Directors Accept W. C. Matthews' Resignation

Dr. Darden J. Eure Heads Chamber of Commerce; 121 Join Organization

The resignation of W. C. Matthews, president of the Morehead City chamber of commerce was accepted by the board of directors at the regular monthly meeting Thursday night. This was deemed advisable in view of Mr. Matthews' need for complete rest in order to recover from his recent illness. Manager Robert Lowe reported.

Dr. Darden J. Eure, former vice-president, who has served the chamber as acting president for the greater part of this fiscal year was unanimously elected to the presidency to complete the present term of office. Director D. G. Bell was elected to the vice-presidency.

A report on the final results of the recent membership campaign showed that the chamber of commerce has, at present, 121 paid members; and pledges, falling due between now and Nov. 1, for 48 others. This will be the largest enrollment in the history of the Morehead City chamber.

The board instructed Manager Lowe to appear in Raleigh Sept. 6 at the hearing scheduled on that date to consider the request of Carolina Telephone and Telegraph company for increased rates for telephone service. The State Utilities commission has been petitioned by the telephone company to raise phone rates of all classifications. Mr. Lowe was instructed to register a general protest, pending the presentation of evidence. This does not necessarily mean that the Morehead City chamber will arbitrarily oppose any rate increase, it was stated. It is the purpose of the board, however, to leave a way open for specific protests should the evidence presented by the telephone company not warrant a rate increase at the present time.

A committee, headed by Dr. John Morris, was appointed to urge the sport fishing charter boatmen to establish and maintain uniform prices and services in order to retain patronage in the Morehead City area.

County Cancer Campaign Closes

The cancer campaign in Carteret county, extended since last spring in hopes of reaching the thousand dollar goal, will end Thursday, Mrs. George H. McNeill, commander of the Carteret county unit of the North Carolina division of the American Cancer Society.

The campaign fell less than one hundred dollars short of the goal. Nine hundred nine dollars and sixty-two cents has been forwarded to state headquarters at Mt. Airy, Mrs. McNeill announced. Forty per cent of this amount will be returned to Carteret county for lending financial assistance to cancer patients.

Chairman of the cancer fund campaign in Morehead City was Jimmy Wallace and in Beaufort, Mrs. Glenn Adair. Treasurer of the county cancer unit is Mrs. Robert Taylor and chairman of the executive committee is Dr. John Morris.

Mrs. McNeill, in a statement released yesterday, expressed her appreciation to all who contributed to the campaign and gave of their time in promoting the drive.

A general alarm for all Morehead City firemen was turned in at 10:30 Friday night when Dee Hanner of Greenville and a party of six girls were reported lost somewhere in Bogue Sound aboard a Higgins express cruiser.

The fire department was notified that Hanner and the girls had gone out in the boat before dark and had not returned when expected. At the same time, the Coast Guard was notified of the lost party and asked to assist in the search.

When firemen assembled at the station shortly after the alarm was turned in, several volunteered to take their boats and participate in the search. Others offered to go along as crew members.

The "sailors" were preparing to begin the search when the all-clear alarm was rung from the station. They returned there and learned that the Coast Guard had found Hanner and his party stranded in Villa Creek just east of the Bogue Sound club five miles from Morehead City.

Hanner told Coast Guardsmen that he had gone into the creek just as darkness was falling. After he had traveled some distance up the creek his motor stopped and, in addition, the creek became so dark that he could not have found his way out even if the motor had turned over.

The Hanner boat and party were towed out into Bogue Sound and back to their moorings as soon as the Coast Guard found the party.

False Alarm

At 11:45 a.m. Saturday firemen received a false alarm from Morehead City hospital. An elevator mechanic at the hospital was testing the new elevator and ran it down to the bottom of the shaft. When he did, the elevator struck a fire alarm wire, pulling it loose from the alarm box and turning in the alarm.

When firemen arrived they found it necessary only to reconnect the wire. No other damage was caused.

Five Collisions Occur in Morehead

Five accidents occurred in Morehead City over the weekend, none of them serious and no one was injured. Charges were not preferred in any of the five.

First of the mishaps occurred Friday morning at 40 minutes past midnight when George G. Lowe of Cherry Point, driving a 1949 Ford, made a left turn off Fisher st. into N. 13th st.

Lowe turned too far to the left as he made the turn and struck a 1940 Pontiac, driven by Henry M. Shepard of Morehead City, which had come to a stop at the corner. Neither car received more than slight damages. Police Officers Bill Bowles and Buck Newsom investigated.

Friday morning at 9:35 an accident occurred between 11th and 12th st. on Arendell st. Thelma C. Penny of Morehead City RFD, driving a 1950 Nash, was parked at the curb and started to pull out into the line of traffic. She failed to notice that a pickup truck being driven by Carrie E. Taylor of North Hatter was passing her car at the time.

The Nash collided with the right rear fender of the truck, bending in the Nash's left front fender and the truck's right rear fender. Officer Herbert Griffin investigated the accident.

Saturday morning at 7:15 a.m., the third of the weekend's five collisions took place at 18th and Arendell st. when Russell A. Hauser of Tobaccoville RFD, made a turn off Arendell into 18th.

Hauser said he made a hand sig-

Countians Attend Wilson Cattle Show

Carletet 4-H Calves Entered in Their First Judging Event

Attending the Dairy Cattle Show in Wilson today are the following from Carteret county: Darrell Piner and Warren Gillikin of Straits; Cecil Gillikin and his father, Guy Gillikin; Henry Eubanks, Mark Eubanks and his father, Manly Eubanks, all of Beaufort RFD; Tommy Oglesby of Crab Point; Billy Simmons of Newport; Herbert Page of the Bogue Sound community; and Leo Watson of Pelletier.

All eight calves of the Carteret County 4-H Calf chain are at the show, their first. Al Stinson, assistant farm agent, and R. M. Williams, county agent, spent last week working with the 4-H club boys, helping to fit the calves for the show. Showing of dairy calves is an art which not only requires time and work, but is excellent training for the boys, Mr. Williams remarked.

In fitting these animals for the show ring, the club member must start working with his calf several weeks before the show. Each animal must be taught to be led, stand with its head alert and squarely on its feet. There is little chance of an animal winning that has to be pulled around the show ring, added Mr. Williams.

A properly-fitted animal is one that is carrying enough flesh to be in good condition. The horns and hoofs must be smoothed and polished, and the hair around the head, neck, udder, and tail must be clipped. Frequent washing will keep the hair and hide in good condition. The calf must be brushed several times daily to give the hair a glossy coat. The animal should be blanketed to keep the coat clean which also gives a finished appearance.

All of the calves at this show will be judged according to the Danish system, Mr. Williams continued. By this method the calves will be classified into one, two, and three groups, according to the condition and their fitness for the show. Each boy whose calf falls in a certain group will receive the same amount of prize money.

Driver Injured When Car Upsets

Wilbur L. Young, 20 of Cherry Point, is recovering today in Cherry Point dispensary from injuries received at 3:30 Thursday afternoon when the car he was driving struck another car and turned over one mile east of Newport on highway 70.

Young has been charged with operating a motor vehicle with a faulty mechanism. The car he was driving, a 1936 Ford coupe, is a complete loss, according to R. H. Brown, highway patrolman who investigated.

The other car involved was a 1950 Buick driven by Carol B. Burch of Cherry Point. With Burch was his wife and child. None of them was injured.

The Ford was proceeding west on the highway when the steering mechanism locked and it turned over to the left in the path of the Buick which was proceeding east. The Ford was knocked into the ditch, but Young was thrown out of it before it turned over. He was rushed to Cherry Point by ambulance suffering from face lacerations and a leg injury.

Damage to the Buick was estimated at $50.

Committeeman Denied Request On Shrimp Study

State Fisheries Group Says Institute Shall Conduct All Investigations

Fred Latham, member of the commercial fisheries committee, Beaufort county, was denied the privilege of making a private investigation of fish destruction by shrimp trawls when the commercial fisheries committee of the State Board of Conservation and Development met Friday morning. The committee also took action on routine matters.

Mr. Latham reported to the committee that he had access to private funds to conduct an investigation on the extent of the alleged destruction to small food fish caused by trawling for shrimp. The committee ruled, however, that the Institute of Fisheries Research is a duly constituted investigative agency and any investigation to be carried on shall be done under the institute's control.

An investigation of this very problem was undertaken in August 1949, according to W. A. Ellison, director of the Institute of Fisheries Research. In charge of the investigation was Dr. Eugene Roelofs. A publication on findings will appear in the near future the director told a NEWS-TIMES reporter Saturday.

The fisheries committee made no change in the oyster season which opens Oct. 1 and closes the last day of February.

Planting Areas

To be submitted to the board of conservation for approval is a regulation closing to oystermen for three years all areas planted in state shells. These areas shall be closed, the committee suggests, beginning with the 1950 planting season.

The areas would be open, however, to fishermen using pound nets, hook and line.

Clifton Beckwith of the attorney general's office met with the group and made a report on the condition of present rules, statutes, and fisheries regulations. The fisheries committee will meet again with Mr. Beckwith Oct. 3 and 4 to make recommendations on revision or elimination of overplanting regulations.

The request of Sen. Charles Jenkins, made at the July board meeting in regard to fishermen blocking with nets the mouths of small creeks on the Chowan river was referred to C. D. Kirkpatrick, law enforcement officer of the division for investigation.

Request Granted

The committee allowed the request presented at the July meeting for fishing on the south side of Albemarle Sound near Pca Ridge.

Action was taken in regard to use of section base property also. The committee made a study of the property being used by the various state agencies and recommended "a more unified control for safety and protection." Roy Hampton, chairman of the board, stated that the properties should be more adequately protected from fire, that roads on the property be specifically designated for particular types of use, and the buildings be more carefully supervised.

In addition to members of the committee, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Latham, Dr. Sylvester Green, Mrs. Roland McClamroch, and Eric Rodgers, Walter Fuller, administrative assistant to George Ross, chairman of the Board of Conservation and Development, was present.

To Allen Bell, a colored employee, Mr. Willis ordered that $500 be given. The will stipulated that upon the re-marriage of the former Mrs. James M. Willis, the property left to her be divided among the three children.

Three thousand pounds of sugar and 38 cases of whiskey were confiscated by Carteret and Craven officers of the law Friday afternoon at Craven Corner, and several hours later the same officers razed a 50-gallon still.

The makin's of booze and the finished product were uncovered in Godette's theatre and Rudolph Godette, owner of the theatre was arrested and charged with possession of non-tax paid whiskey for the purpose of sale.

The still was located about five miles from the theatre on Coach's creek. The 50-gallon steam rig and 1,500 gallons of mash were destroyed.

At the theatre the illegal beverage and the sugar were found in a locked room. M. M. Ayscue, county ABC officer, said both the whiskey at the theatre and the still were located through information supplied the officers.

Making the raid were Sheriff Berry of Craven county, Mr. Ayscue, and Deputy Sheriffs Murray Thomas and E. M. Chapman, of Beaufort.

Army Engineers Announce Hearing On Port Channel

A hearing on deepening the channel into Morehead City port terminal and enlarging the turning basin will be conducted by the corps of engineers, U. S. Army, at 11:30 a.m. Friday, Sept. 22, in the municipal building, Morehead City. It was announced today.

It is proposed that the existing channel and turning basin's 30-foot depth be increased to 35 feet.

According to the corps of engineers the project at present, in part, calls for "a channel 30 feet deep and 400 feet wide across the ocean bar at Beaufort Inlet, thence 30 feet deep and 300 feet wide to the Marine Terminals at Morehead City, enlarged to 600 feet to form a turning basin at that point, with channels of smaller dimensions with maximum depths of 12 feet from the turning basin to deep water in Bogue Sound."

Interested parties are requested to be present or be represented at the hearing to express their views concerning the character and extent of the improvement desired and the need and advisability of its execution, stated Colonel R. C. Brown, Wilmington, district engineer.

The colonel added, "Sponsors of the improvement are urged to present pertinent factual material bearing upon the general plan of improvement desired and the economic justification of the undertaking. Opposing interests, if any, are also urged to state the reasons for their position. Data from sponsors should include estimates of time lost awaiting favorable tides, increased operating costs from not being able to load vessels fully, savings that would result from vessels, increased commerce that might result if the improvement were provided, any increased terminal facilities including petroleum storage facilities that might be provided if the desired improvement were provided, and related information.

"Oral statements will be heard but for accuracy of record all important facts and arguments should be submitted in writing, as the records of the hearing will be forwarded for consideration by the Department of the Army," Colonel Brown stated.

Written statements should be handed to him at the hearing or mailed to him beforehand.

Draft Board Clerk Explains Why Names Are Not Released

By order of the National and State selective service officials, county selective service boards may not release names of boys ordered to induction stations for pre-induction physicals, Mrs. Ruby Holland, clerk, explained yesterday.

According to directives, draft officials believe that failure to pass the physical and mental examinations would cause embarrassment to the men if their names were released before it was known whether they could be accepted for military service.

Carteret county on Thursday received a call for 55 men who will report to Fort Bragg Sept. 7. After they take exams, the county office will be given the names of those who passed and then those names will be made available to the press, Mrs. Holland stated.

The Carteret County Farm Bureau Membership drive for the coming year will get under way Friday, Sept. 1, with Carteret county's quota 500, the same as last year.

R. M. Williams, farm agent, Oscar Salter, Bettie, farm bureau membership chairman, and S. D. Edwards, Newport, attended the district farm bureau meeting Friday afternoon at the court house in New Bern.

Quotas Announced
Membership quotas for each county were announced by Alonza Edwards, state farm bureau president. Representatives of the counties in this district accepted their quotas and indicated that they would put forth every possible effort to meet their goal, reported Mr. Williams.

The state farm bureau president urged leaders to make an all-out drive for membership, stating that the Farm Bureau's influence in the legislature in January will be determined by the success of the drive.

Large Enrollment
He pointed out that North Carolina's farm bureau enrollment is the fifth largest of any state in the union.

Among the speakers were B. C. Mangum, state membership chairman, of Hendersonville, Bill Hackney of Beaufort county, Guy Mathis of New Bern, and Ellis Vistol of Kernsville.

Chamber Offices Will Procure Contract Lists

Beaufort and Morehead City are among the 24 cities in the state whose chambers of commerce will cooperate with the United States Department of Commerce, in supplying information to businessmen on government contracts.

This announcement was made Saturday by Sen. Clyde Hoey. Manufacturers, he said, will be able to pick up at the chamber of commerce offices each day a consolidated synopsis of procurement information. This will show purchases to be made through competitive bidding by major procurement offices of the Department of Defense, General Services Administration and other agencies.

"I am further advised by the Department of Commerce that each daily synopsis provides sufficient information concerning proposed purchases to enable interested businessmen to determine items on which they may wish to bid and the location of the purchasing office from which they can secure bid invitation sets," he said.

"Businessmen also will have the opportunity of visiting the field office and studying a special procurement manual prepared and serviced by the Department of Commerce."

"This manual shows the items normally purchased by each department of the government, the location of purchasing offices and a brief outline of procurement procedure followed by each agency."

Cities where chambers of commerce will act as "cooperating offices" of the Department of Commerce in furnishing contract and procurement information were listed, in addition to Beaufort and Morehead City, as:

Asheboro, Burlington, Charlotte, Durham, Fayetteville, Goldsboro, Graham, Greenville, Hickory, High Point, Kinston, Lenoir, Lexington, Morgantown, Raleigh, Salisbury, Sanford, Shelby, Statesville, Wilson, Wilmington and Winston - Salem.
