Here is a hand from one of the recent tournaments at Webb Memorial Civic center, illustrating a point of common sense which must be exercised by good bridge players. One of the best aids to sound bidding is Culbertson's chapter on Plastic Valuation, especially in his 'old' Gold Book published approximately 1930.

4-H Council to Meet
The county 4-H council will meet at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in the home agent's office, Beaufort. All 4-H club officers in the county are expected to attend.

North's hand is powerful,—upon hearing South's opening bid, his only question is whether the combined hands will produce small slam or grand slam. He first forces with a 2 S bid (forcing to game); —South bids 2 NT to show minimum opening bid strength. North is now in no hurry and rebids 3 S. South has nothing to show except 3 NT and North now forces with a Blackwood 4 NT bid. South's response shows one ace and his response to 5 NT shows two kings.

At this point, North's decision is critical,—if he bids and plays 6 S, East's normal opening lead on the diamond queen means disaster. Let's use PLASTIC VALUATION. —South's responses to Blackwood show one ace and two kings. Add these cards to the North hand and count the winning tricks. Seven spade tricks seem certain, 3 clubs, 2 hearts (ace and king)—12 tricks. South's diamond king affords protection against an opening lead in that suit.

Some of the skeptics might picture a South hand such as below, in which event a spade slam would be preferred over no trump. However, the chances are slim.

As mentioned in a previous NEWS-TIMES bridge column, many of the 'experts' will use some type of 'asking' bid to ascertain WHICH ace might be held by South.
