Jaycees Make Plans for 1950 Minstrel Show

Date Tentatively Set For Friday, March 31; Men Discuss Lab Museum

Beaufort Jaycees will present another of their famous yearly minstrel shows next month. The date has been tentatively set for Friday night, March 31.

The show will be in two parts; the second, Congo Capers, to be directed by Ken Johnson. End men in the first part are Claud Wheatly, George Cottingham, Gerald Woolard, Odell Merrill, Phil Liverman, Dan Walker, and Gene Smith.

Rehearsals Scheduled

Rehearsals for the first part will take place each Monday and Thursday night. At Monday night's dinner meeting at the Inlet Inn, J. O. Barbour agreed to stretch muslin for the backdrops which will be painted by Russell Dorrier.

During the business session Jimmy Range, James Potter, and Mr. Barbour were welcomed back into the club.

A suggestion that the Jaycees make an effort to have the museum at the biological laboratory on Piver's Island remain there was voted down after it was explained that moving it to Camp Glenn will at least keep it in Carteret.

...and completely done away with, as would have been the case otherwise.

Space Needed

The space now occupied by preserved forms of sea life and models of fish is needed for the expanded program planned at the Piver's Island laboratory, according to Mr. Walker.

Mr. Walker, manager of the chamber of commerce, also requested that Jaycees and other persons who know of apartments or house for rent, list these accommodations with the chamber of commerce.

President Odell Merrill reported that the JCs had sent flowers to both Rufus Sewell and David Hill, JCs who are ill. It was also urged that men pay a visit to Mr. Sewell in the hospital.

Teen-Agers, Utah Chorus to Appear

Among the musical numbers scheduled for Parents' night Monday at the Teen-Age club, Monday at the Teen-Age club, Morehead City, will be the Utah Centennial chorus. Twelve numbers will be presented by Teen-Agers.

The program will begin at 7:30 at the Carteret Recreational center on Shepard st. In addition to vocal numbers, the Centennial chorus appearance includes a trumpet trio, violinist, and pianist.

Mrs. Harold Sampson, Teen-Age counselor expressed hopes today "for a big crowd" Monday night and stated that club members are working hard selling tickets.

Club members will pay the regular 25 cents admission and adults 35 cents. Proceeds go toward maintenance of the club which this month observed its second year of operation.

Members of the recreation center board of directors, members of the Teen-Age club advisory board and town officials have been invited to the Parents' Night program.

Mayor Sends Delendant To Recorder's Court

Probable cause was found in the case of Horace D. Taylor, Raleigh charged with reckless driving and driving drunk, in Monday's session of Morehead City mayor's court and he was bound over to recorder's court under $500 bond.

Action in Taylor's case was brought as a result of an accident Sunday night when his car sideswiped a parked car belonging to Charlie Webb Willis in the 1200 block of Evans st., Morehead City. Webb's car was extensively damaged, according to police.

George Dudley, charged with disturbing the peace in his own home, was found guilty and fined the costs and $10. Mayor George W. Dill warned the defendant that the next time he was called to court for the same offense he would receive double the penalty.

Calvin E. Johnson and Bonnie G. Rice were each fined $15 and costs for speeding. The case of Alec Curtis, charged with habitual public drunkenness, was sent to recorder's court.

Men Pay Fines Totalling $600 In Yacht Case

Fines totaling $600 plus costs of court were levied on Frank S. Davis and John A. Newson. The two were originally charged with "aiding and abetting in the larceny of a boat" valued at $20,000, but were found guilty of "forcible trespass" in Tuesday's session of recorder's court.

Charges in the case were brought as a result of the removal Jan. 17 of the yacht, Airline II, from the Morehead City yacht basin.

The yacht was recovered in Myrtle Beach, S. C., with Newson, Davis' brother-in-law, aboard. The boat was originally owned by Davis but had been taken over by the sheriff's department under a tax warrant.

Following recovery of the yacht, Davis and Newson were charged with aiding and abetting in larceny. W. L. Styron of Morehead City also was charged with the same offense but the charge was dismissed after evidence was heard in Tuesday's session of court.

Two to Work on Roads

Two sentences totaling one year on the roads were given in two cases concerned with public drunkenness.

James Carol was found guilty of resisting arrest, being drunk and disorderly, using loud, boisterous and profane language in public, assaulting an officer by striking him with his fists, and destroying public property. He was sentenced to six months on the roads.

Alex Curtis was found guilty of public drunkenness, indecent exposure, and being a public nuisance. He also was sentenced to six months on the roads.

Evidence in the cases of Howard Rhodes and Strike Brannon was heard and the cases dismissed. Rhodes was charged with assault with a deadly weapon, a shotgun, and Brannon was charged with aiding and abetting Rhodes.

Case Bound Over

James W. Cole, charged with driving drunk and possession of non-tax-paid whiskey, requested a jury trial. His case was bound over to superior court under $150 bond.

Hazel McClary was fined $100 and costs for driving drunk, speeding and driving without a license. George G. Lowe was fined $50 for speeding 75 miles an hour.

The prosecuting witnesses in two cases were taxed the costs when a verdict of malicious prosecution was delivered. The first case was that of Willie B. Taylor, charged with larceny, and the second concerned Willie Fulford, jr., charged with assaulting a female with his fists.

Prosecution Withheld

The court withheld prosecution in two cases. The defendants were Charles Holland and Raymond Jackson, both charged with public drunkenness. Doanov Stanley, charged with the same offense, asked for a jury trial and

President Approves Loans to Plan Homes

Loans to Beaufort and Morehead City for public low-cost housing have been approved by President Truman. Sixteen thousand dollars has been earmarked for 40 units in Beaufort and $20,000 for 50 units in Morehead City.

Approval came from Washington Wednesday when $6,461,900 was set aside to help local housing agencies in 28 states and Puerto Rico plan more than $200,000,000 worth of low-cost public housing.

Public Housing Commissioner John Taylor Egan, in making the announcement, says this does not mean the money has been made available to the individual housing authorities.

Contracts Necessary

He explained that the President's approval merely sets aside the money and that contracts must be signed between the various municipal housing authorities and the Public Housing Administration.

Because Beaufort and Morehead City are listed as under 5,000 population, the town boards of each municipality act as the housing authority.

Egan said the loan will enable 102 localities to start planning some 25,000 low rent houses for about 83,000 persons.

So far, President Truman has approved loans totaling $42,262,900 to plan some 245,000 dwelling units in 329 communities.

Actual construction funds will come largely from private lending agencies under Federally-insured mortgages.

To Operate Locally

The houses will be built, owned and operated by the local housing agencies. They will be rented to families whose incomes, PHA said "are so low that they cannot afford adequate privately-owned housing."

Loans approved with the proposed number of dwellings and the amount include:

North Carolina: Charlotte, 600, $170,000; Eastern Carolina Regional Housing Authority (for Beaufort), 40, $16,000; (for town of Morehead City), 50, $20,000; Greensboro, 800, $160,000; New Bern, 200, $70,000.

Should Somebody Tell Those Fish It's Winter?

By the calendar it's winter, but they just haven't stopped fishing along the Carteret coast.

Capt. George Bedsworth of Morehead City, Ed Oglesby, and El Nelson, aboard the "Dolphin" caught 20 large bonita Sunday, Feb. 5. The catch was made in the vicinity of Knuckle buoy.

These sought-after game fish usually pass out of the picture with the coming of winter, but this season has been so warm, that they too are flipping their fins in scorn at the usual lures from "sunny Florida."

Jaycees Continue Football Project

Seven Men Will Attend Quarterly Board Meeting At Greensboro

Efforts are continuing to obtain uniforms and equipment for a Morehead City high school football team, it was revealed at the Morehead City Jaycee meeting Monday night in the Fort Macon hotel dining room.

Athletic authorities at Duke, Wake Forest and Carolina have been contacted in an effort to obtain used football equipment. At present no uniforms have been promised but those contacted have said there is a possibility that equipment will be available following spring practice.

A lengthy discussion took place over the proper procedure in starting the sport at Morehead City school. It was finally decided that if uniforms and equipment could be obtained the next step would be to obtain a coach.

Committee Appointed

Bruce Goodwin was appointed chairman of a committee to start work on the project. Appointed to serve with him were Bud Dixon, Skinner Chalk, jr., Jimmy Wallace and Bernard Leary.

Seven members of the Jaycees will attend the quarterly board meeting to be held in Greensboro this weekend. The group voted not to instruct its delegates on how to vote in case the question is raised continuing the North Carolina Jaycee directory on an annual basis.

Expense To Be Paid

Expenses of the delegates, exclusive of meals, will be paid by the club. Those attending will be Bernard Leary, Ethan Davis, Bob Lowe, Bobby Bell, Luther Lewis, Jimmy Wallace and Bud Dixon.

Several other members of the group indicated they would be at Havelock Wednesday afternoon to assist in organizing a Havelock Jaycee club. Morehead City and New Bern will be co-sponsors. Edwin Matthis' name was drawn for the attendance jackpot. He received $5.

New Alarm Box Installed At Beaufort Fire Station

A new fire alarm box to waken Beaufort firemen when alarms are turned in at the station has been added to the alarm system. Fire Chief C. B. Harrell announced today.

Chief Harrell said the alarm box is installed at the front of the fire station between the two large doors. When out-of-town alarms or alarms in the vicinity are turned in, all that is necessary is to break the glass on the box and push the button inside.

When this is done, two separate bells are rung upstairs. In case it is nighttime and the fireman on duty is asleep, it will waken him, the chief explains. This new box was installed so that alarms can be answered quicker than before, Chief Harrell said.

Beaufort Enterprise, Sol-Pro, Incorporates

The certificate for incorporation of Sol-Pro, Inc., Beaufort was filed Wednesday in the office of Secretary of State Thad Eure.

The new corporation will engage in the manufacture of products from fish or other marine raw materials. Authorized capital stock, $100,000, subscribed stock, $800 by W. V. Potter, Oney Wheatly, and William Potter, all of Beaufort.

A symphony orchestra took off its top hat Tuesday night and sat down just to play for the folks.

Although all numbers presented by the Little Symphony in its annual appearance in Carteret county were beautifully executed, none excelled the brilliance of Bobby Morris' solo, Allegro from the concerto in D minor by Mozart.

The 17-year-old high school student, Carteret county's foremost musician of all time, displayed mastery of the piano, expert control, poise and brilliance that many older professional pianists might well envy.

The only criticism heard was the query: "Why didn't he play more?"

Native of Atlantic

The young pianist is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Morris of Atlantic and was scheduled on the Carteret county program by special request of the local committee.

The program opened with the symphony in C major by Bizet, composer of the opera, Carmen. The symphony was written in 1855 when Bizet was 17 years old, but was lost and not re-discovered until 1935 when the score was found in the National Library of France in Paris.

Benjamin Swalin, conductor, who gave a brief history of the work before it was played, said it is possible that Bizet never heard the symphony performed.

"The buoyance and exuberant melodies remind us of Schubert," commented Mr. Swalin, "and this symphony shows the permanence of music and the fact that it is an international language. Here, almost 100 years since it was written we are playing a work that has become a favorite."

Although applause between movements of a symphony is frowned upon by many conductors, Mr. Swalin graciously acknowledged the appreciative demonstrations from the audience upon the conclusion of each portion of the symphony.

Soloist Appears

Lights were dimmed and the grand piano placed downstage for the solo number. Mr. Morris' appearance on the stage was met with loud applause which was greatly surpassed as he completed his number. The audience called him back three times, urging in vain for an encore.

After intermission, the orchestra played the light and lovely ballet music from William Tell by Rossini. Beautiful solos by the woodwinds were supplanted in the next number by the string choir in Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes, arranged by Pochon.

Instruments Demonstrated

Mr. Swalin, before conducting Sheep and Goat Walkin' to Pasture, requested members of the orchestra to demonstrate various instruments. "In an effort," he explained, "to break down that barrier which exists between a performing group and a listening group . . . and also to make an orchestra more understandable to some of the adults who are as unfamiliar with these instruments as are many of our school children."

The first demonstration was on the double bass, the big violin a person plays while standing up; next was the viola, "the alto voice of the string choir," then the bassoon, the bass of the woodwind choir, an instrument invented in 1536.

A tune was then played on the clarinet, which Mr. Swalin said, dates from George Washington's time, one of the most modern of the instruments; the oboe soloist performed, preceded by the conductor's comment that the oboe was known in Grecian times but has been improved in recent years.

The flute was played, this instrument also one of ancient times, followed by a few notes on the French horn, related to the hunting horns of France and dating back to the Renaissance. The trumpet was demonstrated. Mr. Swalin explained that this instrument was known to the Egyptians, Romans, and Greeks.

From the percussions the xylophone was heard, then the celesta, a new instrument to the Little Symphony, was demonstrated. The celesta, an instrument related to the bells but having a keyboard, was invented in 1886 Mr. Swalin related, and is used to obtain unusual effects. It was first played in 1891 in the performance of Tchaikowsky's Nutcracker suite.

Almost everything in the orchestra was put into play in Sheep and Goat Walkin' to the Pasture. Turkey in the Straw left nothing to be desired from the foot-tapping angle. The former was composed by Guion, who arranged the latter.

Mrs. Maxine Swalin made a short talk prior to the next number. She urged members of the North Carolina Symphony society to attend other concerts to be given in this vicinity and expressed thanks to THE NEWS-TIMES, the radio station, and Mrs. Bayard Taylor, membership chairman.

Ann Lou Florist contributed the stage flowers and Beaufort Florist the bouquet of flowers on the upright piano to the left of the stage. Debussy's tone painting, The Sunken Cathedral, with its delightful, dirge-like tones sharply contrasted with the gaily narrative

Southern Pines Quintet Invades Morehead City

Series of Games Begun In 1946 to Continue This Weekend

By Oliver H. Allen

A basketball series unique in high school records will be continued at 7:30 to-night and tomorrow night when the Morehead City and Southern Pines varsity and junior varsity teams will square off in Morehead City gym for the 15th and 16th games in a series that dates back to 1946.

The series originally began after Morehead City was defeated by Southern Pines for the eastern Class B championship in 1946. Following the game, Coach Gannon Talbert of Morehead City challenged Coach A. C. Dawson of Southern Pines to a series of games on a home-and-home basis, two games to be played in each town each year.

Visitors Hold Edge

Southern Pines has the edge in games played since 1946 with a nine to five lead. This year when Morehead City played at Southern Pines the local junior varsity won both games and the varsity teams split their two, Morehead City winning the first one, 43-36, in an overtime period and Southern Pines winning the second one, 36-34, in the final five seconds of the game.

Play in the games is marked by unusually good sportsmanship and clean play. Never has either team won by more than a few points but what is more important is that the players seem to gain more from the game than they put into it, more in the sense that fair play predominates in every contest.

Quotes From The Pilot

Earlier this year when the local team visited Southern Pines the Southern Pines Pilot wrote up the event from their angle. Part of that story is quoted below:

"Coach Talbert himself is always one of the visiting team's main attractions, with his sideline antics while the game is going on. He is about the same build as Wake Forest's Coach Peaback Walker, ebullient, flamboyant, and addicted to eye-attracting ties. Like Walker, he can't sit still but paces constantly between his players' bench, one moment wailing in despair, the next jumping up and down in jubilation over an exciting play. When a decision goes against Coach Talbert's boys, loud cries of anguish and protests can be heard afar.

"However, the visiting mentor knows his basketball. His teams are splendidly trained and play a clean, hard, and fierce, but thoroughly sportsmanlike game while erstwhile enemies become friends as players walk off the court arm in arm.

"The teams exchange hospitality during the series, Southern Pines boys putting up those from Morehead in their homes and the Morehead boys return the compliment when the Blue and White goes east. It is a great series and both teams look forward to it with enthusiasm which increases each year."
