

Unknown Soldier Of World War II To Be Enshrined

Naval Base, Charleston, S. C. — The unidentified American who is to be enshrined as this nation's World War II Unknown will be selected in historic Independence Hall at Philadelphia, Saturday morning, May 26, 1951. The selection will be made from six members of the United States Armed Forces who gave their lives overseas and whose identities can never be established, announced the Department of Defense.

Immediately following the selection, the Unknown will be brought to Washington, D. C., by a U. S. naval vessel. The remains will lie in state in the rotunda of the United States Capitol and on Memorial Day, May 30, 1951, the Unknown will be entombed at Arlington National Cemetery.

Symbolic of all branches of the Armed Forces and representative of every theater of operation where Americans fought and died during World War II, the six bodies brought back to this country will be selected from among unidentified Armed Forces dead interred in 16 permanent United States military cemeteries and national cemeteries overseas. There are at the present time, approximately 8,000 unidentified dead buried in these cemeteries.

The five unknowns remaining will be returned to cemeteries overseas for reburial. Two of the five will be transported by rail from Philadelphia to the New York port of embarkation and returned to Europe. Two other bodies will be taken by train to the San Francisco port of embarkation for eventual return to cemeteries in the Pacific area. The fifth unknown is to be placed aboard military aircraft and sent to Alaska for final burial. All bodies will be accompanied by military escort.

North Carolinians Request Survey on Shad, Herring

Washington — (AP) — A Federal survey to find out why shad and herring have decreased in Albemarle and Pamlico Sounds in North Carolina was urged at a recent Congressional hearing.

The House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee had before it a bill by Rep. Bonner (D-N.C.) authorizing such a study by the Fish and Wildlife Service.

Bonner, W. R. Hampton of Plymouth, N. C., of the State Board of Conservation and Development; W. A. Rawls of Rocky Mount, N. C., and Milton C. James, assistant director of the Fish and Wildlife Service, said the surveys would benefit the whole Atlantic coast.

Hampton said the shad and herring catch in the Chowan River area of Albemarle Sound alone dropped almost 4,000,000 pounds between 1939 and 1949.

He said only the Federal government has facilities capable of making a sufficiently broad survey. He estimated the study would take at least two years and cost from $25,000 to $35,000 a year.

Rawls supported Hampton's testimony. He suggested pollution, over-fishing and closing of ocean inlets to the sounds as major causes for the decrease in fish.

James said the Wildlife Service the purpose is insufficient. He said the Bonner bill would enable the service to make a "pinpoint" survey which would be applicable to other areas.

He is carrying on a general survey but that $75,000 appropriated for

Students Should Obtain Social Security Number

Many students will work during the coming summer vacation period. Some of them will remain at work rather than continue in school. Most of those who work, whether temporarily or permanently, will be affected by social security. Facts about that program follow:

Every person who works on a job covered under social security must have a social security card. The card may be obtained by calling in person or by writing to the social security office located in Wilmington, N. C. An application may be obtained also from the local post office.

The account with the federal government is set up under the name and number shown on the social security card. Employers are required to report wages to the federal government every three months. Therefore, it is important that each employer know his workers' numbers so that he can report wages correctly.

Since future social security benefits will be based on the amount of wages in the account, failure to get credit for all wages will affect the amount of benefit.

The old-age and survivors insurance program which is generally referred to as "social security," is administered entirely by the federal government. This is an insurance program and its purpose is to protect workers and their families against the insecurity of old-age and death.

Monthly benefits are payable to the retired worker at age 65 or later, to his wife when she is 65, and to his unmarried children under the age of 18. In addition, benefits are payable when the worker dies, regardless of his age, to his 65-year-old widow, to his widow under age 65 if she has a child entitled to benefits, and to his unmarried children under the age of 18.
