thus avoid the last-minute crowds at post office windows.

Mr. Webb pointed out that parcel post packages cannot be accepted unless stoutly wrapped, and advised shoppers to lay in supplies of heavy cardboard, sturdy outer paper, heavy cord and printed fourth-class labels. Packages are limited to 70 pounds in weight, and must not measure more than 100 inches in length and girth combined. The address should be repeated inside the outer wrappings. The postmaster also suggested checking and revising Christmas card address lists next week. When the Christmas cards are purchased they should be addressed and stamped at once and stacked in a convenient place for mailing at the proper time, thus preventing last-minute oversights, he advised.

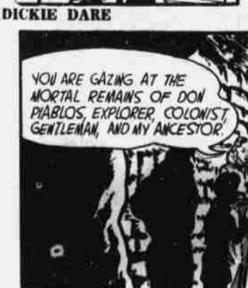

Christmas Books Ready Mrs. L. A. Oskley, Beaufort, librarian, announced today that the Christmas books, for both adults and children, are ready for circulation.

CROP (Continued From Page One) all cases is given on the basis of need alone. The materials collected through the North Carolina Friendship Train program will be overseas ready for distribution in the neediest period of all for a hungry nation—the late months of winter. McLain pointed out. Where food supplies are low, the greatest need comes toward spring when rations have been used up and new crops are not yet supplying the needs of the people.

Response to the appeal for foods and the goal of a carload per county have been good throughout the State, the CROP director reported. "Judging from the enthusiastic interest," McLain said, "North Carolina should have a long and heavy Friendship Train."

Miss Ruth Peeling will be in charge of CROP contributions in Morehead City, Mr. May announced yesterday.

Motor Vehicles Division Reports On Fatalities

The number of fatal accidents and persons killed in Carteret county during the nine month period, January to October, has remained approximately the same for the past three years. These figures were exactly the same in 1946 but jumped to six deaths and six fatal accidents during the year 1947.

Throughout the state the number of accidents that occurred from January to September 1948 in urban areas was 4,453 as compared to 6,870 in rural communities, making a total of 11,323.
