

Defendant Will Serve Suspended Road Sentence

Cecil Guthrie, Morehead City, Found Guilty in Court Tuesday

Cecil Guthrie of Morehead City, under a two to three-year suspended sentence due to conviction on an arson charge, was found guilty in recorder's court Tuesday on a charge of trespassing and peeping. Judge Lambert Morris imposed a six-month sentence in the trespassing and peeping case which was bound over to recorder's court from Morehead City mayor's court Monday.

Guthrie was apprehended by Morehead City police in the 1600 block of Shackelford street Friday night shortly before midnight. Bernice Brady, Olin Ivy, and Joseph Moore, charged with theft of $700 in Morehead City Sunday morning, were found guilty of petty larceny. Most of the $700 was recovered. The Brady woman was given a two-year jail sentence, not to be served providing she remain on good behavior five years and not frequent any beer parlors or dance halls during that time. She was ordered to pay $25 and costs.

Each of the men were given two-year sentences on the roads, not to be carried out providing they remain sober and on good behavior five years, and pay $25 and costs. They were allowed 30 days to pay their fines.

Norman N. Poussard, charged with theft of an automobile, pleaded guilty to temporary larceny. A six-month road sentence was suspended on condition that he remain sober and on good behavior three years, pay $50 and costs. William E. Wilson was found guilty of assault on a female, his wife. His six-month sentence need not be served if he remains on good behavior, does not molest his

Fishery Institute Offers Assistance With Net Rollers

Fishermen interested in putting rollers on their nets may obtain instruction without cost at the Institute of Fisheries Research, Camp Glenn.

Already, with the help of John Wegner, gear specialist at the institute, the Linda Gale and the Clay boats owned by Clayton Fulcher of Atlantic, have had their nets rigged with rollers.

Rollers enable the nets to be dragged over rough bottom without damage. They have long been used off the New England coast but are not in general use in this section, commented W. A. Ellison, jr., director of the institute, yesterday.

Fishermen here have not used this means to protect their nets, he continued, because they have been trawling, for the most part, over smooth bottom. However, lowered catches have led them to seek new grounds in rough-bottom areas and there the nets have been torn up.

Rollers are made by taking cross-sections of logs, spacing them on a cable, and attaching the cable to the foot rope of the net.

Wegner, who is handling roller work at the institute, has had 25 years' experience fishing in the North Sea, the North Atlantic, and off this coast. Ellison declared that he is expertly qualified to help any fishermen, who call at the institute, with their gear problems.

Morehead Firemen Answer Three Calls Tuesday

The Morehead City fire department answered three alarms, none of them serious, on Tuesday.

The first alarm at 11:40 a.m. was a call to 108 N. 22 st. where an oil stove was afire. Firemen reported no damage. The second was a call to Phillips boat yard on Evans street where a fire, to burn off a vacant lot, went out of control. A pile of lumber at the boat yard caught fire, but otherwise there was no damage.

A warped stove was the result of an oil stove fire at 1004 Fisher st. That flare-up occurred at 5:50 p.m.

Profits Reported
The Garden and Civics club, Morehead City, reported Wednesday that profits on the production "A Night at the Mobeau," which they sponsored, amounted to $207.35.

Union Loses Election at Lloyd Fry Roofing Plant

She Must Have Heard Of Stepped-Up Production

A New Hampshire Red hen, owned by F. J. Mason at Mason town, really showed the other girls how to produce when she laid an 8-ounce egg Monday morning.

The large white egg, without a flaw, was taken to Newport school where it was put on display in C. S. Long's vocational agriculture department.

One question, especially, keeps us in suspense. How many yolks does the half-pound specimen have?

Dairymen Seek Breeders Charter

J. T. Oglesby, Morehead City, Serves as Director Of Association

Dairymen and farm agents of Carteret, Craven, Pamlico and Jones counties have formally launched an artificial breeders association. The group has filed application with the North Carolina Department of Agriculture for a charter. The new association will be called Eastern Breeders Cooperative, Inc.

At a meeting last Thursday in New Bern J. T. Oglesby of Morehead City and Sam Casey of Pamlico county were elected as directors to serve a one-year term; Oliver Richardson of Craven county and Martin Bates of Jones county will serve two years. Woodrow McCoy of Craven and L. G. Bond of Pamlico, three years.

Officers Chosen
Richardson was also elected president of the association, McCoy vice-president, and Casey, secretary and treasurer.

The person who will do the artificial insemination work will be sent to State college in the near future. R. M. Williams, Carteret farm agent, said, to receive training. The program will get underway as soon thereafter as possible.

688 Membership
Members in the association total 688 and are as follows: Carteret 154, Craven 348, Pamlico 151, and Jones 35. The minimum membership fee is $1 and rises to $3 according to the number of cows the farmer owns. When services of the inseminator are required, the farmer also pays an $8 fee plus 10 cents per mile for every mile he travels above 20.

The persons doing this work in the four-county district will be headquartered at New Bern.

Landscaper Will Visit in County

John Harris, extension landscape specialist, will conduct two training sessions in the county Tuesday.

Harris will discuss landscaping and give a demonstration at the home of Jessie Taylor, highway 101, at 10 a.m. Tuesday and will conduct another meeting at 2:30 p.m. at the Atlantic school where he will also landscape the school grounds.

R. M. Williams, farm agent, said that Harris is expected to give a flannel board talk at the Taylor's to illustrate the right and wrong ways of landscaping. He will also landscape the grounds around the Taylor home which has just been recently built.

At Atlantic the group interested in landscaping will meet first in the school auditorium. Harris will later draw up a "blueprint" showing where shrubs should be set on the school grounds and what type of shrubs they should be.

Dr. Ennett remarked that the beginning symptoms of a cold and measles are very much the same. He urges, therefore, that the child who appears to have the beginning of a cold be kept out of school until he is better.

First Baptists Organize Brotherhood Wednesday

A Baptist Brotherhood was organized in the First Baptist church, Morehead City, Wednesday night. Ralph Wade was elected president, W. C. Carlton, D. J. Hall, and R. T. Willis, jr., vice-presidents. Dr. Eugene Roelofs, chorister, and Linwood Wade, secretary-treasurer.

Speaker at the meeting and organizer of the Brotherhood was Dr. Horace Eason, Wake Forest, who is secretary of the Baptist Brotherhood of North Carolina.

Newport's Folly

For more than three years Newport's "water system" has lain in the above field just off the Nine-foot road, Newport. The closest that water has come to running through the pipes has been during descent of natural rainfall. The water system, formerly in operation at Bogue Field, was purchased by the town of Newport the latter part of 1947.

Duo-Pianists Will Present Recital in Morehead Monday

Personalities of the music world are Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson who, through concerts, radio and Columbia Masterworks recordings, have popularized two-piano music throughout the country. They will appear at Morehead City school auditorium under the auspices of Community Concert service Monday night at 8:15 a.m.

Ethel Bartlett was born on the edge of Epping Forest, in the county of Essex, England. At 10 she was taken to London where she grew up. Her first memory is of climbing onto a piano stool and playing music, either tunes complete with appropriate harmony which she heard a neighboring student struggling with, or music right out of her head. She was only 5 when she started composing.

Town Board Gives Extension Issue To Planning Board

The town board has turned the hot potato, town extension, over to the Beaufort planning board. Dr. W. L. Woodard, chairman of the planning board, said they will make a study of the situation and will probably make recommendations to the town over the course of the next few months.

The planning board met Tuesday night, first as a board of adjustment and then as the planning board.

Willie Garner was given permission to build a home between a store he owns and a residence on Pine street between Craven and Turner streets. According to zoning regulations, there was insufficient space between the store and the proposed home.

Death Claims Sam D. Edwards

Samuel D. Edwards, of Newport, a prominent farmer of western Carteret county, died suddenly at his home in Newport early Tuesday morning from a heart attack.

Mr. Edwards was a member of Ocean Lodge 405, AF & AM, past counsel commander of Woodmen of the World lodge 336, Newport Adair, Gene Smith, and Dan Walker who acted as secretary in the place of Mrs. Helen Hatsell who could not attend.

He was elected vice-president of the Carteret county Farm Bureau in 1946 and served until 1948. He was a membership solicitor for the Farm Bureau and always brought in well over 100 memberships each year.

Funeral services were held at the home Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock with Elder L. M. Simmons officiating. Burial followed in the Mann cemetery.

Surviving Mr. Edwards are his wife, the former Rana Robinson, a daughter, Mrs. Robert K. Montague of Raleigh, his mother, Mrs. Luetzie Edwards, a sister, Mrs. Lizzie Stobaugh, both of the home, one niece and three nephews.

Budget Executive Wants Port Funds Subjected To Controls

Funds to subsidize the initial operation of state ports at Wilmington and Morehead City should be denied unless they are subjected to the usual budget controls of the state, the Joint Appropriations committee was told Tuesday at Raleigh.

L. D. Moore, State Budget Bureau executive, explained that $72,000 a year requested by the North Carolina Ports authority "to get their operations started" had not been recommended by the Advisory Budget commission in the proposed biennial budget.

He said the authority, after operations begin at Wilmington and Morehead City, is requested to pay the state any balance left from receipts. These funds are to be kept in the authority's bank account.

Moore suggested that if the operational fund is granted, legal provision should be made to retain

Rites for Fishery Official Conducted At Plymouth

State Mourns Loss of Roy Hampton, 62, Chairman Of Fisheries Committee

Funeral rites for W. Roy Hampton, Plymouth, head of the commercial fisheries committee of the Board of Conservation and Development, and chairman of the board for the past year, were conducted at 4 o'clock in Grace Episcopal church, Plymouth, yesterday afternoon.

Hampton, 62 years of age, died suddenly at 8:30 Wednesday morning shortly after his arrival at the Plymouth hospital. He was stricken with a heart attack.

Hampton was well-known throughout the state, and especially on the coast where he has worked.

Jaycees Defer Action on Playing Basketball Game

Beaufort Jaycees in regular session Monday night declined an invitation to play basketball with Morehead City Jaycees Saturday night to raise money for the March of Dimes.

Beaufort Jaycees said they would be willing to play at a later date, after several practices. The men met at the Inlet inn for steak dinners followed by their business meeting.

Minstrel Discussed

Possibility of staging a minstrel this spring was discussed. Jarvis Herring, acting as president in the absence of George Cottingham, appointed Kenneth Johnson, Odell Merrill and Willard Willis to look for someone to direct the production. If a director can be found, the men said the project would be considered further.

John Butler, appointed to investigate return of Morehead City bleachers to Morehead City, reported that he called Wiley Taylor, jr., Jaycee football chairman, three times in regard to the matter but could not reach him. Butler was directed to continue "expediting" the matter.

Quarterly Meeting

The acting president announced that there would be a quarterly meeting at Goldsboro Feb. 1 for eighth district Jaycees. Because of the few number at the meeting, Secretary Robert Stephens was directed to write on cards announcing the next meeting that the first meeting in February would be the last dinner meeting unless the minimum number of 15 attended.

Lack of interest in the club was attributed to lack of activity by Jaycee Willard Willis who was asked his opinion on the matter.

Acting President Herring set Friday night, Feb. 9, as the date for a board of directors meeting.

Jaycees Osborne Davis and Jack Barnes, members of the Beaufort Armed Services Hospital committee, reported on the BASH committee activities.

After adjournment the Jaycees went bowling.

Beaufort Auto Tag Sales Lag, Town Clerk Reports

Only 150 Beaufort auto tags have been sold to date, Dan Walker, town clerk reported today.

The majority of motorists have yet to purchase their tags, he said. After Feb. 1 motorists who do not have town tags will be issued citations by police and a penalty plus the initial fee, will be placed on the tag.

Tickets for the Beaufort Choral club concert Feb. 2 at Beaufort school are being sold by members of the Junior Woman's club.

Employees Vote 102-14 Against AFL Affiliation

Employees of Lloyd Fry Roofing company and Volney Felt mill voted 102 to 14 against joining the union. Balloting took place Wednesday at the plant in Morehead City.

One hundred twenty-three votes were cast, two of which were ruled void and five were challenged, according to Walter Edwards, assistant plant manager who reported the results of the election Thursday morning.

The election was conducted by the regional representative of the National Labor Relations board, Sidney Smith. Edwards said the balloting proceeded smoothly.

Employees went to the polls from 7:15 to 8 a.m. Wednesday morning and from 3 to 5 in the afternoon.

They voted in favor or against affiliation with the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite, and Papermill Workers, American Federation of Labor. Representing the union during recent arrangements for the election and conducting a campaign urging employees to affiliate was Lewis Price.

Edwards made the following statement Thursday morning: "The management of the Lloyd Fry Roofing company and the Volney Felt company is extremely gratified at the results of Wednesday's election."

"We feel that the overwhelming majority of the votes cast against union is a vote of confidence for us and our policies on the part of employees."

"We shall continue to exert our best efforts for agreeable working conditions for good wages and for the solution by personal relationship and personal contact of any problems which might arise in our operations wherein our employees are affected."

March of Dimes Collections Lag, Chairman Reports

Plans Proceed for President's Ball to Conclude Drive Feb. 3

Collections in the March of Dimes campaign are not what they should be, A. H. James, Morehead City, who is chairman of the drive, remarked today.

"There have been very few cases of polio in this county recently," he said, "and people are losing interest." He continued, "However, there could be a major outbreak here this summer, lots of funds might be needed, and we would be obliged to call on outside help, not having done our part in the current drive."

B&PW Club Sees Moving Picture

Group Will Sponsor Choral Club Concert in Morehead City Feb. 16

"You Can Change the World" a moving picture on the Christopher movement, a crusade to encourage people to enter high professions and to take part in events that they claim are "none of my business" was shown members of the Carteret Business and Professional Women's club at the civic center Tuesday night.

Mrs. Marian Ryan, program chairman, was in charge. The film was shown by Bernard Leary.

Morehead Police Investigate Four Auto Accidents

Morehead City police investigated four accidents since Monday. No one was injured, but a 1937 Dodge, involved in an accident at 11:20 p.m. Wednesday was demolished.

The Dodge and a 1937 Hudson collided when the Dodge tried to pass between the Hudson, double-parked, and another row of parked cars on Bridges street. The Hudson, driven by Robert Ellis Smith, stationed aboard the Coast Guard cutter Agassiz, was headed west and the Dodge, driven by Donza Lee Morris of Atlantic was proceeding east. The Dodge was owned by Rowland Lupton, Atlantic.

Officers Return

Police Officer Richard McLean, Morehead City, has returned after a trip to Hampton Roads, Va., where his brother, Robert Owen McLean, was lost in the explosion of the tanker Logans Port Saturday. The body has not been located.

Nobles Consider Building

Nobles at their annual winter ceremonial in New Bern yesterday considered the recommendation that a new auditorium be erected on Shrine property adjoining the Shrine home, New Bern. Among those serving on the committee which made the recommendation is T. T. (Tom) Potter, Beaufort.
