Legion Commander Pleased With County Fair

"We are very well pleased with the fair. Attendance is good. We expect it to increase the latter part of the week and we have been receiving splendid cooperation from everyone."

That is the report from Marcus Mason, Beaufort commander of Carteret Post 99, American Legion, sponsor of the Carteret County Fair, now underway at the Legion fairgrounds north of the Lennoxville road.

R. M. Williams, county farm agent, commented yesterday that he was well pleased with the number of exhibits entered by the farmers, "but there are not as many as there should be," he added.

"I think if we have the fair next year, the entries will be in greater number and better. I certainly hope so because an agricultural fair is needed and is worthwhile," the agent remarked.

Three exhibits have been placed at the fair through the efforts of Mr. Williams and Al Stinson, assistant county agent. These exhibits are on the farm bureau, livestock, and 4-H clubs.

The Farm Bureau exhibit shows the increase in membership in the state since 1940 and the increase in membership in the county during the past three years. It emphasizes the importance of joining the Farm Bureau.

Carteret county's 1949-50 membership drive is underway now and proceeding satisfactorily, Mr. Williams commented.

The livestock exhibit illustrates a balanced system of farming and the necessity for good pastures, fine breed of livestock, and good buildings.

Placards in the 4-H exhibit show the need for conservation of natural resources. A map of Carteret county shows the location of Junior and senior 4-H clubs in the county and pictures, illustrating activities of club members, are on display.

Another Contribution Arrives for Gaskins

Another contribution for the Gaskins family arrived at the Beaufort NEWS-TIMES office this week. Mrs. Cecil Morris, Atlantic, mailed a large package of linens.

The Gaskins family lost all their possessions in a fire several weeks ago that destroyed their home at Wildwood. Since that time they have lived with Mr. Gaskins' mother at 105 N. 11th street, Morehead City.

Through the kindness of many NEWS-TIMES readers they have received clothing, money, a refrigerator, space heater, a rebuilt washing machine, blankets and other items.

Any other contributions for the family of eight will be welcome. If they are left at either the Beaufort or Morehead City office of THE NEWS-TIMES, they will be delivered to the Gaskins.

Beaufort Jaycees Proceed With Minstrel Plans

Beaufort Jaycees have ordered that a minstrel script and music, costing $25, be purchased from the John B. Rogers Co., Fostoria, Ohio. This action was taken at their meeting Monday night at the Inlet Inn.

The group authorized the secretary and treasurer to cooperate on checking men who have been absent for the past three meetings and those who owe dues. Members who do not meet attendance and dues requirements will be dropped from the roll.

Albert Chappell and Osborne Davis were appointed to publish the next two issues of the Tide Table, with Kenneth Johnson as editorial writer.

The following two issues will be published by Mr. Paul and Mr. Simpson with Lawrence Rudder as editorial writer.

Leslie Davis's name was drawn to receive the money in the Kitty, but because he was absent, the money will go into a pool which will be given away at the next meeting Oct. 24 - if the lucky Jaycee is present.

The Oct. 24 meeting will be a dinner meeting.

B. J. May, chairman of the community service committee, was in charge of this week's meeting at which a report was given on community projects which would be feasible for the club to sponsor.

Mr. May strongly recommended that the organization continue with the Boy Scout program and the summer recreation program.

Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, president, said the board of directors would consider the recommendation at a meeting Tuesday, Oct. 25. He also appointed the following as members of the aims and objects committee, with the president as chairman: Mr. Stewart, Mr. May and E. W. Downum.

The state hospital of which Miss Vick will become administrator is under the direction of Dr. Ellen Winston, state superintendent of public welfare.

Nice Surprise Gives Shock

Mrs. Lillian Hendrix, widow of Dr. H. M. Hendrix, a former Beaufort dentist, received a pleasant, although somewhat shocking surprise last week.

A former patient of her husband's sought her out to pay a $3.50 debt of 20 years' standing. The gentleman, who would not reveal his name, was from Wilkesboro, N. C.

He told Mrs. Hendrix, who works at Merrill's store, that he came to Beaufort to find Dr. Hendrix and pay the bill. Upon learning that the doctor had died quite a few years ago, he said he inquired about his widow. Had he been unable to locate Mrs. Hendrix, he was going to give the money to the Red Cross, he remarked.

Mrs. Hendrix said it gave her a peculiar feeling to see her husband's handwriting on the bill the man showed her. The Wilkesboro gentleman was described as being approximately 50 years of age and well-dressed.

As Mrs. David Merrill, owner and manager of the store, commented, "We hear about so many bad things these days, it's wonderful to hear about something good."

Deer, Bear Season Opens Tomorrow

The deer hunting season in North Carolina will open as scheduled tomorrow despite the trouble which has killed many of the animals within the past few weeks, Wildlife Commission officials said this week.

In making the announcement, the commission's executive director, Clyde P. Patton, said that it still has not been determined what is producing the wholesale deaths among deer. The condition is prevalent in several states along the Atlantic Seaboard.

Despite some alarm among deer hunters, Patton said that "no definite evidence has yet been produced to cause alarm, and there is no immediate possibility of closing the deer season."

Examinations have been made of several dead deer brought to Raleigh, but no organism has been found that might be dangerous to humans, he said. As a safety measure, hunters were advised, however, to take precautions when dressing deer so as to avoid getting blood into cuts or abrasions on the skin. The usual precautions of "cook well before eating" should be followed, Patton added.

Open season on bear begins tomorrow and continues through Jan. 2 as does the season on deer. Season on raccoon, opossum (with guns and dogs), squirrels and pheasants opened Oct. 1. Season on rabbits, quail, wild turkey and ruffed grouse will not begin until Nov. 24.

A brief check yesterday throughout the county showed that approximately 500 hunting licenses have been sold here, this includes both resident and state licenses. Licenses can be purchased at almost any store which carries hunting supplies or equipment.

Opening of the deer and bear season also means that forest fire wardens go on the alert.

"The several thousand hunters who will take to the field tomorrow on the opening day of the 1949 hunting season will create a tremendous hazard to the forests of North Carolina unless each one exercises extreme care to prevent forest fires."

Rep. J. V. Whitfield of Pender county, general chairman of the North Carolina Forestry Association's "Keep North Carolina Green" committee, commented yesterday.

"Because sportsmen realize the disastrous effect forest fires have on wildlife the majority are extremely cautious, however the minority were, according to records of the N. C. Forest service, responsible for 157 fires in North Carolina last year which burned 10,000 acres and caused damages amounting to thousands of dollars."

"This was a heedless waste of North Carolina's forest resources, and a recurrence can be avoided this year if each hunter will pledge to help 'Keep North Carolina Green'," Whitfield said.

CIO to Set Up Polls Monday Morning Near Plant

The summer-long fight between management at the Morehead City Garment company and the CIO will reach a climax Monday morning when workers will cast ballots at polls set up at the Matthis Radio Service company, 1401 Bridges st., Morehead City. Voting time will be from 6 a.m. to 8 a.m.

But CIO leaders, who are confident they will win the election, claim that organizing the plant is only the beginning. Their big problem, they relate, will be to get a contract. To administer union activities, if they should win Monday, a CIO man will be kept here for at least six months.

Attempts to gain favorable attitudes toward the CIO began early in the summer. The National Labor Relations board was called in the latter part of August and hearings were conducted Aug. 26 and 29 at the municipal building, Morehead City.

A second hearing was scheduled because representatives of the plant's management did not make an appearance at the first. Miles J. McCormick was the hearing officer for the NLRB.

The NLRB's decision, made public Sept. 30, ordered that an election should be held so that garment company employees could determine whether they wanted the CIO to represent them as a bargaining agent.

It was announced Tuesday of this week that the election would take place Monday. Voting will be by secret ballot and for two hours only, between 6 a.m. and 8 a.m.

Advertisements setting forth the case of both management and the union appear in today's NEWS-TIMES.

Manhaden Project To Go on Display At State Fair

Beaufort graded school will be represented at the State Fair which opens in Raleigh this weekend. T. G. Leary, principal of the school, announced Tuesday evening at the PTA meeting.

The project of the 7th and 8th grades of last year, manhaden fishing and processing, is being moved to the state capital today to be on exhibit during the following week in the education building.

Mr. Leary announced that the Beaufort school is considered the most outstanding school in the state on resource use, and that he has received inquiries from other states as well as from the NEA in Washington, D. C., on the subject.

He announced that the State Board of Education was so anxious that the Beaufort school project of last year, the most ambitious project undertaken by any of the grades, be shown at the fair they had promised to donate $100 to help defray the expense of moving it.

The Rev. T. R. Jenkins gave the devotional as the opening of the meeting. Mrs. John Brooks led in group singing with Mrs. T. R. Jenkins at the piano.

Following the reading and acceptance of the minutes of the previous meeting Mrs. R. S. Eudy, president, called on the chairman of the standing committees for their reports.

Mrs. Wiley Lewis, chairman of Ways and Means, announced that a Carolina Hayride Caravan will be staged in the school auditorium Friday evening, Nov. 4, to raise money for the high school library. Tickets for the affair will cost 35 and 50 cents.

Jimmy Wallace, who with Ray Cummins, will produce the Caravan, announced that the show will run about one and a half hours, and that the Melody Boys will appear, as will the Fisherman's quartet from Harkers Island.

James Wheatley, publicity chairman, announced that there will be a district meeting in Washington, N. C., Wednesday, Oct. 19, and asked that all people interested in attending contact Mrs. Eudy.

Attendance prizes for Tuesday night were won by Mrs. Fulcher's 1st, Mrs. T. R. Jenkins' 6th and Miss Lena Duncan's 12th grades, and Miss Johnson, secretary, announced that the prizes for the first meeting of the year were won by Miss Rumley's 3rd, Mrs. T. R. Jenkins 6th and Mrs. SALTER's 9th grades.

Mrs. I. N. Moore, program chairman for October, presented Mrs. Darden Eure of Morehead City, speaker of the evening, who talked on the perils points in the home.
