After arriving at the Fort we were naturally anxious to scout around and take a look at our new home. Believe me, we weren't disappointed either. There are several movies, a large NCC club, to which all the Guardsmen are invited, a swimming pool and a golf course right in our back yard. It's just like a small community. One former employee, Mrs. Sally Smith, and two present employees, Miss Hazel Congleton and Mrs. Amanda Toler, appear-ed at the hearings and testified concerning plant operations and employment conditions.

Following the testimony the CIO representatives identified workers they wanted to join their union if they became victorious in the election. Almost all pro-duction and maintenance workers in the cutting, sewing, pressing, boxing, and shipping departments were included in their request.

Those excluded were office workers, supervisory employees, executives, six-week probationary employees, night watchman, boil-er room attendant and the Negro maid. The maid was excluded since the CIO representatives said she would not be permitted
