After being completely confused following the ship's plan description and the one given me by the PIO corporal, I figured it was time for me to do a bit of research of my own—in the Olympia's library. And I got other version—reported by the Army.

It is, according to the encyclopedia, named Vieques or Crab Island, a West Indian dependency of the United States and administratively a district of the department of Humacao—whatever that means. Described as a fertile island with several large ports, Vieques is 21 miles long and 6 miles wide. All kinds of fruits and vegetables can be produced there.

Vieques and Culebra, an island to the northward, had a population in 1940 of 10,363 persons. According to the latest census by the War Department, however, these were listed only 2,545 native whites, 1,036 Negroes, 138 foreign whites and 2,923 half-breds. The War Department's report indicated that 688 were married, 4,539 were single and 1,185 were living together as husband and wife—in adultery so to speak. There were 230 widowed persons on the island and only 162 persons over 10 years of age attend school. Only 22 residents had superior education. The WD's census-takers found a total of 3,288 persons who could neither read nor write.

What do the Viequians do for a living? I wondered not, and the War Department's recent census answered the question. There are 1,396 persons engaged in agriculture and fisheries, 225 in trade and transportation, 235 engaged in manufacturing and mechanical endeavors, 39 professional and 727 doing domestic and personal services. There are 4,092 persons according to the War Department that have no gainful occupation.

Coming through Mona Passage on Monday we caught a glimpse of Mona Island and the lighthouse. The island, seven miles long and two miles wide, is 60 feet above sea level. In addition to the lighthouse crew the only inhabitants are thousands of green turtles and great flocks of sea birds.

appropriate movie but would appreciate any effort the Everett Enterprises would make in trying to produce productions more suited to children, as Saturday is the day when most children attend movies.

The Beaufort P. T. A. has always found local theatres most cooperative and feels certain you will make every effort to present, whenever possible, pictures of the highest type.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Ralph Eudy, Pres.
Shirley Johnson, Sec'y.

LETTER TO THE PTAS

Dear Madam President:

At its last meeting the Beaufort P. T. A. passed the following resolution: "The Beaufort P. T. A. wishes to go on record as objecting to the type of murder pictures shown at local theatres on Saturdays."

As a follow-up to this resolution the P. T. A. wrote to Mrs. Worth Stewart of Everett Enterprises asking his cooperation in doing everything possible to book pictures on Saturdays suitable for boys and girls. The Beaufort P. T. A.'s in Carteret county and request that these organizations consider the matter, and if they agree with the above resolution, do everything possible to bring about the desired change.

The resolution made by the Beaufort P. T. A. is not altogether of a local nature, but has been stressed by State and National organizations.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Ralph Eudy, President
Miss Shirley Johnson, Sec'y

PTAs throughout the county were contacted because many of the youngsters in outlying communities attend the shows in Beaufort and Morehead City on Saturdays. Only two other theatres in the county, at Atlantic and Newport, are not owned by Everett Enterprises.

Planning Board

High Point is working on a plan whereby the fire company will help property owners lay a pipe line at their own expense and then enter into a contractual agreement with city officials.

In Durham, to protect large industrial plants just outside the city, the city supplied a number of fire plugs in the outside area with plug rental of $100 annually to interests protected.

The suggestion on which the Beaufort board is proceeding, with hope for a solution of the out-of-town fire fighting problem, came from Mr. Cochrane who said, "Here and there . . . arrangements have been worked out, whereby the charge for fire apparatus is treated as a fire loss and included in the coverage of the fire insurance policy. The cost of protection is spread to all insured . . . each property owner pays his share on convenient terms; and the city which sent the truck is sure of its money."

The board passed a motion requesting the town commissioners to furnish them with specific boundaries of the town.

Those who attended the meeting were Mr. Stephens, Mr. Merrill, Dr. Ennett, Dr. Woodard, and Mrs. Helen Hassell, secretary.

Body of Beaufort Soldier Moved

PARIS, France—Recruit Frederick A. Hughes, of Beaufort has been recently transferred from Neuville-en-Condruz U. S. Military cemetery, under the jurisdiction of the First Zone, American Graves Registration command, Liege, Belgium, to the Second Zone, AGRC, with headquarters at Granville, France, it was announced here today.

The Second Zone, American Graves Registration Command, is responsible in Western France for the United States Army's searching and cemeterial operations, and its present program to return to the homeland those U. S. dead of World War II whose next-of-kin so request. The Second Zone area, which includes the historic 1941 invasion beachheads, covers the region of Normandy, Maine, the Ile de France, and southern France. In this area were established 15 temporary U. S. World War II Military Cemeteries in which 37,346 American dead have been returned. From this Zone were returned the first American dead of World War II to leave France—1,052 who departed Cherbourg on November 4, 1947.

While carrying out the Army's program to return World War II dead, the Second Zone is assisting in the Command's initial mission of searching the former European Theater area for the remains of United States World War II dead buried in isolated graves—4,913 of which were still undiscovered as of October 1, 1948. During 1947, the Command's personnel traveled nearly 11,000,000 miles through 17 European countries in the accomplishment of searching and return operations and the maintenance of the temporary U. S. Military Cemeteries of World War II.

Recruit Hughes is the brother of Mrs. Grace Lewis, who also lives in Beaufort.

Swedes Follow Neutrality Path

STOCKHOLM — (AP) — Here where everything is costly—and neutrality is no exception—the Swedes seem to be buying largely of that commodity.

Noway may have made up her mind to join a western alliance. Denmark may have done the same thing.

But not the Swedes. There isn't a sign here which might indicate they'll go into any western, or for that matter, eastern military alliance.

Its straight down the road for Sweden as usual. But, all this is costly.

Prices are high and there are lots of things from the west that one used to see around this beautiful, charming city of the north, which just aren't here anymore.

"Dollars." You hear that word in a lot of places and usually accompanied by "Oh, how I wish I had some." But then they shake their heads and say, "Well, there doesn't seem much chance of that."

The Swedes are not exciting themselves with war talk. Many of them with whom you talk believe that should a third one come, they will probably be able, as in the case of the other two, to keep clear of shooting.

There may not be many Americans in Sweden, but there certainly is a high population of American cars. The people here seem better dressed than many places in Europe. This goes for the working class, too, and while the housing situation still appears to be bad, it is getting better.

With her pre-war German market gone, Sweden is still looking about for buyers and markets, and apparently finding both although perhaps not in the quantities she would like.
