Partyboats Take Blues While Trolling Off Inlet

Bluefish, the fightingest of small game species inhabiting the waters of coastal North Carolina have appeared in sizable schools off the inlet at Morehead City and in the Cape Lookout Bight area. Parties aboard all charter boats operating from here who trolled with surface lures between the inlet and Cape Lookout have caught blues.

Artificial lures, small spoons or bones, were used to attract the fish. The same lures are used for taking Spanish mackerel another small game species taken at the surface while trolling.

Bluefishermen who have no luck while trolling in the general area of Cape Lookout and the inlet usually change to bottom fishing with shrimp in the vicinity of the government breakwater at the cape and the jetties at Shackleford Point or near Fort Macon. Bottom species taken in these areas include sea bass, sheepshead, sea mullet and hogfish.

Sandlot Baseball Players Due For National Acclaim

Wichita, Kan.—More than 8,000 outstanding young sandlot baseball players will be recognized for performance from approximately 500 circuits being organized in the 1950 National Association of Leagues, the National Baseball Congress announced today. The 16 outstanding players in each affiliated league are to be awarded the N.B.C. All-League certificates.

In addition, the league champion of each circuit will be presented an elaborate trophy through the N.B.C. by the bottlers of Coca-Cola. Leading team of July standing will automatically qualify in its respective state championship tournament in July, preceding the 16th annual National tournament at Wichita, Aug. 18 to 31.

All players in affiliated leagues will be under the N.B.C. nationwide player contract system, unable to change to teams outside the league without release. A resume of each affiliated league including final standings and names of leagues, also team officials, will be presented in the following issue of the Official Baseball Annual and in The Sporting News.

Highlights of the National Association of Leagues may be obtained without cost by writing National Baseball Congress, Wichita (1), Kan. Complete details are in the 1950 Official Baseball Annual, published by the N.B.C., at news stands and sporting goods stores.

Camilli and Camelli
Dayton, O., (AP)—It will be a little confusing in the Central League this season when people mention the names of Dayton and Saginaw, Mich., managers. Hank Camilli, former first baseman for the Phillies and Dodgers, is the new Dayton manager, while Hank Camelli, ex-Pirate catcher, is the new pilot at Saginaw.

Texas Manager Fakes Rhubarbs To Please Fans

AUSTIN, Tex.—Hank Oana, the big Hawaiian who now manages Austin of the Big State League, seldom permits a ball game to become drabby.

Oana, who came into the Texas League years ago as an outfielder, was shifted to the pitching mound with the result that he went to the big leagues.

Hank gained fame on the West Coast when someone put out a story that he was a Hawaiian prince. He wasn't, but it was too good to deny. So he said nothing and became quite a drawing card in the Pacific Coast League.

Oana was with Detroit during the war, came back to the Texas League and led the circuit in pitching with Dallas one season. Then he became manager at Austin and has been quite successful.

Here's a sample of how big Hank keeps the fans interested: Austin was playing Texarkana and was behind, 10-2. It was one of those nights when Austin couldn't do anything right. The fans got bored. Some showed their displeasure by walking out of the park.

Hank had an inspiration. When the base umpire called a close one against the Pioneers (not too close but enough for Oana's purpose), he rushed out to the arbiter and shook his finger in his face.

Oana thrust his face up close, frowned and waved his arms. The umpire shook his own finger under Hank's nose. The fans quit walking out and started cheering the Austin manager, meanwhile boating the umpire.

But what Oana said to the umpire while waving his arms wildly was this:

"I'm gonna buy you a dinner after the game."

What the umpire replied was: "I'm gonna take you up on that."

A few minutes later Hank charged out to "protest" vigorously once more, the fans cheering him on. But here's what he said:

"You gonna eat dinner with me? The "infuriated" umpire jerked off his cap, bared his teeth. Hank waved some more. The umpire raised himself on his toes, pointed in the direction of the Austin dressing room.

"Go change your clothes," he said.

Diamonds Bring Out the Lustiest In Lady Fans!

For generations, American women have gone in mildly for sports, but the ballpark was pretty much a male preserve.

Between television and the efforts of the baseball people themselves — after all, they thought up things like "Ladies Day"—it seems that large numbers of women are turning into avid sportswatchers.

It's a movement, not confined entirely to baseball, and I think that men are going to regret they ever let women loose in stadia, rinks and parks. Male sports fans are bad enough. But women are extremists, and if they take up sportswatching I can see nothing but more trouble ahead for the Great American Home.

I know more than a dozen women who have been wooed and won by sportswatching. A gray-haired and dignified matron of my acquaintance knows more about boxing and obscure rules than Jack Dempsey. This interest began shortly after a television set was installed. Now her husband has to take her to any of the big fights that happen to be scheduled in her vicinity. This is costly, and also unsatisfactory because her husband would much rather go to hockey games.

I also know a young mother who has been infected by the baseball virus and during the season does her ironing in the afternoon while listening to the excited voices of sports announcers from some park.

or other. In the old days she used to iron to soap opera, so pretty soon we may see manufacturers of soap, lipsticks, girdles and frozen foods taking over the sports field now occupied by beer, tobacco and razor blade sponsors.

The march of the women into the nation's ballparks is greater than I thought. For I have received this day a little pamphlet from the American Red Cross, no less, instructing women how to act while attending a baseball game. It is a combined etiquette and safety brochure, urging, first, that women be ladies, no matter what the provocation. Secondly, it suggests they watch their blood pressure.

Of course, the booklet does come from the Brooklyn Chapter of the Red Cross, and if I understand correctly, people in Brooklyn get more excited about baseball—they have a team called the Dodgers—than any other people in the United States get excited about anything. Still, it is an indication of what's happening when it is necessary to instruct people how to watch a game. Among the Red Cross tips on conduct are advice to wear comfortable, loose clothing, low-heeled shoes, no hat-pins and to avoid getting into a physical battle with someone who disagrees with them. It is all right, says the Red Cross, to yell a lady's head off, provided the lady sits as still as possible.

Capt. John C. Guthrie Returns to Party-Boating

John C. Guthrie, party boat captain who seriously injured his back in a waterfront accident more than a year ago, took out a party Saturday. That was his first charter trip since he had the misfortune of hurting his back.

The Nancy Max returned with several hundred hogfish. Captain Guthrie has been in the party boat business for more than 30 years. His boat is tied up on the Morehead City waterfront between the Texaco and Sinclair docks.

POTTER'S SINCLAIR SERVICE

T. T. "TOM" POTTER, JR.
R-4726

FRONT STREET BEAUFORT, N. C.

President Roosevelt's Board said—

President Truman's Board said—

Still the leaders of the Railroad Firemen's Union say—

"STRIKE!"

This ridiculous strike is an affront to every citizen of the nation. It's not for more money. It's not because of hours. It's only for soft feather-bedding spots for additional unnecessary firemen to go along in diesel locomotives just for the ride. A leading liberal newspaper calls the demands of the union leaders "horse-feathers!"

• The reckless leaders of the firemen's union want to force down the throats of the railroads and the public a ridiculous "make-work" proposal which has been twice ruled out by Presidential Fact Finding Boards duly appointed under the provisions of the Railway Labor Act.

This demand of union leaders for additional and unnecessary firemen to ride in diesel locomotives was rejected —after months of hearings—by a Board appointed by President Roosevelt in 1943.

It was again rejected in 1949 by a Board appointed by President Truman.

Recent meetings with the National Mediation Board have brought no change in the attitude of the union dictators.

Union Leaders Defy Intent of Law

The union leaders helped write the Railway Labor Act. Yet in an attempt to jam through this scheme of pure "feather-bedding" by leading the members of their union out on strike and threatening paralysis to large areas of the nation, they are defying the spirit and intent of the very law which they helped to create.

This strike is not for higher wages. It is a strike to force the railroads to employ many more thousands of firemen who are not needed! It would be indefensible waste. The railroads have refused to place this additional and unnecessary burden on the public.

But more important than any other consideration, is the action of these few irresponsible union leaders in seeking to force a crippling strike upon the nation for their own selfish purposes.

There is no other possible answer to such a demand but "No!"

The railroads in making such a reply believe they have the whole-hearted support of the people in whose interest they are willing to fight this out, despite the loss and inconvenience that all will suffer.

It is time to put an end to such un-American demands.
