

Beaufort, Morehead City Open Grid Season Tonight

Frank Joyner To Serve Two Years on Roads

Ralph Daniels Pays Costs; Judge Morris Dismisses Two Racing Cases

Frank Joyner was sentenced to two years on the roads in recorder's court Tuesday after being found guilty of assaulting his wife and driving her away from home. Joyner failed to comply with terms of a suspended judgment of Aug. 29, 1950. In that term of court he was found guilty of trespass, assaulting a female with a deadly weapon, and being drunk and disorderly.

Instead of having him serve sentence, the judge ordered him to pay $25 and court costs and told him to behave himself for five years, otherwise the sentence would be imposed. Joyner's being in court again Tuesday, about a year later, left the court no choice but to send him on the roads.

Pays Costs

Ralph L. Daniels, charged with careless and reckless driving, racing, and speeding, pleaded guilty and paid costs of court. Fred Hobson Lane and Lionel G. Hardesty, jr., were also charged with careless and reckless driving and racing. Judge Lambert Morris dismissed charges against them.

Robert Potter was given a one-year suspended jail sentence providing he support his minor children. And another boy under 16, John Tyson, jr., was charged with forcible trespass and disorderly conduct. The minor was remanded to juvenile court and the case continued.

Malicious prosecution was ruled in the case of Dewey Rouse, See COURT, Page 6

Also present was W. L. McIver, the Grand Secretary, who presided in the place of the Grand Master at the officers' conference Monday afternoon. Aiding McIver at the session was Dr. W. L. Woodard, district deputy grand master, Beaufort.

Before the evening session began, a dinner of fried chicken was served by members of the Morehead City Order of Eastern Star. Dr. Woodard said 98 Masons attended the district meeting, representing six lodges.

Carved Headstones on Old Graves Mutely Tell of Past

By F. C. Salisbury

Hidden amongst the tangle of underbrush and weeds, on the outskirts of small communities, in the corner on farms or plantations, are the graves of many men and women, long forgotten who played their part in the settlement and development of Carteret county.

One finds names on the ancient tombstones, in these old neglected and forgotten burial plots of families whose lineal descendants are today prominent in the business and professional life of the county. History records the activities of many of the men of the past but it is from the stones erected over the graves of wife or mother, surrounded by the small stones marking the graves of children, that a story of hardship and grief can be visualized.

What pathetic stories could be written from the records on the headstones that mark the graves of many a young mother and children who lie buried in these neglected plots, as well as in better cared-for cemeteries. Ramble about any cemetery dating back a hundred years or more, and you are sure to find the graves of mothers who died in early life while alongside are the graves of several infants.

Mothers Died Early

In an old family burial ground located on the plantation of Joseph Bell, one of the large land owners in the early days of Carteret county, is the grave of a mother who died at the age of 38. Alongside her grave are the graves of eight children, some dying at birth, others living a few days, others living not to exceed five years. A pathetic story indeed. It is not unusual to find family plots of years past containing the graves of five, six and seven infants of one family.

Back in colonial times women matured early, marrying young, some at thirteen and fourteen years of age. Large families were the rule. The hardships of pioneer life, the burden of early and frequent motherhood, and the absence of skillful medical treatment were women out in early life; the inscriptions on the tombstones in colonial burying grounds are silent witnesses of this tragic fact.

It was not often that women of that period had a chance at a second husband, but there were few men who did not find comfort in the affections of a second, third, and often a fourth wife.

Along with the birth rate went an appalling infant mortality, the result of cold and drafty houses, bad diet, want of medical knowledge and surgical care and congenital weakness born of too-frequent motherhood.

In the days of plantation life it was the custom as well as the requirement that every planter set aside a burial place and fence the same for the interring of all such Christian persons, whether bond or free.

Privilege Tax Notices Go Out

Notices to businessmen of Beaufort, informing them that their privilege tax for the fiscal year 1951-52 is payable, were mailed this week from the town hall.

By authority of the town board, the privilege tax this year was brought up to the statute allowance and in certain cases the tax this year will be higher than last, according to Dan Walker, town clerk.

Received last year in privilege tax was $2,600. Estimated receipts this year will be $4,500 which will enable the addition of a night policeman to the force. Because Maxwell Wade, former night watchman whose salary was supplemented by the businessmen, has been made a regular member of the force, another night policeman is needed, Walker pointed out.

Even though the tax may be higher, town officials stated, the businessmen will be the ones to profit, in the final analysis.

The privilege tax is payable now. The town board ordered that a 10 per cent penalty shall be imposed for each month that lapses after the due date.

Salter Path Crew Makes Big Mullet Catch Tuesday

One of the Salter Path crews, fishing on Bogue Banks Tuesday, caught 50,000 pounds of mullet, but their catch dropped to 9,000 pounds Wednesday due to sharks tearing holes in the net.

When the net was brought in, there were an estimated 100 gouges in it. Two hours of work by 30 men were required to repair the damage.

While so many sharks are prevalent, due to the warm weather, nets are not being set overnight.

At the beginning of the week fishermen got 16 cents a pound for mullet, but by Wednesday the price had dropped to 10 cents.

Jaycee Bill Chalk explained the structure of state, national, and local Jaycee organizations for the benefit of new members.

Bernard Leary, chairman of the football committee, announced that 10 new 1,500-watt lights have been installed and will be put in use tonight for the first time when Morehead City meets Beaulaville on the Wade Brothers park. Jaycees should be at the park at 6:30 p.m.

Walter Morris presented a scrap book on Jaycee activities. The book was started 15 years ago when the club was first organized. Jaycees said they will add to it from now on.

Beaufort Meets Vanceboro, Morehead vs. Beaulaville

Carteret county football season officially opens tonight with home games in both Beaufort and Morehead City. The Beaufort team, guided by new coach John Evans, plays Vanceboro, while Charles Hester's Morehead squad tackles Beaulaville.

Both teams will make a very good appearance when the playing starts at 8 p.m., as their respective Jaycee backers have spent a considerable sum on new uniforms and equipment.

Neither coach feels over confident. Both have looked at their schedules and see that games with bigger schools than theirs are coming up. The two mentors, therefore, realize that if their seasons are successful, it will be because of the boys on the squads rather than a light schedule.

In Beaufort, the lettermen of the Sea Dogs elected Johnnie Lynch, 165 lb. senior as captain and Gary Copeland another senior as co-captain. Lynch plays fullback. Copeland is in the right tackle position of the line.

When Lynch is on the field he will be in command, said Evans. When not, Copeland will take his place.

The scrimmages which have been going on for the past month, have resulted in a few injuries. Most serious accident is that of Harold Willis who suffered a broken clavicle at Tuesday afternoon's practice in Morehead City.

Willis is a junior who hoped to play fullback, but will now be seeing all this year's games from the bleachers.

The accident occurred when Willis blocked Sonny MacDonald who was carrying the ball. MacDonald, all 230 lbs. of him, came down on Willis in the scramble.

At the time Willis said he did not realize that he was hurt; in fact he kept right on practicing. Later he saw that his collar bone was swollen. He was rushed to Morehead City hospital where Dr. Milton B. Morey attended the injury.

One week previously, Mickey Woodard, Morehead senior, turned his ankle while scrimmaging. See COACHES AWAIT, Page 3

Beaufort PTA Will Sponsor Money-Raising Event Oct. 5

An "Afternoon and Evening of Fun" are promised by the ways and means committee of the Beaufort PTA for Friday, Oct. 5, at the school.

Mrs. Calvin Jones, co-chairman with Mrs. R. M. Williams of the ways and means committee, has announced that the affair would begin as soon as school closes for the day and would continue during the evening. Supper will be served at the school and a show, with parents taking the principal parts, will be put on in the auditorium that night.

The recommendations of the executive committee, that the organization support the music department, that different type rain outfits for the school patrol be purchased, and that room parties be discouraged, were unanimously adopted at the first PTA meeting of the year which was held Tuesday night in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Margaret Hopkins was nominated to the position of secretary, to succeed Miss Catherine Gaskill, who resigned because she is taking graduate work in classes that meet on Tuesdays.

The president, Mrs. C. G. Holland, opened the meeting, and the Rev. T. R. Jenkins, pastor of the Ann Street Methodist church, gave the devotional.

The treasurer, Jarvis Herring, reported a balance of $133.42 in the bank as of Sept. 1.

Mrs. Gray Hassell, newly-appointed membership chairman, reported that 130 members had joined Tuesday night, and that a door prize would be given to some member present at each meeting. She announced that of the 50 cents stated in the Beaufort PTA treasury. Mrs. James Wheatley was winner of the door prize Tuesday evening.

Lejeune Hums As Marines Plan For Maneuvers

Camp Lejeune, N. C.—This huge amphibious training base hummed with activity this week as Second Division Marines made final preparations for Atlantic Fleet exercises to be held in the Caribbean area during October and November.

Commanded by Major General Ray A. Robinson, the Second Division Leathernecks will play a major role in the exercises which will include an amphibious assault on the Island of Vieques. It will be the first major fleet exercise in 18 months.

Following the assault landing on Vieques, the Marines will concentrate on shore based training. The latest techniques and equipment developed by Marines will be employed and tactical problems will be similar to those encountered in Korea.

The wind-up of the Fleet Exercise will be an amphibious operation on Onslow Beach at Camp Lejeune in November. This phase at the Marine base will include opposition to the landing force provided by an aggressor unit especially trained and equipped to make the problem more realistic.

According to fleet headquarters, the operation will consist of "simulating a series of campaigns which might conceivably take place in any part of the world during a possible future war."

In addition the Second Marine Division, planes from the Second Marine Aircraft Wing at Cherry Point, and personnel of Fleet Marine Force, Atlantic, will take an active part in the exercises.

Overall command of the Marine troops will be in the hands of Lt. Gen. Graves B. Erskine, commanding general of Fleet Marine Forces, Atlantic.

Commanding the entire Atlantic Fleet exercise is Admiral Lynde D. McCormick, the new Atlantic Fleet commander in chief.

Dr. C. S. Maxwell Heads Committee

The Carteret County Medical society appointed its president, Dr. C. S. Maxwell of Beaufort, to head a committee to discuss the matter of opening a state-financed cancer clinic with Dr. J. W. R. Norton, state health officer.

The decision was made at the society's monthly dinner meeting Monday night at Morehead City hospital.

This action followed a request from the Business and Professional Women's club of Carteret county in regard to the state's current policy regarding establishment of cancer detection clinics. The clinic project was started by the B&PW club last year but reached a stalemate due to there being no head of the state health department's cancer division at that time.

Dr. A. H. Elliott of the personal health division, in recent correspondence with the county health officer, Dr. N. T. Ennett, requested full consultation with the county's doctors. Even though the medical society previously approved the clinic, the B&PW club felt that the doctors should again consider the proposal because several months have elapsed since they last discussed the project.

Dr. Maxwell's committee will make a report at the society's next meeting Oct. 14.

The group further agreed that efforts should be made to educate the citizenry with the importance of early cancer diagnosis, because with modern treatment most cancers may be cured if detected early enough.

Eight Arrested

Eight motorists were arrested Wednesday in Morehead City for violating the 15-minute parking regulation on the east and west side of Morehead City school. Cars parked there are a hazard to school children who run in and out of the east and west school entrances, said Officer Herbert Griffin.

Civic Committee Sees $2,700 Thus Far in Campaign

Group Believes at Least $5,000 Will be Raised By Tomorrow

The general civic committee of Morehead City learned at their Wednesday night meeting that $2,700 has been collected to date in either cash or pledges for the repairing of the former USO in Morehead City.

This leaves the civic group until tomorrow to raise an additional $2,300 in order to have the $5,000 needed to prevent city officials from offering the building for public sale Sept. 22.

The meeting got off to a gloomy start when A. B. Roberts, Rotarian and chairman of the general civic club committee, announced that only $300 had been collected in cash. As the meeting progressed, the members learned that the remainder had been pledged.

Clyde Jones, Rotarian, and Roberts debated the actual amount the committee had raised in both cash and pledges. Roberts insisted that portions of the $2,700 had been counted twice and that the correct total figure was closer to $1,900. The members departed, however, with the assumption that the committee had raised $2,700 as of Wednesday evening.

Neither El Nelson, fire chief, nor A. B. Vick, Woodmen of the World, were present at the meeting, held in the board room of the municipal building. The committee, therefore, could not hear reports as to the amount these two organizations had collected.

Truman Kemp, of the Rotary club, said the Rotarians would pledge $1,000. Oscar Allred, Lions president, said his club would give $1,200. The Jaycees, the committee thinks, will raise the total another $500.

The general civic club committee decided to hold another meeting last night at the municipal building, immediately following Rotary and Lions club meetings.

Directors Plan Membership Drive

The Beaufort chamber of commerce board of directors met last night to make final plans for starting the 1951-52 membership campaign. Membership cards are being printed and the directors will be assigned various business houses for solicitation.

The membership fee is $25, but several memberships may be purchased by one firm, explained Braxton Adair, president of the chamber. Although the drive is being conducted late, the board of directors believes the campaign will be extremely successful.

At a board meeting Tuesday night at the town hall, Adair read a letter from the Three Lions moving picture agency. The letter expressed the agency's gratitude to the chamber and to its manager, Dan Walker, for the cooperation given them in making recent pictures of the Carteret coast.

The board discussed the Western Union project, payment of bills, Beaufort Armed Services Hospital committee, and the forthcoming membership drive.

Those present were Gerald Hill, Paul Jones, Gene Smith, Graham Duncan, Glenn Adair, Dr. W. L. Woodard, and the president.
