THE LITTLE COUNTRY CHURCH

Recently a survey was made concerning what rural people expect of their pastors. Of course, not everything that each person wrote was incorporated in the report, but the most important things were listed. Some of the things rural people like in their pastors are listed below.

First of all, they want preachers who use the Bible as their source of authority; to believe it, preach it, and live it. They want it to be the very breath of life of their sermons.

They want preachers who are interested in the children and young people, and who can work with them.

They like preachers who visit, not only as social callers, but as pastors interested in their soul's welfare. They think the ministers should visit not only their members, but everyone in the community who does not belong to some other church near by.

They want preachers to be interested in every means of affording people ways of attending church, even to the extent of helping get as good roads as possible which lead to the churches.

They want preachers who do not mind getting their hands dirty in manual labor. They like preachers who are handy with tools, especially when there is a church building program or some other work for the church.

They like to see their preacher look after the poor and the unchurched people, especially those who are too poor to afford a church and regular minister.

Any rural preacher can meet these and other requirements, but not all the little whims of many of his members.

Sunday School Lesson

multiplied the nation and not increased the joy; they joy before thee according to the joy in harvest, and as men rejoice when they divide the spoil. (4) For thou hast broken the yoke of his burden, and the staff of his shoulder, the rod of his oppressor, as in the day of Midian. (5) For every battle of the warrior is with confused noise, and garments rolled in blood; but this shall be with burning and fuel of fire. (6) For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace. (7) Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this. (1) And there shall come forth a rod out of the stem of Jesse, and a Branch shall grow out of his roots: (2) And the spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the Lord: (3) And he shall make him of quick understanding in the fear of the Lord; and he shall not judge after the sight of his eyes, neither prove after the hearing of his ears: (4) But with righteousness shall he judge the poor, and reprove with equity for the meek of the earth; and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked. (5) And righteousness shall be the girdle of his loins, and faithfulness the girdle of his reins.

No Christmas Night Service
Franklin Memorial Methodist church is calling off its Christmas night service this year. Its members are invited to attend the services in the other churches or to enjoy the Christmas season with their families. The pastor expects to go home Christmas afternoon.

Correction!
A line in the sermonette on last Friday's church page should have read "... the ox knoweth his owner and the ass his Master's Crib." Due to a typographical error "crib" appeared as "club."

commercialized into a time of receiving gifts, a time of feasting, a time of extravagance, a time of drunkenness. The spirit of Christmas is lost as we supplant the carols of the church—"O Come, All Ye Faithful," "Joy to the World!" "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing," and "Silent Night, Holy Night"—with the secular hits, regardless of how beautifully they may be rendered by some crooner or chattering blues singer. These material and secular trends may seem ever so innocent; but they are the clothing of greed, hate, and lust that would destroy the Spirit of Christmas, making Christ-Mass X-Mass.

The joys of the first Christmas are still with us. Heaven is still open to the simplest faith. The angels would break through and sing to us. The Christ Child would come to us and abide with us.

Yes, there is joy and hope. With Christ in Christmas the power is still with us to redeem our past, save our present, and direct our future. In this joy and hope we can sing:

"The wrong shall fail, the right prevail, With peace on earth, good-will to men!"

Havelock Methodist Church

Confession to Precede High Mass Saturday

Father Elmer J. Landser, T.O.R., pastor of Saint Egbert's Catholic church, Morehead City, has announced that there will be confession from 7 until 9 Saturday evening.

A High Mass, celebrated by Father Elmer will begin at midnight, at which the pastor will preach an appropriate sermon, "The Prince of Peace." Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament will follow immediately after the High Mass. Low Masses will be celebrated on Christmas Day at 9 and 11 a. m.

There will be no confessions immediately before the High Mass but there will be confessions before the two low Masses.

A men's choir, under the direction of Earl Lillestrand with Joyce Willis at the organ, will sing the High Mass. The men's choir is composed of Donah Bloomer, James Piner, Richard Ryan, Geo. Stafford, and E. R. Patris.

Ushers for the High Mass will be Raymond Rogers and Kenneth Johnson.

Decorations for the sanctuary are under the direction of Joseph Zajac, assisted by Alfred Messier. The altar and sanctuary will be flanked with pine, holly, youpones, and poinsettias. The crib will be set up in the sanctuary and will contain all the figures except the three kings.

The three kings will be placed in the crib on January 6, the feast of the Epiphany, for it was not until that day when the three kings came to Bethlehem. After the Feast of the Epiphany, the crib will be taken down and stored away until next Christmas season.

The public is cordially invited to attend any of the services held in Saint Egbert's Catholic church, and visit the crib any time.
