

Girls Win

fore Forrest came back with another set from the middle to make it 46-42 with two minutes to go. The gym was in a bedlam as time was called. Forrest immediately hit from out, following the brief rest, and Hill overheard one to knot the count. The crowd went crazy. C. Willis responded with a fielder, but again a set by Hill evened the score.

Fulford Comes Thru
With time rapidly running out, Fulford took the ball down fast, and pushed a leaping one-hander from the foul line. She was hacked as the shot went awry. And with the seconds ticking away she canned the toss of the season.

Following the hectic battle, a huge Invitational trophy was presented to Capt. Dudley, representing Beaufort's successful title defense. Vanceboro's Spruill received a silver runner-up plaque.

Coch Shirley Johnson's six opened the Vanceboro tournament Monday with a rousing 59-42 win over Chicod. With C. Willis hitting for 32, Nancy Russell for 15, and Fulford 11, the Purple and White were never in the game.

The Sea Dogs advanced to the finals of the eight team tourney by racking up a 61-39 win over thoroughly outclassed Belvoir. C. Willis again headed the Beaufort scoring parade with 18, followed by Russell's 17, and Fulford's 14. J. Willis chipped in 10 tallies. Dudley, House and "Rabbit" Dixon, as usual, spearheaded the effective Beaufort zone defense.

Carroll Willis, Dixon All-Tourney
Two Sea Dog courtsters, Carroll Willis and Dixon were elected to the All-tournament six. Rounding out the first team tourney choices were forwards Shirley Howard and Barbara Stroud of Pink Hill, and Vanceboro's sterling twosome, Witherington and Forrest.

In addition to All-tourney honors, Forrest and Howard were chosen as the two outstanding tournament forwards, while Stroud and Spruill were selected top guards.

Additional members of Beaufort's 1950-51 Carteret county and Vanceboro champions are Betsy Brooks, Jackie Dickinson, Peggy Dixon, Carolyn Gaskill, Sylvia Martin, Barbara Mason, Ann Owens, Minnie Pake, and Manager Lavinia Mason.

Ocracoke Students Visit in Raleigh

By Alice K. Rondthaler

Members of the 9th grade civics class of Ocracoke high school enjoyed a trip to Raleigh during early March and were delightfully entertained by Beaufort citizens during their Sunday morning sojourn in Beaufort. Through the courtesies of F. R. Bell and Dan Walker, the group were taken to visit historic Fort Macon, and were given the opportunity to ride along Atlantic Beach, and to visit the local radio station.

This Beaufort sightseeing trip climaxed a very happy three-day visit to Raleigh, where the group visited the Senate and met Senator Campen, and the House of Representatives. Representative Russell Swindell of Hyde county introduced the students to Governor Scott and took the group to the offices of the secretary of state and the treasurer. A trip to the Hall of History and to the museum was enjoyed; also a visit to the State School for the Blind with Ronald Stowe of Hatteras, relative of Alona Farrow, showing the group around.

On Friday night tickets were obtained at State College coliseum for the basketball tournament; on Saturday the group visited the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Arriving in Beaufort on the late Saturday night bus, the group was delighted with the courtesies shown them there before they left for Atlantic and the Sunday mailboat back to Ocracoke. Needless to say all parents were waiting at the dock to welcome them home.

gave Beaufort a 15-10 first period advantage.

Newport, however, stayed right behind, using the foul line to garner their first five tallies. McCabe lofted three in a row and added a layup, while watchcharm guard Billy Widgeon connected with a set and a foul to pull Newport within five points at the end of the first quarter, 15-10.

McCabe hit for four more one-pointers and looped in a set to continue the Newport surge in the second period, while the Sea Dogs were able to make but one point by Woodard. The half ended with Newport on the long end of a 18-16 score.

Continuing their driving game, Newport sewed up the contest by stepping out to a 27-22 third quarter lead as McCabe time after time slipped through the foul-laden Sea Dogs for layups.

Yet the dogged Green and White were not to be denied. Sparked by big Owens' 7 and Lynch's 4 tallies, Beaufort crept up steadily until Newport was forced to employ freezing tactics with but minutes to go. Here three more gratis throws by McCabe provided the thin margin of victory as Lynch went to work.

Serves in Far East

Willie J. Gaskill, seaman, USN, son of Mrs. Annie Gaskill of 1509 Bay st., Morehead City, is serving aboard the high speed destroyer transport USS Begor, now on duty in the Far East. "Frogmen" of the Navy's Underwater Demolition Team III from the Begor were the last to leave Hungnam after blowing up harbor facilities during the historic redeployment of UN troops.

Why Blunder in Bridge?

By Al Dewey

Let someone play the defense and test your skill.
Here's how the play actually proceeded,—the queen of Diamonds was taken by dummy's king, followed by the Heart jack which won the trick when East and South played low. South now realized that in order to hold his loss to a minimum, he would have to employ the 'dummy reversal' procedure. The key play was a low Club from dummy which East took with the jack. East returned a Diamond which South captured with the ace.

South led the 10 of Clubs and East returned a Spade after winning with the king of Clubs. South trumped in dummy and led the queen of Clubs.—East covered with the ace, South trumped and entered dummy by trumping a Diamond.

On North's 9 of Clubs, South discarded a Spade and continued. At this point, spread the N-S hands and plan the play with the Spade king as the opening lead, followed by the Diamond queen.

Contract 4 H played by South. Once in a while, sacrifice bidding backfires. In a recent tournament, several of the E-W pairs became ambitious to reach slam and were defeated at a contract of 5 spades. Our South player had been holding uninteresting hands and decided to do some bidding, "come what may." Over East's opening bid of 1 Club, South called 1 Spade and, on the second round, bid 2 Hearts. West was deterred from bidding Spades beyond the three level and North rightfully pushed South to a 4 H contract which was doubled by East.

with another Club, causing much discomfort to East. In desperation, East trumped with the Heart ace, South discarded a Spade, captured East's lead of the Heart queen and proceeded to take the remaining tricks with no difficulty. The result,—set one trick, doubled, for minus 100 points, ordinarily a 'top' score. If South had never made a bid, possibly his opponents would have 'reached for moon' and gone overboard. A record 60 billion eggs were produced in the United States in 1950.
